Defends Holding Up News of Losses.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—President Roosevelt tonight hailed American successes in Africa and the southwest Pacific as an apparent turning point of the war, but added a warning that there was time only for working and fighting, none for exultation.

Addressing the Herald Tribune forum in New York by radio, he singled out one participant in the recent Solomon Islands battle for a hero's praise—Rear Adm. Daniel J. Callaghan.

Adm. Callaghan, before he was killed in action, sailed his cruiser, the San Francisco, directly into the guns of the Japanese armada and spread devastation among it, the President revealed. The San Francisco, still afloat, has been recommended for decoration for outstanding service, the first ship of the war to be so honored.

Defends News Policy.

In addition to these things, Mr. Roosevelt stoutly defended the administration's policy of withholding news of naval losses until it is clear that the enemy already has possession of the information and indicated that long range social reforms have been shelved for the time being.

He said he had tried constantly to keep politics out of the fighting of the war. But, making what he termed a confession, he said his foot had slipped once when he permitted announcement shortly before the election that a damaged American aircraft carrier had been sent to the bottom.

He said he yielded to clamor and announcement of the sinking was made because if the news had been withheld until after the election he would have been criticized.

Admirals Protested.

But protests against the announcement poured in from admirals in the southwest Pacific that the Japanese had been handed information on a silver platter, altho the name of the carrier was withheld.

He asserted that those with the facts could not always discuss them publicly except in generalities while those without all the news almost inevitably spoke from guesswork based on information of doubtful accuracy.

Mr. Roosevelt said American battle lines already stretch from Kiska in the Aleutians to Murmansk, and from Tunisia to Guadalcanal and that they will grow longer as our forces advance.

Noting that a turning point of the war has been reached, he added his warning that there now is time only for working and fighting.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

"I have always welcomed the opportunity to participate in the Herald Tribune forum because I have always been interested in the public presentation of all kinds of national problems.

"In time of peace every variety of problem and issue is an interesting subject for public discussion.

"But in time of war the American people know that the one all-important job before them is fighting and working to win. Therefore of necessity, while long range social and economic problems are by no means forgotten, they are a little like books which for the moment we have laid aside in order that we might get out the old atlas to learn the geography of the battle areas.

"In time of war your government cannot always give spot news to the people. Nearly everybody understands that—and the reason for it.

Must Guard Secrets.

"This means that those relatively few people who do have the facts from all over the world, not only every day but every hour of every day, are precluded from discussing these facts publicly, except in the most general of terms. If they did they would almost inevitably say things which would help the people who are trying to destroy us.

"In reverse, those who are not in possession of all the news must almost inevitably speak from guesswork based on information of doubtful accuracy. They do not know the facts and, therefore, the value of their statements becomes greatly reduced. Nor must we, in the actual

In all issues of tomorrow's Tribune will be presented a new color map of the Mediterranean war area. This shows the western Mediterranean and contiguous land areas, including most of Italy and north Africa, covering the area in which a new major front is expected to be developed by the united nations against the European axis powers.

MILLIONS VOTED PUERTO RICO IF TUGWELL QUITS

New Deal Governor Slapped in House.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Gov. Tugwell.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—Slapping Gov. Rexford Guy Tugwell of Puerto Rico, the house agricultural committee today approved a bill authorizing an appropriation of 15 million dollars for production of emergency foodstuffs in the island, provided none of the money is spent while the former No. 1 New Deal brain truster remains in office.

Observers said the procedure of providing funds only if the official now in charge of their expenditure is dismissed was a rare one in congress. Puerto Ricans have appealed for Tugwell's removal, charging he has been building a personal political machine and imposing a little New Deal on the natives against their will.

Hearing Scheduled on Inquiry.

The senate committee on audit and control meanwhile scheduled a public hearing for tomorrow on a resolution by Sen. Dennis Chavez [D., N. M.] to investigate economic and social conditions in Puerto Rico, a move to probe the Tugwell régime. The committee, headed by Sen. Scott Lucas [D., Ill.], must determine whether $5,000 from the senate contingent fund shall be allowed for the investigation.

The island possession has been hard hit by the loss of shipping upon which the Puerto Ricans depended to obtain necessities such as food, clothing, machinery, and other items, according to a recent appeal from Filipo L. De Hostos, president of the Chamber of Commerce of Puerto Rico, who came here to request some of the American aid which is being distributed thruout the world.

The 15 million dollar measure was introduced by Bolivar Pagan, resident commissioner for Puerto Rico. The fund would be used to encourage and increase "the production and distribution of food and feed products for home consumption in Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands."

Food Supply Cut Off.

Puerto Rico normally purchased half its food supply from the United States, or approximately 600 million pounds a year. The decline in shipping as a result of submarine warfare and the use of ships to transport supplies to other parts of the world makes increased Puerto Rican production necessary.

As introduced by Pagan the bill did not contain the proviso against Tugwell, altho the commissioner has been one of the leading advocates of his early retirement, but the committee, by almost unanimous agreement, decided to tack on the simple proviso that "any appropriation made pursuant to this act shall be conditioned that the funds shall not become available at any time during the service of the present governor of Puerto Rico."

In commenting upon the approval of his bill by the committee, of which he is a member, Pagan said:

"The feeling in the committee is unanimously in favor of Puerto Rico and all members are willing to do all they can to help suffering Puerto Rico. I am glad to know, also, that the feeling up here is against Gov. Tugwell. It is objected that this Tugwell may put his hands into the administration of the funds.

Tugwell's Politics Hit.

"The original purpose of Gov. Tugwell and his friends in this appropriation was principally political, as they decided to build up a political machine to help a certain political crowd.

"The members of the agriculture committee do not have confidence in Tugwell and the proviso approved with the bill is merely a declaration against Tugwell. I expect that when this bill becomes law by the action of the house and the senate it will be in such form as is most convenient and helpful to the people of Puerto Rico. I hope that Tugwell will interpret the proviso as a request of the committee on agriculture that he be withdrawn from the governorship of Puerto Rico."

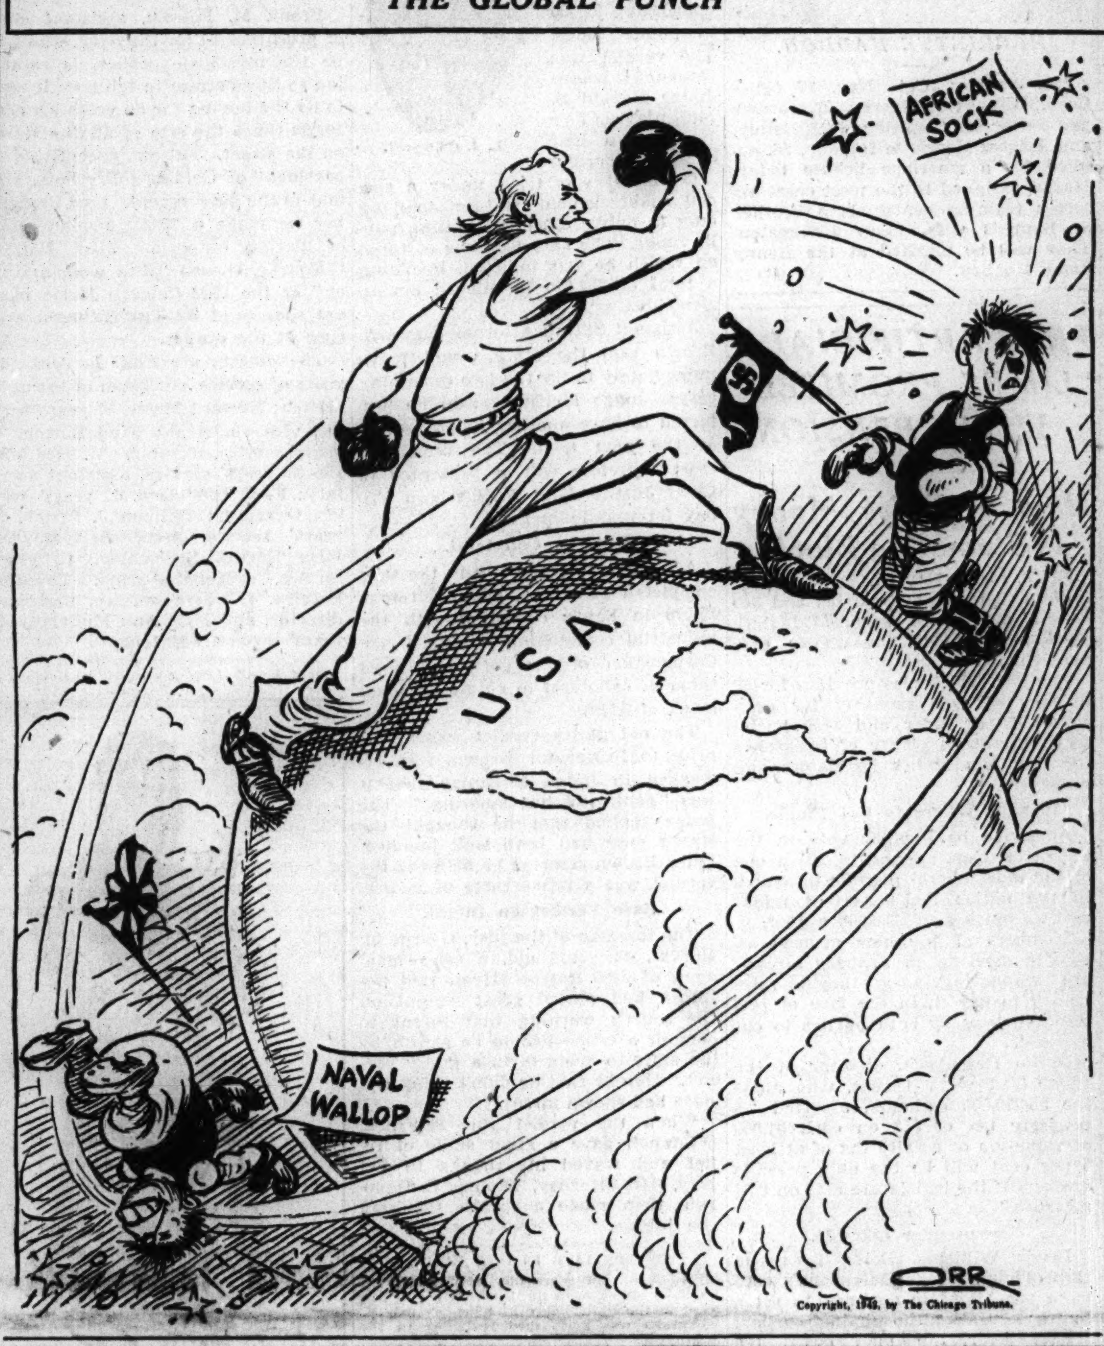
THE GLOBAL PUNCH



Shoots Clerk, Robs 6 Stores in 35 Minutes

Within 35 minutes last night, a swaggering gunman robbed six stores in three western suburbs, shot and seriously wounded a clerk, and escaped a police net set by radio.

The bandit, described as a stocky, mustached, dark-complexioned man, flourished a long barreled pistol in all his raids. He shouted threats at his victims, and in one place made a show of his rashness by firing a shot thru a $1 bill.

Tries to Escape, Shot.

The man wounded is Austin Sherrill, 53 years old, 217 South Maple avenue, Oak Park, who is a clerk in the Shop and Save market, 49 South La Grange road, La Grange. When the robber entered Sherrill started to run out the front door. The gunman followed, shot him in the back, dragged him inside the store, and then looted the cash drawer. He fled with $100.

This was the third of the six robberies. The first, reported at 6:50 p. m., was in a liquor store at 2517 St. Charles road, Bellwood, where the bandit forced Mrs. Sue Gertzlin to give up $175. Here he dropped a $1 bill from the pile of loot and fired a shot thru it. Then he picked up the bill, grabbed three bottles of whisky, and fled.

Invades Fruit Store.

At 7:13 p. m. the robber invaded the fruit store of Chris Doris, 23 South La Grange road, La Grange. He forced Doris and his wife, son and clerk into a back room, took $80 from the cash register, and fled. Four minutes later he robbed the Shop and Save market and shot Sherrill.

At 7:21 he entered a liquor store at 9501 Ogden avenue, Brookfield, where he took $300. His next stop was another liquor store at 9438 Ogden avenue, Brookfield, where he got $30 from the cash register and the change from a $10 bill which a customer had just received after buying a case of beer.

The last place robbed was a tavern at 8915 Ogden avenue, Brookfield, where the owner gave up $75. Police computed the total loot at $760.

Asks Greater Secrecy at United States Ports

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—Cecil Charles Poole, Laborite member of the house of commons, who recently returned from the United States, today declared there is need for greater secrecy at United States and Canadian ports in marking war goods for shipment to overseas theaters.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY TO BE YANK CHURCH ON THANKSGIVING DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—For the first time since the beginning of its history dating back to 1065 A. D., Westminster Abbey will pass temporarily from the hands of its dean and clergy the morning of Nov. 26, when it will be handed over to American forces for Thanksgiving day services.

The Right Rev. Paul Fulcrand Delacour de Labilliere, dean of the abbey, it was announced tonight, will renounce all control for the period of the service.

Chaplain James L. Blakeney of the United States army will conduct services on nonsectarian lines, assisted by chaplains of both the Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths. Ambassador John G. Winant will read President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving day proclamation.

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., American envoy to the exiled allied governments in London, other members of the American diplomatic corps, and military and naval officials will be present. A soldier choir will sing and Corp. Heinz Arnold from Patchogue, N. Y., will play the organ.

U. S. AND BRITAIN INTEND TO SEND MILK TO GREECE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—At the request of a neutral commission operating in Greece, the United States and British governments have agreed provisionally to send 100 tons of powdered milk a month to Greece, Dingle M. Foot, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of economic warfare, told the house of commons today. He said "certain further information still is awaited" before the decision becomes effective. Information in possession of the British government, Foot stated, shows that wheat sent as a gift to Greece from Canada "so far has been distributed without interference from the occupying authorities."

Australian Labor Party Rejects Second Front Plea

MELBOURNE, Nov. 17.—The federal conference of the Australian Labor party, to which Prime Minister John Curtin is the delegate from Westralia, today reaffirmed the rule forbidding labor to join other parties in the national government. A proposal that the party urge Britain and the United States governments to open a second front in Europe as early as possible to relieve pressure on Russia was rejected by a committee over which Curtin presided.

Reveal 'Rick' Rode Wing of Rescue Plane

Lieut. W. F. Eadie.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, lost in the southwest Pacific when his plane was forced down Oct. 21 and rescued three weeks later, rode the wing of the rescue plane while it taxied 40 miles on the ocean surface to its base, the war department disclosed today.

A department announcement said that, altho Rickenbacker still needs at least two weeks in a hospital to complete his recovery from the long exposure at sea, he already has expressed his desire to complete the mission to which he was assigned by Secretary of War Stimson. He was making a tour of inspection of aviation facilities in the southwest Pacific when his plane crashed at sea.

Room in Plane for Only One.

Lieut. W. F. Eadie of the navy and Aviation Radioman L. H. Boutte found the raft containing Rickenbacker and two companions, the army said. Eadie and Boutte landed their observation scouting plane on the sea with the aid of flares.

Col. Hans C. Adamson was taken from the raft and squeezed into the cockpit, the army said the navy reported, but there was no room in the plane for Rickenbacker and Private John F. Bartek, so the two men were lashed to the wings and the plane started taxiing back to its base.

Bartek and Sergt. James Jones Reynolds, the latter one of three members of Rickenbacker's crew who were rescued from an island, "are still ill and weak from exhaustion," the army reported.

EADIE STUDIED AT N. U.

Lieut. Eadie, 29 years old, a native of Evanston, has been flying for the navy since 1935. He was graduated from Evanston Township High school and spent three years in the engineering school at Northwestern university.

During 1939 he served aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington. In 1940 he resigned from the navy and became an American Airlines pilot. He was recalled by the navy in December, 1940. In March, 1941, he married Phyllis Lundeen of Seattle, Wash., a navy nurse he met while stationed in Alaska.

Expect Losses of Japs in Sea Fight to Grow

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—An upward revision of Japanese navy losses in the sea battle of Guadalcanal was predicted confidently today by naval authorities, who emphasized that the announced total of 23 ships sunk and 7 damaged was based on incomplete reports from the South Pacific war zone.

Yet to be heard from, it was said, are the clean up operations by American planes and surface units which may have discovered and finished off crippled units of the enemy's fleeing fleet. There was also a night engagement of Nov. 14-15 of which nothing has been reported except that it was fought.

President Roosevelt, at a press conference today, described the shattering of the Japanese armada as a major victory, and revealed that Rear Adm. Daniel J. Callaghan, his former naval aide who was killed in the struggle, performed the daring feat of taking a 10,000 ton cruiser up against a 25,000 ton Japanese battleship at point blank range.

8 Inch Against 14 Inch.

Such American cruisers are equipped with only eight inch guns as compared with 14 inch weapons carried by the type of Japanese battleship involved in the fight, and the President said Adm. Callaghan had done a very courageous thing. He remarked that he was very much upset at the news of Callaghan's death.

It was revealed that the American force split into two columns and moved down two lanes formed by three columns of enemy vessels approaching Guadalcanal from the north.

The American battleships and cruisers went in with guns belching in both directions and deadly torpedoes hurtling from both sides of the destroyers.

A strong indication that the list of Japanese losses is as yet incomplete came from Maj. Gen. A. A. Vandegrift, commander of the marine forces on Guadalcanal Island, in the course of a message of congratulations on the naval triumph.

Five Admirals in Battle.

"The enemy has apparently suffered a devastating defeat," he told the navy department. "The battered helmets of the fighting forces on Guadalcanal are lifted in deepest tribute to Rear Adms. Callaghan, Scott, Lee, and Kinkaid and to their forces, who against seemingly hopeless odds did, with magnificent courage, attack and drive back the first hostile stroke and make later successes possible."

What "later successes" he referred to, whether they have already been won or are even now in the making, was not disclosed.

The Vandegrift message, coupled with previous reports, showed that at least five admirals were in the action. Rear Adm. Norman Scott, like Callaghan, was killed in action. The other two mentioned by Vandegrift were identified by the navy as Willis August Lee of Owenton, Ky., and Thomas C. Kinkaid of Philadelphia. The fifth rear admiral was Kelly Turner, who commanded a task force which took part in the battle.

The presence of these high ranking officers and possibly of others gave a clue to the size of the American forces in the main encounter of the Solomons, which was fought out in the early darkness of last Friday [Guadalcanal time] with United States battleships in full action for the first time since the Spanish-American war.

Scott's Death Revealed.

The fact that Rear Adm. Scott had been killed was disclosed by the navy today along with the death in action of Capt. Cassin Young, captain of the flagship of Rear Adm. Callaghan, whose death had been reported yesterday.

Scott, 53 years old, was from Kirkwood, Mo., and Young, 48 years old, had recently made his home in Coronado, Cal. Young held the medal of

DAKAR MAY BE GIVEN TO ALLIES WITHOUT A BATTLE, BRITISH HINT

MONROVIA, Liberia, Nov. 16 [Delayed] (AP).—Radio listeners tonight heard a Vichy broadcast reporting that a military mission was en route from Dakar, the French stronghold in West Africa, to North Africa, now under American-British occupation.

British officials in West Africa interpreted this as meaning that negotiations for peaceful capitulation of Dakar to the united nations are under way.

FLOWN BY U. S. PLANES AHEAD OF PINCER DRIVE

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—Big American transport planes escorted by fighters today were scattering a large force of British parachute troops deep in Tunisia in advance of a major enveloping movement by the revitalized British 1st army of Flanders and American flying columns.

A Reuters [British] news agency dispatch said the chutists were dropped "close to an important key town in Tunisia and tonight were moving swiftly eastward to carry out important reconnaissance."

The word at allied headquarters was that advanced French patrols were contacting German reconnaissance groups. The Germans appeared to be operating out of Bizerte, the big Tunisian naval base, which Berlin said was definitely in the hands of axis forces.

Real Battle About to Open.

Reuters reported from advanced headquarters that German Marshal Erwin Rommel is now in Tunisia. Reuters quoted well informed sources as saying that Rommel is "making a desperate effort to organize axis forces" to resist allied advancement from the west. Rommel's whereabouts has been somewhat of a mystery. He had been reported both in Italy and in Munich.

From all accounts it appeared that the real battle, which may well decide control of the Mediterranean and the fate of the axis armies in Tunisia and Libya, now about 900 miles apart, was about to open.

The surviving German and Italian forces in North Africa in effect were hemmed in by three great allied forces, at least two of which were closing the jaws of a trap.

One jaw was formed by the allied forces in Tunisia. The other was the British 8th army moving westward in Libya. There axis forces, aided by bad weather, and by tactics of desperately fought rearguard action and indiscriminate mine laying, were reported to have avoided, so far, the coup de grace which the hotly pursuing 8th army had hoped to deliver somewhere east of Tripolitania.

125 Miles East of Bengazi.

The 8th army yesterday occupied Derna, 150 miles east of Bengazi, and El Mekili, 45 miles inland from Derna and 125 miles east of Bengazi. But remaining axis forces evidently had reached the El Agheila area on the Gulf of Sirte, 220 miles southwest of El Mekili, and were pounding hard down the last 400 miles on the road to Tripoli.

One factor which Rommel must consider is the possibility of a long range foray by Fighting French troops moving northward from the Lake Chad country, 1,000 miles south of the Tunisia-Tripolitania border. This force already might be on the move.

Telling of the parachutists' descent on Tunisia, Alan Humphreys, Reuters correspondent assigned to the British 1st army, said the troops, mostly Londoners, were "flown to their destination in a huge aerial convoy. All are veterans of 40 or 50 jumps formed into a unit after Dunkirk."

Sky Filled with 'Chutists.

"The transport planes flew low without meeting with any trouble on the whole journey," Humphreys said. "When the drop took place the whole sky seemed filled with parachutists floating rapidly to earth.

"The crews of the transport planes saw people rushing out of their houses and waving at them as they sped toward their base. If any German troops were in the neighborhood they must have been taken completely by surprise by this sudden British move."

Official enemy advices during the day lent support to the belief that the combined allied ground forces are operating in both northern and southern columns in an effort to trap the Germans and Italians in Tunisia and close the road to Tripoli.

Still under the same code of strict secrecy which covered the start of the North African operations, Lieut.

END DEFERMENT OF U.S. EMPLOYES, ROOSEVELT ASKS

Believes Men Involved Will Welcome Change.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—President Roosevelt today called for immediate cancellation of any deferments granted federal workers because of government employment.

Mr. Roosevelt wrote in a memorandum to all agencies and departments, "I am sure that in the overwhelming number of cases, this action will be welcomed by the young men themselves who are involved."

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that there had been entirely too many such deferments in the past and that the practice should be ended.

Plays No Favorites.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked if his memorandum applied to civilian employés of the war and navy departments and replied that he was playing no favorites. Asked if it also applied to War Production board personnel, he added that he was making no discrimination in favor of brains.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the secretaries of war and navy have entered into an agreement designed to eliminate the recruiting of civilian employés of one service for military service with the other, except when specifically approved.

"I am most anxious to make sure that no man should be deferred from military service by reason of his employment in any federal department or agency either in Washington or in any other place.

Asks Changes Quickly.

"If any such deferment has been given to any one within your respective jurisdiction, would you please arrange for cancelation thereof as soon as possible and notify the selective [service] board having jurisdiction?

"No further requests for deferment by reason of such employment should be made either by the agency or by the employé.

"I am sure that in the overwhelming number of cases this action will be welcomed by the young men themselves who are involved.

"I know that in certain technical or highly scientific or specialized branches of the service there are a few employés who, by reason of unique experience, are really irreplaceable by women or older men. If there are any which in your opinion fall within this category, will you please write me the full details of them so that their cases may be passed on individually?"

First Federal Agency Here Moves to Its New Quarters

The division of Central Administrative services, the first of the federal war agencies to move to its new location at 226 West Jackson boulevard, packed up and made the transfer from the Civic Opera building last night. It will be followed within a few days by the Office of Price Administration, the Office of War Information, and the War Production board.

Marriage Planned

HARRIETTE HADDON.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 17 (AP).—Corp. Hilliard H. Marks, 29, former gag writer for Comedian Jack Benny, and Actress Harriette Haddon, 26, applied for a marriage license today. Marks, assigned to the west coast air forces training center, is a brother of Benny's wife, Mary Livingston. They will be married at the Benny home Monday.

FREE ARTIFICIAL LIMBS PROMISED WITH PENSIONS

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 17 (AP).—Artificial limbs and teeth, eye glasses and $40 cash a month are promised Idaho's aged residents in the state's new pension act.

The law, which also provides for $8 in medical care monthly for each citizen 65 or older and $100 burial costs, threatens plenty of headaches for the Gem state's legislators and taxpayers.

Wonder Where to Get Funds.

Approved by popular vote in the recent election, opponents call it one of the most liberal pension measures in the nation and assert it might cost as much as $5,250,000 a year.

Members of the new general assembly meeting in January already are wondering how they'll raise money to pay it, in the face of pre-election vows by both parties to cut expenses.

Byron Defenbach, director of the Idaho Taxpayers' league, who made the $5,250,000 estimate, asserted "a property tax of $13 on each $1,000 of valuation or a sales tax of at least 5 per cent will be the only possible answers if the legislature acts on this measure."

Townsender Likes It.

Lewis Williams, Boise Townsend club official, thinks Defenbach's estimate too high. He declined to set a figure himself altho saying earlier: "Whatever the plan costs, it's worth it."

Legislators have at least three courses open: Refuse to appropriate funds, amend or repeal the act, or boost tax revenues.

COUPLE ROB DRIVER.

Gerald Dittenheimer, 1234 South Wabash avenue, driver for a dry cleaning company, told Marquette police he was held up by a man and a woman yesterday at 2348 Grenshaw street and robbed of $16.

FIND O'CONNELL NOT GUILTY OF MISUSING FUNDS

Jury's Verdict Comes After 2½ Hours.

Lawrence J. O'Connell, former chief securities examiner for the Illinois Industrial commission, was acquitted by a jury last evening of a charge of embezzling $5,000 in public funds. The verdict was returned before Judge Donald S. McKinlay after two and a half hours' deliberation.

L. J. O'Connell.

O'Connell was tried under a special embezzlement statute applying only to public officials handling public funds. The case was one of three on which he was indicted, involving a total of $54,000 in alleged embezzlements.

Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown said the state would move immediately to try the two remaining cases. Judge McKinlay said he preferred to have another judge preside at the next trial. The remaining cases therefore will be presented to Chief Justice John A. Sbarboro Friday for reassignment.

Used as Collateral.

According to testimony in the trial completed yesterday, O'Connell took $5,000 in bonds deposited with the industrial commission by the Coach Corporation of Freeport, and used them as collateral to obtain personal loans of $4,200.

The not guilty verdict was a surprise to Prosecutor Brown, who remarked to Judge McKinlay that it was "confusing but amazing." The judge replied that he thought the state's case had been well handled. Later Brown asserted he believed the verdict was a miscarriage of justice.

Base Verdict on Intent.

The foreman of the jury, George M. Horvat, 44 years old, a sales manager, of 5435 Roscoe street, said the jurors had placed great weight on the court's warning that intent to commit a crime had to be shown by the state to bring forth a guilty verdict. Horvat said he didn't think the state had shown intent.

When the verdict was returned, O'Connell gave a great smile of relief and waved his thanks to the jury. His attorney, Thomas C. Donovan, then made a speech thanking the jurors.

SPENDS LIFE IN ONE HOME.

Fred Berg, 60 years old, of 8110 South La Salle street, who until a month ago had lived in the same house at 9954 Avenue M, where he was born, died yesterday in the South Chicago hospital.

STATE STREET SENIORS TO HEAR HOW BUYER KEEPS NAVY FIGHTING

Nine persons who can recall events in the loop during and before the advent of the 20th century had a birthday party yesterday in the Republic building. They are officers of the Association of State Street Seniors—for men and women who have been employed in State street stores for at least 25 years—and the party was a preliminary to the association's 10th anniversary dinner scheduled for Friday evening in the Palmer House.

Harriet O'Rourke.

Frank M. Folsom, assistant chief of procurement for the navy, who will be the principal speaker, is returning to State street to tell how it feels to do the buying for an establishment 10,000 times the size of all the stores on the street. Folsom, executive vice president of Goldblatt Brothers, was lent to the government. Last September he made a 25,000 airplane tour of Pacific outposts. Miss Harriet O'Rourke, chosen "first woman singer" of the 1942 Chicago Music festival sponsored by THE TRIBUNE, will sing at the dinner.

The officers are Emil L. Audy, 52 years of service, chairman of the association; Edward Meier, 51 years' service, vice chairman; Fred Sutton, 41 years' service, secretary; Willard Morris, 37 years' service, assistant secretary; F. V. Danielson, 4[illegible] years' service, treasurer; William J. Lynch, 37 years' service, assistant treasurer; Miss Hertha Siedschlag, 41 years' service, sergeant-at-arms; Theodore Pareira, 41 years' service, personnel director, and Miss Ann McCarthy, 56 years' service, adjutant.

500 IN LEATHER PLANT SIT DOWN, THEN WALK OUT

Closed Shop Altercation Halts War Work.

A brief sitdown strike by some 500 employés in the Monarch Leather company, 1127 Division street, a plant converted 100 per cent to war work, halted all operations there yesterday.

Lieut. George Barnes of the police labor detail said the sitdown strikers quit work yesterday morning but left the plant about 1 p. m. after he told them to "work or get out." They went to their union hall at 1902 Division street, he said, leaving a skeleton crew to care for perishable materials in the plant.

Differ on Union Shop.

Lieut. Barnes said the workers, represented by local 43 of the International Fur and Leather Workers' union, CIO, had been negotiating for a new contract since Sept. 24. All points in the contract except the "union shop" clause, which the company refused to accept, had been agreed to, he said.

Lieut. Barnes yesterday arranged a conference between a workers' committee of 20, Federal Labor Conciliator Leo Mitchell, and William Eisendrath, president of the company, in the office of Lewis F. Jacobson, company attorney at 33 North La Salle street.

New Parley Set Today.

The meeting lasted into the night, but the conferees reached no settlement. Lieut. Barnes said the strike was still on when it broke up, but the union representatives would meet with the workers in their hall at 7 a. m. today for another discussion. He said he had telegraphed the War Labor board in Washington to assign a commissioner to arbitrate the strike and that the dispute was "urgent."

Lieut. Barnes expressed belief that the dispute would be certified to the War Labor board, in which event the workers would return to their jobs pending the settlement. He said he had been told that all but 50 or 75 of the workers of the plant were union men and that the union wanted them included in their ranks.

The lieutenant said the company's entire output of leather products is directed to army and lend-lease contracts.

DON'T OVERESTIMATE U. S. GAINS, REILLY OF RAINBOW UNIT SAYS

A war is not won until the enemy has been knocked out completely, Brig. Gen. Henry J. Reilly told members of the Rotary club of Chicago yesterday at a luncheon meeting in Hotel Sherman. He warned against too much optimism because of recent United States army successes in Africa and the Solomon Islands.

Gen. Reilly, who commanded the 149th field artillery and later the 83d infantry brigade, 42d [Rainbow] division, in World War I., described the actions in Africa and the Solomons as defensive, because the allies have succeeded only in preventing Germany and Japan from taking territory. The united nations, he reminded the Rotarians, have not taken anything from the axis.

The African operation, Gen. Reilly said, is a splendid move and paves the way for invasion of Europe, but Germany, he emphasized, will be defeated only after allied forces have met and fought to a finish on the European continent.

CLAIMS FBI ACTS LIKE GESTAPO IN GAS RATION QUIZ

Charges Effort to Scare Protestors.

Warren C. Platt.

His declaration to a Cleveland News reporter came after the regional Office of Price Administration here said it wanted to know what was back of a flurry of rumors, current in Cleveland, Chicago and other midwestern cities, that there would be a second postponement. The regional Office of War Information announced the FBI was attempting to learn the sources of these reports.

Called Protests, Not Rumors.

Platt declared such rumors are really nation-wide protests against the compulsory rationing program, and told the News:

"Ever since it was announced that rationing would go into effect, there have been vigorous protests against rationing because it is the conviction of many experts that it is not only unnecessary but inimical to the national welfare.

"Now the OPA and the FBI propose to shut off these protests by branding them as rumors and reports, and the cunning inventions of enemy agents and saboteurs. This is a gestapolike operation, and we want none of it in America. If the FBI wants to bring its ridiculous manhunt to a quick and successful conclusion, it can come to my office and I will give it the facts."

Platt said he did not mean by this that he knew anything about origin of reports that rationing definitely would be postponed, but "what we're trying to do is to fix it so that you don't have to get a certificate every time you brush your teeth. There are a lot of people who will still bet that nation-wide gasoline rationing doesn't go thru."

Urges Congressional Meeting.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—A meeting of members of the house from the 31 unrationed states to fight for postponement of nation-wide gasoline rationing was advocated today by Rep. Victor Wickersham [D., Okla.].

He made the suggestion after he and other Oklahoma congressmen asked Rubber Administrator William M. Jeffers to override an Office of Price Administration decision limiting traveling salesmen to 560 miles of driving a month under nation-wide gasoline rationing.

Wickersham said he and other house members would issue a call tomorrow for a meeting Thursday afternoon to protest against gasoline rationing for the west.

He said he and others would seek congressional support for either permanent suspension of the order or a 90 day postponement of the date of its effectiveness, Dec. 1, in the now unrationed states.

Demands for Postponement.

"Judging from the telegrams I am getting since I introduced two of the resolutions yesterday, the people wish rationing to be postponed. This is especially true in the oil producing states and in those states which have a sufficient supply on hand or are adequately supplied by pipelines to meet the needs."

The Oklahomans turned to Jeffers after being advised by John Richards, chief of the OPA rationing branch, that the ruling with respect to salesmen would stand as far as his agency was concerned.

Rep. A. S. M. Monroney [D., Okla.] said the group contended that salesmen were essential "to keep small business going." The suggestion was made, he said, that salesmen's allotments be increased to at least 1,500 miles a month.

'BUY TODAY, CARRY IT AWAY' CAMPAIGN OPENED BY MERCHANTS

The Chicago Retail Merchants association opened its "Buy Today, Carry It Away, and Mail Without Delay" campaign yesterday to promote an early, patriotic Christmas shopping season. F. O. Groerlitz, secretary of the association, said:

"The best interests of every one, especially the best interests of this country's war effort, can be served this Christmas season only with coöperation of Chicago's citizens. The man power situation is critical, as every one knows. More people are buying more goods and fewer men are available to perform the service customarily a part of the retail system."

CUT GAS RATION FOR EAST FROM 4 TO 3 GALLONS

Slash in Fuel Oil Also Is Imminent.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—A cut from 4 to 3 gallons in the value of gasoline ration coupons in basic or "A" ration books for 16 of the 17 eastern states now under rationing was ordered today by the Office of Price Administration.

The order, which is effective Nov. 22, will not affect "A" coupons in other states which are scheduled to be brought under nation-wide gasoline rationing Dec. 1. Coupons in these states will be good for 4 gallons, permitting 240 miles of driving a month based on 15 miles to the gallon. The small portion of West Virginia now covered by the eastern rationing program was also exempted from the cut.

Other Cuts Planned.

OPA officials said this is one of several reductions which will be ordered in the use of petroleum products in the eastern states because of a shortage in that area. The scarcity results from a lack of transportation facilities and diversion of oil to eastern ports for shipment to the armed forces in North Africa.

Other cuts, which will probably affect only the eastern area, will probably include a further reduction in fuel oil rations for home heating and in oil consumption by nonwar industries, officials said.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson estimated the cut in "A" coupon values in the east will save about 20,000 barrels of gasoline a day. This is less than 2 per cent of the average daily petroleum shipments to the east, which amount to about 1,200,000 barrels. Henderson said an additional 43,000 barrels daily will be saved by tightening up gasoline rations to commercial vehicles in the east and that 9,000 more barrels will be salvaged thru additional conversions of oil heating plants.

Estimate 72,000 Barrels Saving.

These estimated savings total 72,000 barrels a day. Henderson said cuts will also be made in supplemental gasoline rations as they are renewed to holders of "C" books, which are granted to motorists engaged in driving considered essential to the war and public health and safety.

Petroleum Coördinator Ickes last week estimated a cut of 139,000 barrels a day in the use of petroleum and petroleum products in the east would be required to bring shipments into balance with war needs.

Under today's order holders of "A" gasoline books will have their monthly driving allotment cut to 180 miles, based on 15 miles to the gallon. The order will also affect the eastern holder of a "B" book, who is now limited to a maximum of 360 miles a month for occupational and other driving, including his "A" book allowance. The top limit will be 500 miles, beginning Nov. 22.

COFFEE RATIONING RULES LAID DOWN BY OPA OFFICIAL

All Sales to Be Frozen the Week of Nov. 22-29.

John C. Weigel, regional administrator of the Office of Price Administration, in explaining the effect of the nation-wide coffee rationing program on the Chicago metropolitan area, reminded housewives and grocers yesterday that coffee sales to consumers would be frozen during the week of Nov. 22 to Nov. 29.

This, he said, is to permit retailers to build up a supply and to make arrangements for carrying out the program. Weigel explained that sales to consumers would be resumed Sunday, Nov. 29, with stamp No. 27 of the consumer's ration book. The stamp will be valid for one pound of roasted coffee and may be used within five weeks from Nov. 29.

Use Stamps in Reverse.

He said the reason for using stamp No. 27, instead of No. 28, is because of the convenience in detaching it. Stamp No. 28 will next be used, and so on back to and including stamp No. 20, he continued.

The regional administrator advised parents of the severe penalty possible for getting coffee on stamps belonging to a person whose age is 14 years or younger.

Weigel said persons having hoarded coffee would be denied additional quantities until the coffee in their possession is reduced to comply with rationing regulations. He said that each customer must retain in his No. 1 ration book, for later surrender, a coffee stamp for each pound of coffee he possesses in excess of 1 pound.

The administrator urged housewives to buy coffee only as needed, saying there would be enough to meet the demands under the rationing program.

Restaurants Expect Shortage.

Weigel said that the OPA had taken steps to protect the consumer from inferior coffee by making it mandatory for compounders to notify the OPA, Washington, D. C., of their intentions to mix other ingredients with coffee.

Restaurant dealers expect to run out of coffee two weeks before they receive their February quota on Jan. 31, a spokesman for the Chicago Restaurant association said last night.

Donald F. Kiesau, executive secretary of the association, said: "Business has increased greatly, so that actually we will only get 40 per cent of the coffee we need."

Saved by a Helmet! Marine Is Back from the Solomons

A steel helmet saved Lieut. Clark Miller of the marine corps from possible death in the fighting in the Solomon Islands, according to word received yesterday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Miller, 422 Palace street, Aurora. A shell splinter punctured Lieut. Miller's helmet, inflicting a scalp wound. Lieut. Miller now is on the west coast. He saw action at Darwin and in the Coral sea as well as in the Solomons.

HEARING TO OPEN ON F.D.R. PLEA TO SET ASIDE LAWS

House Committee Will Hear Officials.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—The house ways and means committee will begin hearings tomorrow on the legislation requested by President Roosevelt to give him unprecedented wartime powers to suspend any or all laws, including tariffs and immigration restrictions, which might interfere with the "free movement of persons, property, and information into and out of the United States."

Response by Congress Cool.

Mr. Roosevelt requested these unusual powers just the day before election and response in congress has been decidedly cool. Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the ways and means committee, said that several high government officials will be heard first in executive session, when they will explain their reasons for the legislation. Then the committee will decide whether to take favorable action, hold public hearings, or drop the matter entirely.

The officials to be heard, or their representatives, include Attorney General Francis Biddle, whose office prepared the legislation; Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson, Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal, WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson, and Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission.

Gives Reasons for Request.

In his message to congress Mr. Roosevelt claimed that this new authority must be added to his existing unprecedented powers for efficient conduct of war relations among the United States and the other united nations. He needs this authority to suspend the laws for the duration of the war in order to speed up delivery of war materials, he said. This power would also allow the President to let down the bars on immigration quotas and permit foreign foodstuffs and other materials to enter the country unrestricted.

RUBBER PROGRAM LIKELY TO DOUBLE CHEMIST DEMAND

The United States Civil Service commission announced yesterday that expanded research in the field of synthetic rubber may double the demand for chemists during the coming months.

The commission urged that college men and especially college women with appropriate chemistry training file applications for positions. Four years of college training with 30 semester hours in chemistry are required for junior chemist positions, paying $2,000 a year. For $1,800 jobs, three years of college with 24 semester hours in chemistry, are required.

The commission also announced that federal offices in Washington, D. C., need teletype operators and office appliance repairmen. Typewriter repairmen are especially wanted. The operator jobs pay $1,440 and $1,620 a year. The repair jobs pay $1,860 a year.

STEAL MARINE CORPS CAR.

Charges He Broke Defense Code Regulations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 17 [passed by Canadian censor].—Edward Rohrbough will go on trial Nov. 25 for submitting to Time magazine information about the trouble at Bowmanville prison camp when Canadian authorities put shackles on German prisoners of war. He is the 31 year old son of Edward G. Rohrbough, Republican congressman elect of the 3d congressional district of West Virginia.

[Rohrbough's father studied at the University of Chicago in 1914 and 1915. He is a prominent educator.]

Young Rohrbough, who is not under arrest, is specifically charged with violating the defense of Canada regulations, a wartime code designed to protect the country against enemy agents, subversive activities, or other actions helpful to the enemy.

Canadian authorities declare the article in Time magazine was false in certain important respects. Canadian newspapers had been prevented from printing the story by censorship on the ground the Nazis might twist it to serve as an excuse for atrocities against allied prisoners of war in German hands.

Here's What the Law Says.

Rohrbough will be tried for violating section 16 of the defense of Canada regulations, which says: "No person shall, in any manner likely to prejudice the safety of the state or the efficient prosecution of the war obtain, record, communicate to any other person, publish or have in his possession any document or other record whatsoever containing, or conveying any information being, or purporting to be, information with respect to any of the following matters, that is to say . . .

"The number, character, movement or location of any group of prisoners of war.

"The location, protection, equipment, or capacity of any facilities constructed or set aside for use, [1] by any of the forces aforesaid, [2] by any such vehicle, vessel, or aircraft as aforesaid, [3] for the detention or transportation of any prisoners of war so or, [4] in connection with the prosecution, conveyance, or storage of any munitions of war."

Tried to Enlist in U. S.

Rohrbough, whose wife is an American, attempted to enlist in the United States army in Texas, according to information received here. He was rejected on physical grounds, and then came to Canada where he enlisted with the Kent regiment in western Ontario. This was in August, 1940.

He served with the regiment until July, 1941, when he was honorably discharged for physical defects. One eye was reported to have been injured in a boxing bout.

He remained in Canada and became the correspondent of a Toronto newspaper at Barrie, Ont., a town near Camp Borden. He handled military news for his newspaper.

Rohrbough is said to have been assigned to Bowmanville during the trouble there. He submitted a story to his newspaper, which did not print it because of the censorship ban. He is alleged to have submitted his information to Time magazine. It is reported he advised Time it would be proper to submit the story to censors in the United States.

Study His Citizenship.

J. C. McRuer of Toronto has been retained as special crown counsel to prosecute the case. J. R. Cartwright of Toronto is the defending lawyer.

Whether Rohrbough is still a United States citizen is open to doubt here and dependent on the laws of his own country. Prior to Aug. 3, 1940, persons of foreign countries enlisting in the Canadian army had to take an oath of allegiance to the British king, thus terminating their United States citizenship.

On Aug. 3 a decree was issued that such an oath was unnecessary if it would result in forfeiture of citizenship in his own country. Rohrbough, tho not compelled tc do so, took the oath of allegiance. He had enlisted in the Kent regiment after that date.

CANADA PROTESTED.

Time magazine's account dealt with a disturbance on the prison camp where German prisoners resisted shackling and a number of prisoners and guards were injured. The shackling was in reprisal for the chaining by Nazis of Canadians captured in the Dieppe raid.

The Canadian legation in Washington announced on Oct. 23 that official representations had been made to the United States government protesting against "falsehoods and distortions" in Time's article.

The legation listed four of the "more important" falsehoods as follows: That gas was used by guards to overcome resistance by the prisoners; that machine guns were used to quell the prisoners; that prisoners' food rations were stopped, and that 126 German prisoners at Bowmanville were sent to another camp.

More Signers

Fifteen more young men were accepted as cadets by the army air corps examining board yesterday, raising the total of enlistments since Sept. 1, 1941, to 12,884. At the same time Lieut. Comm. Carl G. Olson of the cadet selection board revealed that 79 per cent of the navy aviation cadets enlisted so far this month were under 21 years old, and 43 per cent either 18 or 19.

Among those enlisted by the navy was David Beecher Stowe, great-grandson of Harriet Beecher Stowe and son of Lyman Beecher Stowe, author and lecturer. Stowe is a student at Northwestern university.

Capt. T. A. Shanley, district coast guard officer, announced that he only awaits the formal signing of a bill by President Roosevelt before issuing a call for women to be assigned to the Warcog, or the "Women's Auxiliary Reserve of the Coast Guard." The new women's unit is being formed to permit their assignment to desk jobs and shore duty, so men may be released for duty at sea.

LA GUARDIA, WPB AGREE ON PAVING IN RAIL SALVAGE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 [Special]. —Mayor Fiorello La Guardia today arranged with Donald Nelson, war production chief, to have New York City repave streets in Brooklyn and elsewhere, from which 15,000 tons of rails are to be salvaged by the WPB for scrap.

After repaving, the city will sue the board and let the courts decide what part of the cost the board should bear.

The WPB was willing to repave the slots from which the rails are to be taken but not the street area between the rails. The mayor has opposed such a plan on the ground it would result in uneven street surfaces which eventually would have to be relaid by the city.

MRS. ROOSEVELT BACK HOME FROM TRIP TO ENGLAND

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt returned to the White House today after a wartime visit to England where she was the guest of King George and Queen Elizabeth.

The first lady had no imediate comment but the White House said she would hold a press conference at 10 a. m. Chicago time tomorrow.

She left New York for England Oct. 21 and made a whirlwind inspection of military and civilian activities there. Britons expressed amazement at her seemingly tireless energy.

The President's wife arrived at an airport near here by plane this morning and was met by Mr. Roosevelt. There was no announcement as to when she left England or the route she followed in returning to the United States.

TORONTO PLANTS LEAD TO RULE ON RACE TOLERANCE

Called Worst Offenders Against Jew, Negro.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 17.—Discrimination against Jews and Negroes by employment officials in certain war plants in the Toronto area is the reason given for the announcement by the selective service administration that refusal to hire men or women because of religion, race, language, color, or nationality will not be tolerated.

The principal discrimination in the Toronto area, according to protests, seems to have been against Jews, altho some plants have exhibited the same attitude toward Negroes. In certain cases, employers have refused to hire Negroes unless they can hire enough to man a complete section of the plant, so as to avoid their mingling with white workers.

Other Areas More Tolerant.

While there have been sporadic complaints from other parts of the country, protests indicate the main trouble is in the Toronto area. In Montreal and Windsor—industrial centers with a more cosmopolitan population—greater tolerance is exhibited.

In a strongly worded statement the selective service administration said:

"Some employers continue to discriminate against certain classes of persons on grounds of citizenship, nationality, race, language, name, creed, or color.

"Such discrimination impairs the war effort by preventing the most effective use of our total labor supply, and tends, by developing well-founded resentment and suspicion, to defeat the democratic objectives for which we are fighting.

Must Report Discrimination.

"If it comes to the attention of national selective service that any employer is refusing unreasonably, on grounds which are discriminatory, to engage otherwise qualified persons referred to him by the office, the results may be direction to grant no more permits until such time as it is satisfactorily established that such discriminations have stopped."

No advertisments containing any such expressions as "Gentiles preferred" or "Protestants only" will be permitted.

Earlier in the war there were cases of employés refusing to work alongside men of origin in enemy countries. This happened in the coal mines of Nova Scotia and in several war factories. There have been few of these cases recently.

KAISER'S YARD SETS NEW MARK: SHIP IN 3 DAYS

Vancouver, Wash., Nov. 17 (AP).—A Henry J. Kaiser shipyard claimed another record today—a three day ship launching.

A tank landing craft slid into the Columbia river from his Vancouver yard here last night, just 2 days 23 hours 40 minutes after keel laying.

Size of the vessel was secret, the navy announcing only that it was smaller than the 10,500 ton Liberty freighters with which Kaiser previously set construction records.

Yard officials said the 71 hour 40 minute launching was one-fourth of the normal time for such ships.

U-BOATS ADD 2 UNITED NATIONS SHIPS TO TOLL

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—The sinking of two united nations ships by axis submarines was announced today by the navy.

A medium size Norwegian merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America in mid-October.

Altho torpedoes struck without warning and destroyed the cargo carrier quickly, all 43 members of the crew were saved. They reached a Caribbean port after sailing in two lifeboats for five days.

The second ship was a medium size British vessel, torpedoed and sunk in the same general locality early in August.

The sinkings raised to 526 the Associated Press tabulation of announced western Atlantic neutral and allied ship losses since Pearl Harbor. In these sinkings, 3,546 are known dead, 1,969 are missing, and 15,965 have been rescued.

F. D. R. SAYS DEAL WITH DARLAN IS ONLY TEMPORARY

Calls It Justified Solely by Stress of Battle.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—President Roosevelt today described the arrangements made by Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of the American forces in Africa, with Adm. Jean Darlan, former chief of Vichy France's armed forces, as a temporary military arrangement.

The chief executive said that the coöperation of Darlan, accepted by the Americans, was justified solely by the events of battle.

Cabinet Men Confer.

The clarification of the American dealings with Darlan came as the French admiral was denounced in London in the house of commons as a "Quisling," and American acceptance of his coöperation was criticized by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the "Fighting French."

The criticisms of the American action prompted Secretary of State Cordell Hull to confer with Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson. At the conference it was agreed that the American acceptance of Darlan's coöperation was a purely military step and had no bearing on French politics.

Later the problem was discussed with the President. It was decided that Mr. Roosevelt release a statement clarifying the situation, lest it might be misinterpreted by representatives of various allied governments in exile as indicating the United States would deal with various "Quislings" should they desert Germany for the allies upon reconquest of invaded countries by American troops.

Text of Statement.

"I have accepted Gen. Eisenhower's political arrangements made for the time being in northern and western Africa," the President's statement said.

"I thoroly understand and approve the feeling in the United States and Great Britain and among all the other united nations that in view of the history of the last two years no permanent arrangement should be made with Adm. Darlan. People in the united nations likewise would never understand the recognition of a reconstituting of the Vichy government in France or in any French territory.

"We are opposed to Frenchmen who support Hitler and the axis. No one in our army has any authority to discuss the future government of France and the French empire.

A Temporary Expedient.

"The future French government will be established—not by any individual in metropolitan France or overseas—but by the French people themselves after they have been set free by the victory of the united nations.

"The present temporary arrangement in North and West Africa is only a temporary expedient, justified solely by the stress of battle.

"The present temporary arrangement has accomplished two military objectives. The first was to save American and British lives on the one hand, and French lives on the other hand.

"The second was the vital factor of time. The temporary arrangement has made it possible to avoid a 'mopping up' period in Algiers and Morocco which might have taken a month or two to consummate. Such a period would have delayed the concentration for the attack from the west on Tunis, and we hope on Tripoli.

"More Lives Saved."

"Every day of delay in the current operation would have enabled the Germans and Italians to build up a strong resistance, to dig in and make a huge operation on our part essential before we could win. Here again, many more lives will be saved under the present speedy offensive, than if we had had to delay it for a month or more.

"It will also be noted that French troops, under the command of Gen. Giraud, have already been in action against the enemy in Tunisia, fighting by the side of American and British soldiers for the liberation of their country.

"Adm. Darlan's proclamation assisted in making a 'mopping up' period unnecessary. Temporary arrangements made with Adm. Darlan apply, without exception, to the current local situation only.

"I have requested the liberation of all persons in northern Africa who had been imprisoned because they opposed the efforts of the Nazis to dominate the world, and I have asked for the abrogation of all laws and decrees inspired by Nazi governments or Nazi ideologists."

F.D.R. STATEMENT ON DARLAN O.K.'D BY DE GAULLISTS

Say It Helps Clarify a Muddled Situation.

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—"Fighting French" spokesmen tonight said they received "with gratification" President Roosevelt's statement that the United States army's political agreement with Adm. Jean Darlan in North Africa was only a temporary expedient dictated by the stress of battle.

"We hoped and believed that that was the situation," one French source said. "Our statement yesterday was an effort to lift the bewilderment and consternation among Frenchmen regarding the arrangement with Darlan. We never have doubted the good faith of the Americans."

The "Fighting Frenchmen" of Gen. Charles de Gaulle openly expressed their opposition to Adm. Darlan, erstwhile Vichy leader, yesterday in a statement which made it clear that the "Fighting French" were not participating in the political discussions in North Africa.

Storm Stirred Up in Commons.

Earlier Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's recognition of Darlan as the French leader of North Africa had stirred up a storm in the house of commons.

Laborite Sir Percy Harris demanded a full explanation of Eisenhower's action. Harris was supported by Edgar Granville, Independent, who denounced Darlan as a Quisling.

Harris said Darlan's appearance imparted a "sinister side" to the whole North African operation.

Granville asked whether the allies were "discriminating between military necessity and the cause for which we are fighting."

Calls French Fleet the Prize.

"We are playing for very high stakes," he continued, "and we should play with clean hands.

"The prize was the French fleet, the capitulation of French armed forces and the government of the French in North Africa. We landed, not the prize, but Darlan.

"Quite obviously, for the past few days, the American and British press has flown the Darlan kite to see if it would come off. It has come to earth labeled 'Quisling.' Whatever may be going on behind the diplomatic scenes, it is the view of a large number of people in Britain that Darlan must go."

The Stars and Stripes, service men's newspaper edited by men of Eisenhower's command, said there are "strong indications" that the former French collaborationists, "no matter what their expressed policy during the German occupation was, actually were hoping fervently for an allied victory."

7,500 RUSH TO SIGN UP AS CUBA RECRUITS AN ARMY FOR OVERSEAS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Nov. 17.—Cuba's youth responded enthusiastically today to President Fulgencio Batista's plans to send 250,000 soldiers to the battlefields of Europe or Africa as soon as that many volunteers are recruited and receive six weeks' training.

More than 2,500 volunteers signed up today in Havana. Defense Minister Aristides Sosa de Quesada said at least twice that number had been recruited today elsewhere in Cuba.

This rush to sign up marked the start of a 30 day recruiting period proposed by President Batista two weeks ago. The force, Quesada said, will be entirely mechanized and will be armed with material supplied by the United States. It is expected to be sent abroad no later than February, 1943.

CZECHS RECALL NAZI MURDER OF PRAGUE YOUTHS

Two hundred fifty persons observed the third anniversary of the Nazi murder of several hundred Czecho-Slovakian students in the University of Prague at a rally last night sponsored by the Foundation of Czecho-Slovakian Americans at Stefanik hall, 2448 South Pulaski road.

Charlotte Carr of Hull House told the group that no spot was so great a loss to Europe and the world as Czecho-Slovakia. The republic was a noble experiment in democracy that should have been preserved, she declared.

J. J. Zmhal, president of the Czecho-Slovakian National Council of America, said that the Nazis proved the strength of a nation is in its schools when they aimed at the future leaders of the country.

SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN OUT SOON, CRIPPS PROMISES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal and leader of the house of commons, promised the members today that Sir William Beveridge's social security report recommending a state insurance scheme covering unemployment, old age, life, health, and physical disabilities, regardless of where contracted, will be published by the end of this month, but that no arrangement yet has been made for its discussion in house debate. So radical are the recommendations in the report that Sir John Mellor, Conservative, told Cripps that Beveridge had said that their adoption would "take us half way to Moscow."

TRIBUNE WRITER LANDS WITH U. S. CHUTISTS AGAIN

Leaps from a Plane Near Tunisian Border.

John Thompson, Chicago Tribune correspondent with Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces in North Africa, is somewhere along the Algerian-Tunisian border today accompanying a force of American paratroopers who jumped from planes to capture a strategic airport.

The story of what is believed to be Thompson's second jump was told last night by Frank L. Kluckhohn in a cabled dispatch to the New York Times from "somewhere in North Africa." On Monday night, a broadcast over the National Broadcasting company from Algiers disclosed that Thompson had made his first jump near Oran, Algeria.

Sees Officer Lead His Men.

This is what Kluckhohn wrote of the new parachute leap near the Tunisian border:

"From the lead plane of a large formation, which had flown thru a war zone where Nazi planes were active, I saw Lieut. Col. E. D. Raff, commander of the paratroops, lead his men in the jump to the ground.

"Three of us—Jack Thompson of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Lowell Bennette of the International News service, and I—were the first correspondents to fly into combat with paratroops. We also were the first newsmen to get this far east after American and British troops had occupied French North Africa.

"After a night in which we gained only a few hours sleep on a cement floor, we took off.

Prepare to Jump.

"There were nearly a score of 'chutists in each plane as the formation moved rapidly away. At one point we saw an armored formation in movement; at another spot, artillery—evidence of the developing battle.

"Ten minutes before we reached our destination, the pilot rang a buzzer three times for 'alert.' Col. Raff consulted with the pilot, then ordered: 'Prepare to jump.' At the same time he attached the parachutes to release chains running along the center of the plane.

"The plane circled low, on its wing tip. Desert dust was blowing in thru the open escape door. Then the bell gave a single, prolonged ring.

"Col. Raff raised his arm and went over the side. The rest cleared the ship within seconds. Among them was Thompson. The last I saw of him he was outside, his parachute billowing with the others."

HERE 'TIS AGAIN—WHY DID HESS MAKE THAT HOP?

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Another effort to smoke out the government on the real object of the sensational flight to this country of Rudolf Hess, former deputy fuehrer of Germany, misfired in the house of commons today. This time the question was brought up by Alfred Edwards, Laborite, who asked Richard Law, undersecretary for foreign affairs, if he could "now make any statement as to the reasons which brought Hess to this country."

"No, sir," Law replied. "The foreign secretary has nothing to add to the statement already made."

Edwards persisted, asking Law if he had read a statement made by Sir Patrick Dollan, lord provost of Glasgow at the time of Hess's arrival, "relating everything that took place."

"I am not responsible for the lord provost of Glasgow," Law retorted.

BERLIN SAYS BRITISH CABINET MAN'S SON WILL TALK OVER RADIO

BERLIN, Nov. 17 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The Berlin radio, in an announcement beamed to England, tonight said that "the son of a present British cabinet minister" will broadcast over the German station Thursday evening and following nights.

In earlier broadcasts the Berlin radio had said that John Amery, son of L. S. Amery, British secretary for India, had gone to Berlin voluntarily, but no mention was made of an intention to make radio addresses.

John Amery had been in Grenoble, in southern France. The Germans said he came to Berlin before the occupation of southern France by the German army.

In London L. S. Amery was mystified. He said his son was suffering from an affliction of the lungs, and that he lived in southern France to benefit from the sunshine. He suggested that his son might have asked to go to Berlin for medical treatment. The Lyons radio recently quoted John Amery as having said that he was "filled with sadness and shame" by the RAF bombings of Boulogne and Billancourt.

Defends Withholding News of Nation's Losses.

progress of the war, lend ears to the clamor of politics or to criticism from those who, as we know in our hearts, are actuated by political motives.

"The fact that this type of criticism has done less harm in the United States than might be expected has been due to the good old horse sense of the American people. I know from a somewhat long experience—in wartime as well as peacetime—that the overwhelming majority of our people know how to discriminate in their reading and in their radio listening between informed discussion and verbal thrusts in the dark.

Tries to Avoid Politics.

"I think you will realize that I have made a constant effort as commander in chief to keep politics out of the fighting of this war.

"But I must confess that my foot slipped once. About 10 days before election day one of our aircraft carriers was torpedoed in the Southwest Pacific. She did not sink at once, but it became clear that she could not make port. She was, therefore, destroyed by our own forces. We in Washington did not know whether the enemy was aware of her sinking—for there were no Japanese ships near enough to see her go down. You will realize, of course, that the actual knowledge of the loss of enemy ships has a definite bearing on continuing naval operations for some time after the event. We, for instance, know that we have sunk a number of Japanese aircraft carriers and we know that we have bombed or torpedoed others. We would give a king's ransom to know whether the latter were sunk or were saved, repaired, and put back into commission.

"However, when we got news of the sinking of this particular ship, a great issue was being raised in the congress and in the public vehicles of information as to the suppression of news from the fighting fronts. There was a division of opinion among responsible authorities.

Says He Made Mistake.

"Here came my mistake. I yielded to the clamor. I did so partly in realization of the certainty that if the news of the sinking were given out two or three weeks later it would be publicly charged that the news had been suppressed by me until after the election.

"Shortly thereafter protests came from the admirals in command in the Southwest Pacific and at our great base in Hawaii on the ground that, in all probability, the Japanese navy had no information of the sinking and that handing them the information on a silver platter—altho we were careful not to reveal the name of this carrier—gave them a military advantage which they would otherwise not have had.

"This confession of mine illustrates to the people of this country the fact that in time of war the conduct of that war, with the aim of victory, comes absolutely first. They know that not one of their inalienable rights is taken away thru the failure to disclose to them, for a reasonable length of time, facts that Hitler and Mussolini and Tojo would give their eye teeth to learn. Facts therefore become paramount—facts that cannot be told to the public at the time, as well as facts that can and should be told at all times.

"The posters that tell you 'loose talk costs lives' do not exaggerate. Loose talk delays victory. Loose talk is the damp that gets into powder. We prefer to keep our powder dry.

Battle Lines to Lengthen.

"We have a gigantic job to do—all of us, together. Our battle lines today stretch from Kiska to Murmansk, from Tunisia to Guadalcanal. These lines will grow longer as our forces advance.

"We have an uphill fight, and it will continue to be uphill all the way. There can be no coasting to victory.

"During the last two weeks we have had a great deal of good news and it would seem that the turning point of this war has at last been reached. But this is no time for exultation. There is no time now for anything but fighting and working to win.

"A few days ago, as our army advanced thru North Africa, on the other side of the world our navy was fighting what was one of the great battles of our history.

"A very powerful Japanese force was moving at night toward our positions in the Solomon Islands. The spearhead of the force that we sent to intercept the enemy was under the command of Rear Adm. Daniel J. Callaghan. He was aboard the leading ship, the cruiser San Francisco.

"The San Francisco sailed right into the enemy fleet—right thru the whole enemy fleet—her guns blazing. She engaged and hit three enemy vessels, sinking one of them. At point blank range, she engaged an enemy battleship—heavily her superior in size and firepower. She silenced this battleship's big guns and so disabled her that she could be sunk by torpedoes from our destroyers and aircraft.

Cruiser Is Saved.

"The San Francisco herself was hit many times. Adm. Callaghan, my close personal friend, and many of his gallant officers and men gave their lives in this battle. But the San Francisco was brought safely back to port by a lieutenant commander, and she will fight again for our country.

"The commander of the task force of which the San Francisco was a part has recommended that she be the first of our navy's vessels to be decorated for outstanding service.

"But there are no citations, no medals, which carry with them such high honor as that accorded to fighting men by the respect of their comrades in arms.

"The commanding general of the marines on Guadalcanal, Gen. Vandegrift [Maj. Gen. A. A. Vandergrift], yesterday sent a message to the commander of the fleet, Adm. Halsey [Vice Adm. William F. Halsey Jr.] saying, 'We lift our battered helmets in admiration for those who fought magnificently against overwhelming odds and drove the enemy back to crushing defeat.'

"Let us thank God for such men as these. May our nation continue to be worthy of them, thruout this war, and forever."

BRITON ASKS 1,000 BOMBER RAIDS ON NAZIS EACH WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A thousand bomber raid on Germany once weekly during the coming spring and summer was urged in the house of commons today by Oliver Simmonds, Conservative, as the quickest way of winning the war.

He referred to the havoc wrought by the thousand bomber raid on Cologne, when, according to neutral estimates, he said, 20,000 Germans were killed.

"There are 25 principal German cities," he said. "If eight of these were gutted in turn like Cologne, the whole complexion of the war would change."

WANT A $2,000,000 MANHATTAN?

Here's the recipe below! We call it a $2,000,000 "dream of a drink"—because that's what Fleischmann invested in grains, skill and research before we released one golden bottle of this rich, luxurious, straight bourbon whiskey. We make it in limited amounts. We have to—it's so smooth and delicious!

CHICAGO FLYERS HELP TO SAVE A CRIPPLED 'FORT'

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

A UNITED STATES BOMBER BASE, Somewhere in Britain, Nov. 17.—How five Flying Fortresses swooped down to protect another of the big bombers on their return flight today from the third American raid on St. Nazaire was told tonight when the bombers returned to their base.

Among the members of the rescuing crews were two Chicagoans—Second Lieutenants Edward J. Hennessey Jr., 23 years old, of 6848 Constance avenue, and Alexander Kramarinko, 24, of 1931 West Potomac avenue. Lieut. Marlin Reber of Ypsilanti, Mich., also was in the "rescue party."

Hennessey was second in command of the bomber piloted by Lieut. Clay Isbell of El Paso, Tex. When this plane left St. Nazaire, after bombing the German submarine base at that French port, its crew saw one Fortress from the leading squadron lagging behind after being struck by anti-aircraft fire.

Blast Nazi Fighter Planes.

Isbell's plane dropped out of its formation to protect the laggard's left wing. Reber left his formation to protect the cripple's right wing. Meanwhile, three other Fortresses, in one of which Kramarinko was co-pilot, flew on guard above.

"Five Focke-Wulf 190 fighter planes came blazing at us," Hennessey related. "They were in so close that we could see the expressions on the German flyers' faces. We didn't like their looks, so our gunners gave them the business. We got one of them and damaged two others."

"They let go a lot of flak [anti-aircraft fire] but didn't hit us," Kramarinko said. "Coming back over France we were flying between 50 and 200 feet above the earth, skimming the tree tops."

Chicagoans Get Their Stories.

Among the officers who took down the stories of the crews for the official records were Capt. Wiley Glass of 2150 Lincoln Park West, and Capt. John E. McGovern, 2334 East 68th street, Chicago. Glass is an investment banker in private life, McGovern is a partner in a brokerage firm.

Pilots on a successful raid always owe a debt to the proper loading of the bombs at their base. Among the loaders for this operation were several Illinois boys, including Sergeants Nick Kesick of Lockport, Donald F. Sievert of New Lennox, Sam Martek of Worden, Joseph Poproki of Oglesby, and Corporals Leo Wills of Clinton and John C. Gorman of Seneca.

BELIEVE HITLER PLANS NEW DRIVE ON MIDDLE EAST FROM BALKANS

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—Competent foreign military and diplomatic sources today said advices from the continent indicate that Adolf Hitler is preparing a new thrust from the Balkans against the middle east and Suez in the hope of countering the American-British campaign in North Africa.

These informants, who must remain anonymous, said they were in receipt of reports that Hitler had withdrawn, or was withdrawing, more than 40 divisions, 16 of them armored, from the Russian front. Some were reported taken to western Europe for rest and reorganization, but the bulk were being concentrated in the Balkans, especially in Greece, for "big action" in the eastern mediterranean.

GERMANS GAIN IN STALINGRAD, BUT LOSE 1,000 MEN

Nazis Break Into Town Near Leningrad.

MOSCOW, Nov. 18 [Wednesday] (AP).—German troops at a cost of 1,000 casualties gained slightly in a Stalingrad factory district yesterday, it was announced early today, the 86th day of the German siege. Far to the north in the Leningrad siege area the Nazis and Russians were engaged "in violent street fighting" on the outskirts of a town the soviets recently recaptured.

86

The Russians seized a town on the Volkhov front east of Leningrad several days ago, and the Germans have been attacking heavily ever since in an effort to retake it, the midnight communique disclosed.

Nazis Enter Outskirts.

After repelling six attacks all day yesterday the Germans brought up reënforcements and "succeeded in breaking into the outskirts of a populated place," the communique said.

In the Stalingrad sector the Russians said their troops repulsed numerous Nazi attacks, but acknowledged that "in a factory part of the city the Germans pressed back our troops after two days' fighting."

Northwest of the Volga river city the Russians told only of artillery duels, but said one Russian unit caught and killed 75 Germans erecting barbed wire entanglements.

Drive Nazis from Forts.

In the Caucasus the Russians said their troops gained on the Nalchik front, driving the Germans out of fortified positions near one village, disabling five Nazi tanks, and wiping out about a company of German infantry.

Northeast of Tuapse where the Germans have been trying to skirt the Caucasus mountains along the Black sea coast the communique said 400 more Germans were killed in unsuccessful attempts to crash thru soviet lines.

Nazis Claim Success.

BERLIN, Nov. 17 [from German Broadcasts—(AP).—The German communique today reported that Nazi forces had broken into deep soviet defenses in fierce hand-to-hand fighting north of the Black sea port of Tuapse and also in the Elborus sector of the Caucasus.

U. S. PLANES DROP ALLIED CHUTISTS DEEP IN TUNISIA

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters disclosed nothing of the allied advance movement or of the strength of forces still pouring into allied-held North African ports.

Last midweek an American force from Algiers was reported moving inland toward Bou Saada.

From there the possible route for this force could have led southeast to Biskra, a matter of 115 road miles, thence farther east to Gafsa, in the depths of Tunisia, 255 miles farther by trail.

The Vichy French news agency said the British-American force was operating from Tebessa, at the southern terminus of a rail line running 115 miles into the desert south of the eastern Algerian port of Bone.

This account said Gafsa, 100 miles southeast of Tebessa, was one of the first objectives of the allies in a thrust aimed at Gabes, 100 miles farther east and 100 miles from the Tripolitanian border.

Base to Strike at Port.

At Gafsa the desert task force also would be in position to strike by road or rail to the Mediterranean coast at Sfax, approximately 150 miles to the northeast.

This would cut the Italian high road to Tripoli at a time when strong allied combined forces, moving on Bizerte and Tunis along the coastal route from Bone, are beginning to engage the hastily assembled axis enemy.

The axis was believed in some quarters to have been reënforced by one of the two newly organized air-borne tank divisions of the German army. They are said to have 12 ton tanks which were flown in from the continent.

One of these divisions numbers about 7,500 troops. Previous estimates placed the axis strength in Tunisia at 10,000.

At allied headquarters it is considered unlikely that any French warships have joined the American and British in their fight against the axis. There were no field reports of any such additions and officers pointed out that most of the French opposition to landings came from naval forces.

At present it is not known how much shipping was gained by the allies thru their occupation of North African ports, but approximately 75 ships a week made trips from North Africa to France last spring.

Claim Planes Inflict Losses.

BERLIN, Nov. 17 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German high command announced today that two allied columns nearing the Tunisian frontier, one along the coast and the other inland to the south, had "suffered heavy losses from our air attacks."

DNB, the German news agency, said that axis troops, based mostly in the Bizerte-Tunis areas, had not yet engaged any American or British troops.

The high command said that a German submarine had sunk a 12,000 ton allied transport off the African coast and the DNB agency said a convoy of 16 damaged allied ships was seen steaming toward Gibraltar.

DNB said the allied coastal column attacked by axis planes consisted mostly of British troops who "suffered serious losses on narrow mountain roads. Numerous burning or destroyed vehicles blocked the roads, causing jams. Escorting axis fighters, with a loss of only one of their own planes, downed seven British-American fighters."

"The harbor of Bougie, which serves as the main supply base for the British 1st army, was heavily bombed. Large quantities of material stored on the quays were set afire and installations for unloading were destroyed," DNB said.

Commando Chief Hails Great Combined Action

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—A message of congratulation on "the greatest combined operation in history" was received today by Lieut. Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, commander of the American forces in North Africa, from Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of Britain's commandos. An allied headquarters spokesman said Gen. Eisenhower replied, "We owe much to the assistance we received from combined operations," which is Mountbatten's command.

AWESOME SIGHT! BRITISH CHASING RUNNING NAZIS

Sees Picture of Death on Desert Trip.

BY DON WHITEHEAD.

EN ROUTE TO THE WESTERN DESERT FRONT, Libya, Nov. 17 (AP).—I have seen the graveyard of Marshal Erwin Rommel's hopes to conquer North Africa and it is a terrible sight to see.

Even this scene of death and destruction on the desert, however, is not as awesome as that of Britain's victorious 8th army giving chase to the retreating enemy who is not many miles ahead.

Transports moving along the coast road looked like a great brown snake writhing across the desert floor thru the littered wreckage of twisted, burned enemy tanks, planes, and trucks. As far as I could see dust swirled and billowed over the army on the move.

Looks for RAF Unit.

I came into the desert looking for the advance RAF unit to which I am to report. But as yet I am unable to catch up with it. It is always just ahead.

I left Cairo yesterday. The plane that brought me up was a Blenheim. The pilot was a lean, lanky RAF flight sergeant, Peter Bartlett.

We were flying about an hour when Pete turned the nose of the Blenheim down.

Ahead were the fire blackened skeletons of what once had been Rommel's tanks.

They littered the desert over an area known as "The Hill of Evil Men." Many of them must have been funeral pyres for their crews.

Move Tanks on Trucks.

Over to the right of us was the Mediterranean and the coast road along which were streaming transports. There were truck borne Sherman tanks, guns of all kinds, and hundreds and hundreds of vehicles rolling along without even a sign of interference.

On either side of the road were destroyed trucks and vehicles shot up by RAF and American flyers as the enemy fled in panic westward.

We roared over the pens of German and Italian prisoners. Some of them instinctively started to run, others stared, then ducked before we passed.

Shortly after noon Pete landed on an airfield pitted with bomb craters, cluttered with wrecked German and Italian planes and bombs the Germans left behind in their haste.

I left the plane. My outfit was supposed to be there but it was not. I hitched a ride on a truck.

We drove for 90 minutes, then turned off into the desert where headquarters was supposed to be. But my RAF unit had just moved on.

Perhaps tomorrow I will be able to catch up with this war.

AUSTRALIA FREED OF INVASION FEAR, SAYS MUNITIONS MINISTER

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 17 (AP).—Hormon J. M. Makin, Australian navy and munitions minister, said today the United States naval victory in the Solomon Islands was a momentous event and would give Australia much needed relief from the possibility of invasion.

"This is but the first round of what may be a much extended fight for freedom in the Pacific area," Makin said.

At Melbourne, Prime Minister John Curtin said he was "grateful to the United States for the magnificent forces used in this important theater" of the war. "I often wonder to REVEAL HEROISM OF U. S. SOLDIER 'BORN FOR WAR'

ALLIED HDQ., North Africa, Nov. 17 (AP).—One murky dawn, on the wave ravaged shores of Morocco, an American soldier who was "born for war" died in a flurry of machine gun bullets. He was Air Force Col. Demas T. [Nick] Craw of Washington, D. C.

Col. Demas T. Craw.

Maj. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., commanding American forces in West Africa, described his death as one of "superlative heroism."

To save bloodshed Craw volunteered to go ashore to try to convince the French commander to surrender, Patton said. He made one fruitless trip, returned, then asked to be allowed to try again. On the second trip he was killed.

AFRICAN COASTAL LIGHTS SHOWED US WAY: PATTON

U.S. General Says 'God Is on My Side.'

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, Nov. 17 (AP).—America's two gun general, Maj. Gen. George S. Patton Jr., swept into GHQ today and reported with gusto to Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower on the good fortunes of war.

His bald pate shining and his service revolvers swinging from both hips, Gen. Patton stepped from a plane which had been escorted here by several pursuit ships. He was in command of the operations on the African Atlantic coast.

"I guess I must be one of God's most favored people," he said.

"When we arrived off the coast," he went on, "I found the French had put on all their navigation lights to guide some ships from Dakar into the [Casablanca] harbor.

"They showed us exactly where we wanted to go."

Shell Just Missed.

Only yesterday, Gen. Eisenhower disclosed that a landing boat into which Patton was about to step had been destroyed by a Vichy shell.

Patton also told how a new American 105 mm. self-propelled gun had blown a hole in a fort near Lyauteu, Morocco, so infantry could rush in with grenades and capture it.

Patton said American tanks had proven their worth in every instance, being far superior to anything encountered in French North Africa.

"Some outstanding feats of bravery were performed by American stretcher bearers who time and time again went out into machine gun fire to bring in our wounded," he added.

4 Tanks Beat 18.

He related how a companion of his First World war days, Col. H. H. Simms of Washington, D. C., who gave up a profitable business to get into this war, "with 4 tanks drove back 18 French tanks and a column of infantry in five miles. He personally knocked out four French tanks altho his own was hit three times."

Patton also praised Col. W. H. Wilbur, who conceived the idea of taking a letter to the general at Casablanca.

"Wilbur penetrated a hostile line at night, traveled 14 times thru hostile territory unassisted, and delivered the letter in Casablanca before dawn," Patton related.

Portugal Protests Allied Planes Over Territory

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 17 (AP).—The Portuguese government has made a diplomatic protest to the United States and British governments against passage of united nations military planes over Portuguese territory recently, it was disclosed tonight.

PLANE'S MISHAP SAVES DAUGHTER OF MISSIONARY

WITH UNITED STATES FORCES IN CHINA, Nov. 16 [Delayed]—(AP).—The forced landing of an American transport plane at a mountain village near the China-Tibet border probably saved the life of a missionary's 18 month old daughter, its crewmen disclosed today.

When the plane was forced down during a run on the India-China ferry service, the crew found the child apparently dying of bronchial pneumonia. They rushed the oxygen tanks from the disabled plane and improvised an oxygen mask with a hose and a funnel. For three days this crude apparatus was used and she was nursed thru the crisis.

The child is the daughter of Harry Fisher, a British missionary, and the former Ann Andrews of Cleveland, O., who died in childbirth. The transport was marooned in the mountains for 14 days until repairs were made after rescue planes dropped food and tools.

SUSPECTED HEAD OF IRA GOES ON TRIAL AS TRAITOR

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Nov. 17 (AP).—Hugh McAteer, 25 years old, accused of being chief of staff of the Irish Republican army, went on trial today charged with treason by attempting to set up an Irish republic in Ulster.

McAteer, heavily guarded, refused to stand until he was forced to, then stood mute.

The prosecution charged that he collected arms and explosives at operations headquarters of the northern command of the IRA. Shots were fired at a constabulary inspector when McAteer and two companions were arrested last Aug. 10.

TRANSPORTS PUT BIG YANK FORCES ON GUADALCANAL

Land Without Loss of a Man or a Gun.

WITH U. S. FLEET OFF GUADALCANAL, Nov. 6 (AP).—[Delayed].—The strength of the United States' grip on the Solomons area has been increased greatly by two successful landings by marine and army troop reënforcements the last few days.

They were the largest landing operations since the initial storming of the Solomons on Aug. 7.

One force of marines went ashore near Henderson field. These fresh troops now are believed to have joined other marines who were pushing westward in the Matanikau river area against Jap positions. The other landing was made simultaneously.

The success of this daring operation without loss of a man or a piece of equipment was the result of careful planning, favorable weather, and excellent coöperation of all land based, scouting and fighting aircraft, as well as of the navy's PT torpedo boats and submarines.

Light Flares on Beach.

Our force of warships and transports crept in under cover of darkness and low clouds early on the morning of Nov. 4. Three flares had been lighted on the beach by a handful of marines who had fought their way there from Henderson field.

As daylight was breaking the transports steamed close to shore and most of the warships began a protective patrol in the surrounding waters.

A force of marine raiders went ashore first to clear the beach head, but found no opposition. Then transports began unloading.

From this warship we saw landing boats racing ashore with soldiers and much equipment, then speeding back to the transports for more loads.

Warned of Jap Planes.

The shore area looked extremely rugged, with the jungle extending to the water's edge. There were high, thickly wooded mountains a few miles in the background.

Unloading proceeded smoothly and speedily thruout the morning until 11:20 a. m., when we received a warning that Japanese planes were on the way. Quickly the transports got under way and joined the column of warships. We steamed out and prepared to repel the enemy attack.

Unloading Is Resumed.

But apparently the Japs were intercepted by our fighting aircraft at Henderson field, for they never arrived, and we received the all-clear at 12:25 p. m. The transports then returned inshore and resumed unloading.

All thru the landing operations we were under a protective wing set up by our fighter plane patrols. At night time we were protected by the swift, deadly torpedo boats.

They both did a good job, and reconnaissance by the navy's PBY planes and the army's Lockheed-Hudsons and B-17s also rendered invaluable aid.

35 Planes Shot Down.

At 9:15 a. m. Thursday, Nov. 5, we received a report many Japanese high altitude bombers and fighters were headed our way. The transports again interrupted unloading, but those enemy planes never reached us. A force of Grumman wildcats intercepted them.

In the ensuing battle, mostly over Florida Island, the Grummans shot down about 35 bombers and fighters.

We were told that the anti-aircraft gunners at Henderson field were complaining because in the previous four days Jap planes had been unable to approach within firing distance over the field, and the gunners said they were getting rusty.

ADMIRALTY HEAD WARNS OF MORE BLOWS FROM FOE

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, declared today that submarine warfare is "the greatest of all our problems . . . but we have so far succeeded in keeping our ocean lines."

Alexander said in an address that the axis is concentrating "to a large extent on this form of attack and is capable of a great onslaught on our trade and threat to our shipping."

He warned that it would not be right "because we have made so great a success of the last three weeks, for anybody to assume that there are not still greater tribulations for this nation to come."

25 Killed in Railroad Collision in Indo-China

TOKIO, Nov. 17 [from Japanese broadcasts] (AP).—Twenty-five persons were killed and 68 seriously injured in a head-on collision of two trains today on the main railway of Indo-China, four miles outside of Hanoi, the capital.

[This is the third serious accident on this line since the beginning of the war in the Pacific. Sabotage is believed by the French in Indo-China to have caused them.]

New Details of American Naval Victory Told

New details of the American naval victory over the Japanese fleet in the Solomon Islands last Friday indicate that the battle developed approximately as indicated on the map.

honor for exceptional bravery at Pearl Harbor. He was blown off his ship by a terrific explosion in the burning battleship Arizona, tied up alongside, but swam back, climbed aboard, and moved his vessel out of a sea of flaming oil to safety.

Estimates of the effect of the battle on the course of the war in the Pacific came from many quarters and were in general agreement that the Japanese had been dealt a devastating blow which would make it more difficult for them to undertake any new adventure, altho they still have enough naval strength left to try again for the southeastern Solomons if they are willing to take that risk.

At the navy department a spokesman said the victory was a major action, but not a decisive one, and warned that while the United States had won round two of the Solomons battle, there might be a round three.

American forces were left in complete and undisputed possession of the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area, it was said. "They not only met and drove from the field a numerically superior force but employed the most daring type of action to accomplish that result."

The navy released messages of congratulations from Adm. Ernest J. King, fleet commander in chief; Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, and Rear Adm. Turner.

"Well done," wired King, "from all here to all participants, army, navy, and marine corps, for the repelling of a powerful attack by a determined enemy. We regret the losses but know that those who were killed gave their lives as freely as would the other thousands sharing the risks.

"The names of Savo, Tulagi, and Guadalcanal will live in history as symbols of sacrifice, courage, devotion, and tenacity due to your brave and gallant action."

"Losses Not in Vain."

Adm. Nimitz told the American forces that their offensive spirit was magnificent and that their losses "were not in vain."

Adm. Turner told the men of his task force that "no medals can possibly do the alive and the dead adequate honor."

He disclosed that some of the American forces who took part in the action had arrived in the Guadalcanal area just previously with reënforcements for the troops there, and he said that having successfully accomplished this mission these forces "then magnificently and with eagerness became the sharp edge of the sword which cut the enemy's throat."

Adm. Nimitz said it was certain "our battleships contributed to the loss of the enemy to a great degree."

Chicago Couple Believe Son Mentioned in War Story

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lundgren, 4156 North Harding avenue, believe that a Lieut. C. Lundgren, mentioned in an Associated Press dispatch from Egypt carried in THE TRIBUNE yesterday, is their son, Lieut. Carl Lundgren Jr., 22 years old. They said he has written them from Egypt, where he is stationed with the army air corps. The dispatch told of his riding in the tail compartment of a bomber delivering mail to American troops. Lieut. Lundgren was graduated from Schurz High school and attended the University of Illinois for four years. He joined the air corps last fall.

2 U. S. BATTLESHIPS DAMAGED, FLED FROM FIGHT, SAYS TOKIO

New York, Nov. 17 (AP).—The Tokio radio claimed in a broadcast tonight that the 35,000-ton North Carolina, America's new $70,000,000 super-battleship, and the 33,400-ton Idaho "fled after receiving terrific damage at the hands of the Japanese navy" in the Solomon Islands last Saturday night.

The Domei agency quoted "authoritative quarters" to this effect, and said the Japanese imperial headquarters on Wednesday would issue a communique showing that "the Japanese naval victory was so overwhelming that United States attempts at a counteroffensive in the South Pacific are a thing of the past."

This broadcast was an obvious prelude to an announcement seeking to offset Washington's communique on Monday disclosing the smashing of the Japanese invasion fleet. The Tokio radio said "belief was expressed" that Rear Adm. Daniel J. Callaghan was killed in the engagement. Washington had announced this fact more than 24 hours before.

Swedish Batteries Score Hits on German Plane

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 17.—For the first time in two years Swedish defense headquarters announced tonight that Swedish anti-aircraft batteries scored hits on a German plane violating Swedish territory. The plane, a Junkers 88, flew over Falsterbo peninsula and when warning shots had no effect the battery used live ammunition. The plane immediately changed it course and left Swedish territory.

SWEPT BY FIRE, TORN BY BLASTS, SHIP BATTLES ON

U.S. Destroyer Turned Into Inferno by Jap Plane.

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, Nov. 17 (AP).—A fighting story of how the United States destroyer Smith carried out its assigned mission thru an inferno of flames and exploding ammunition came from the south Pacific today.

"I cannot say enough in praise of our type of sailors," declared Lieut. Comm. Hunter Wood Jr., skipper of the sturdy destroyer that survived a direct hit by a blazing Jap torpedo plane while protecting an aircraft carrier on Oct. 26 off Santa Cruz Island in the Solomons.

Wood said the destroyer had helped fight off one wave of Jap torpedo planes and was battling a second wave when the Jap torpedo plane, apparently set aflame by gunfire, crashed like a blazing meteor directly onto the Smith, hitting the No. 2 gun, in front of the bridge, and crashing to the deck between the No. 2 and No. 1 guns.

A Swish, a Flash of Flame.

"I never saw it coming. I heard a swish and there was a flash of red flame," said Wood, whose home is in Hopkinsville, Ky.

He gave this account of the action:

All the forepart of the destroyer immediately became an inferno, with blazing gasoline from the wrecked plane exploding the destroyer's ready ammunition. Then, about six or eight minutes after the plane crashed to the deck, its torpedo exploded, causing additional death and destruction.

Fights Off More Planes.

While the fire raged, the destroyer maintained its place in the carrier's protecting screen and helped fight off a third wave of Japanese torpedo planes.

"We kept right in formation, except for slight deviations to get away from the smoke," Wood added.

Battle Flames 1½ Hours.

The Jap plane, which Wood said he believed was brought down by gunfire and hence did not make an intentional suicide dive on the destroyer, hit the Smith about 11:40 a. m., about one hour after the action started.

For two hours the destroyer carried on, maintaining its position and helping to fight off the third wave of enemy planes. It took more than an hour and a half of that time to get the fire under control.

Japs Increase Their Force in Burma to 6 Divisions

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 17 (AP).—The Japanese have increased their forces in Burma by one division, bringing the total there to six—perhaps 90,000 men—an army spokesman said today. He said the Japanese are building a narrow gauge rail line north from Paotow, in Suiyuan province, for military purposes, and had enlarged an airdrome there.

No Extra Christmas Food or Candy, Britons Told

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Lord Woolton, minister of food, warned the British public today that there will be no extra rations of food or sweets for Christmas. Not only will the rigors of rationing be unrelieved for the festive season, but even the present allowance of milk will be cut, he said. Starting Sunday, Woolton announced, the milk ration to nonpriority consumers will be reduced by half a pint to two pints weekly.

DEDICATE GREAT ALASKAN ARMY HIGHWAY FRIDAY

Dignitaries Snowbound by Record Blizzard.

BY WARREN BAKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Passed by Canadian Censor.]

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 17.—Officials, dignitaries, officers and some who are just curious were heading out of snowbound Edmonton today for the far north country where the main 1,600 mile stretch of the Alaskan highway will be opened formally on Friday.

Because the whole of northern and central Alberta was snowed under Saturday, Sunday and part of yesterday by a blizzard all plane priorities have been set back as much as two days. Many of those going up may not get out of Edmonton until Thursday.

Brig. Gen. James A. [Patsy] O'Connor, peppery boss of the Northwest Service command, left this morning. He returned Sunday in the middle of the storm from a trip east, bringing back with him Grover Whalen, onetime greeter and arbiter of what the well-dressed New Yorker will wear, and R. A. G. Bogan of Chicago, a vice president of the Greyhound bus lines.

Just a Dot on the Map.

Friday morning the assembled guests will be taken from White Horse, Y. T., up the highway in army cars to within a hundred miles of the border to a little spot in the road known as Spruce Forest—which even the army in this part of the country seems to have difficulty finding on the maps.

There will be held the ceremonies of official dedication of one of the greatest engineering feats the world has ever known.

While the road already is in use it is not completed. There is a double track all the way from Dawson Creek to Fairbanks—about three quarters of which, according to Gen. O'Connor, is graveled. This military road follows, to some extent at least, the naturally easiest way thru. It had to be built in a hurry for army use, and it was.

Part of Superhighway.

But a good deal of it is straight enough and level enough and with a good enough subsurface to be a part of the great superhighway that some day will link the two American continents with one long, strong band.

More army people will be sent in thruout the winter, in addition to the 6,000 or so civilian workers who are at work on the project. Many of these originally undertook the construction of the superhighway part of the big road, but in recent months have been put to helping the army with its job and expect to spend most of the winter helping to maintain the army's track.

Thus far no serious trouble has been encountered, Gen. O'Connor said. Many pieces of snow fighting equipment already are on the job, contributed by townships, counties, states, and provinces a thousand miles away. One bit of hard luck was encountered at Fort St. John, where about 150 feet of a 200 foot trestle bridge was washed out by the ice flow but by today or tomorrow the army said the road will be open again for the hauling of supplies.

South Chicago Group Hears Fund for Hospital Lacking

The Cook county board listened yesterday to a group from South Chicago which requested that a branch of the County hospital be set up to handle emergency cases in that section. The group, headed by the Rev. Paul J. Folina of the United Church of South Chicago, was told that the financial condition of the county would not permit any building at this time.

MacARTHUR LEADS HIS ARMY TO WITHIN 30 MILES OF BUNA BASE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Nov. 18 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Ground troops under personal command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who is in the field, have moved closer toward the Jap held port of Buna in northeast New Guinea, while in the air allied bombers range far to strike new blows, including hits on a large merchantman, the high command announced today.

The ground troops, comprising Australians and Americans, last were reported within 30 miles of Buna by mountain trail and probably closer in cases where they were transported by air. The communique stated succinctly the advance "continues" while planes constantly attack the retreating enemy.

A raid by heavy bombers on shipping in the harbor of Rabaul, New Britain, set ablaze the large merchantman. At Buin, in the Solomons northwest of Guadalcanal, medium bombers last night started fires and explosions on the airdrome and destroyed three enemy aircraft. Allied bombers with a fighter escort surprised the Japs at Lae, on the New Guinea north coast, destroying seven enemy bombers and seven fighters in low altitude attacks. A Zero which attempted to intercept was shot down.

SUPERIORITY OF U.S. TANKS STIRS BRITISH CRITICS

One Would Punish British Manufacturers.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The superiority of American tanks over British tanks, despite the recent claim of Sir James Grigg, secretary of state for war, that "we have the best tanks in the world," was brought out in the house of commons today.

Seymour Cocks, Laborite, demanded punishment for the persons responsible for the failure to turn out tanks equal in fighting power to those produced in the United States.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill himself, Cocks pointed out, had stressed the great part played in Africa by the American built Gen. Sherman tanks. The Laborite member said it is remarkable that America, which entered the war only a few months back, should be capable of producing these weapons, whereas Britain, after three years of war, has been unable to produce tanks giving similar results.

Milne Blames Churchill.

"Those responsible for this outrageous carelessness ought to be punished," he added. "There ought to be some form of inquiry into this matter."

Cocks was followed by Sir John Wardlaw Milne, who recently proposed a vote of censure of the Churchill government. Sir John maintained that because the prime minister and the minister of defense are one and the same person, the improvement of production in Britain was not being carried out.

"I think we have some tanks that have done excellent service," said Sir John, "and I believe that this country can produce the best tanks in the world, but if the secretary of state for war means we have British tanks armed with guns capable of meeting the German tanks, then I should be extremely grateful if he would give us some information about them."

Grateful for U. S. Tanks.

Sir John added that people in this country were desirous of knowing why Britain must have American tanks "if we have got the best in the world."

"I think the government should answer that question," Wardlaw Milne said, adding that, despite criticism, the house was extremely grateful to Mr. Churchill for arranging with the United States for the delivery of Sherman and Lee tanks, "without which our recent victory in Egypt would not have been achieved."

ONE TYPEWRITER LEFT.

How to conduct his business with only one 16 year old typewriter was the question worrying Edward Sieling, president of the Sieling Urn Bag company, coffee maker manufacturers, when he reported to police yesterday that burglars had stolen two modern typewriters from the company's office at 927 Huron street.

SAVACHKA BACK; STATE MOVES TO INDICT CALDWELL

Ex-Treasurer Denies He Looted Clerks' Union.

Prosecution of Max Caldwell and his brother, Michael, on charges of looting the treasury of the Chicago Clerks' union moved closer last night when two assistant state's attorneys heard the story of Michael Savachka, former secretary-treasurer of the union, in the county jail.

Savachka, who ran away from Chicago and hid for 16 months at the behest of Caldwell, was returned to the city yesterday by a deputy marshal from Miami, Fla., where Savachka was arrested Oct. 20 on draft evasion charges.

Quizzed for Two Hours.

With the permission of government officials Savachka was interviewed for two hours by Assistant State's Attorneys Joseph Burke and Alexander Napoli. They announced after the session that they had obtained enough information to go before the grand jury and seek indictments of Caldwell and his brother, Michael Pollack. [Caldwell's real name is Pollack.]

Savachka amplified the story he told in Miami about his 16 months as a fugitive. He repeated his statements that Caldwell and Pollack were the real bosses of the union and that he had no authority or knowledge of the union's affairs in spite of his title as secretary-treasurer.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Michael Savachka (right) with W. H. McDonald, deputy United States marshal, in the United States courthouse yesterday.

When asked to explain what happened to $910,000 in funds collected during their régime they insisted that Savachka had custody of the books and treasury and that only he knew the answers. As a result the investigation came to nothing.

Tells of Errand Boy Duties.

Savachka's account of the union's operations and his flight, as told to the two prosecutors, was summarized then as follows:

Savachka's main duty was to take money collected daily by organizers in the field and deposit it in a bank. The union had 5,000 members who paid $2 monthly dues, not counting special assessments and various ticket sales for "benefits." The income, therefore, was more than $10,000 a month, but the union never had more than $3,000 in the bank.

On June 4, soon after members of the union had filed suit for accounting of their funds, Savachka was in the union office until 7 p. m. When he left, the books and records still were there, in their usual places. Also in the office when he left was Michael Pollack.

Ordered to Take Vacation.

At midnight that night Savachka got a telephone call at his room at 5415 South Laflin street. The caller was Caldwell, who told him to get ready to go on vacation. Savachka drove to Caldwell's home at 8158 South Winchester avenue and the two of them drove together in Savachka's car to Miami Beach, Fla.

For a month Savachka lived in Caldwell's $45,000 home on fashionable De Lido Island, Miami Beach, which Caldwell bought from Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti. Thereafter Savachka lived in another home and Caldwell paid his rent of $10 a week.

Income Tax Probe Planned.

Savachka also is to be questioned by A. P. Madden, head of the intelligence unit of the department of revenue in Chicago, and Daniel Conerty, chief field representative. They are anxious to determine whether there is a basis for filing income tax evasion charges against Caldwell.

Another questioner will be Assistant United States Attorney John Kiely, who directs the prosecution of draft dodgers here. The draft evasion case against Savachka also has entangled Caldwell, who has been charged with aiding Savachka to evade the law and with harboring a criminal. Caldwell is out on bond in Miami on these charges. He publishes a weekly newspaper in Miami Beach.

THE QUESTION.

What novel use have you made of clothes hangers?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Margaret Leiser, office clerk, 5427 May street—Wire hangers make fine frames for my plants. They're easy to bend into fancy shapes for climbing vines and the handle, after it's straightened out, is just the right size to "plant" in the flower pot to brace fragile plants.

Maurice Mangan, security salesman, 1424 Elmdale avenue—A clothes hanger saved me from calling a locksmith when I locked myself out of the car. I straightened out the wire, put a loop in one end, forced it up thru a hole in the floorboards, and finally hooked the inside door handle.

Gus Demos, stock boy, 1201 Ainslie street—Wire hangers are just the right size and weight for making sling shots. After they're bent into the "Y" shape, a strong rubber band makes a good sling. It's the best weapon we've ever used for killing river rats and harmful birds.

Mrs. Thomas R. Dempsey, waitress, 3512 Huron street—Wire hangers help me teach my children orderly habits. A small cloth sack suspended from a clothes hanger makes a convenient laundry bag. With these and regular hangers in every closet, my children hang up their clothes and dispose of soiled things.

James W. Belanger, building manager, 639 Hillside avenue, Glen Ellyn—The other day I gathered up 200 unusued clothes hangers in my house. I took them to the cleaner's, because there's a shortage of hangers because of the war. That was something new and different for us in the way of war work.

Donald Alport, student, 5143 North Christiana avenue—The fish were too lazy to bite. They just swam around near the surface so we bent a clothes hanger into fish hook shape, lowered it into the water, and yanked it up whenever a fish swam over. It worked better than spearing them.

5 LABOR AGENTS MUST GO TO JAIL IN PIPE BOMBING

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 17 [Special].—The Illinois Supreme court ruled today that five labor union agents must go to prison for the terroristic bombing of an oil pipe line near Decatur in February, 1940.

The high court upheld the Macon county Circuit court conviction of the five men on charges of malicious mischief and remanded the case to the lower court at Decatur for imposition of sentences which may range from 1 to 10 years. The court held that the record fully justified the jury's verdict and that the plaintiffs had a fair trial and were legally convicted.

Among the defendants are two ex-convicts, George Diehl, a former policeman at East St. Louis, and George L. Bruns, former Granite City bartender, who were charged with the actual bombing.

The other convicted men are Harry Meisenhelter, business agent for the Decatur Common Laborers' union and one time president of the Decatur Building Trades' council; Stewart C. Lorton, East St. Louis business agent for the Boilermakers' union, and Edwin Roy, member of the executive board of the Decatur local of the Hod Carriers' union.

Orders Dealers to Label All Used Refrigerators

Dealers in used refrigerators must attach a label to each box showing the make, model, year, ceiling price, and stating whether it has been reconditioned according to OPA standards, Elmo P. Hohman, price officer for the Chicago area, announced yesterday. The announcement was prompted by a recent increase in sales of used refrigerators. Sales of new refrigerators are banned.

OFFICIAL COUNTY RETURNS SHOW 2.7% G.O.P. GAIN

Party Vote Rises Despite Suburban Apathy.

Final official figures of the Cook county results in the state and county election of Nov. 3 were proclaimed last night by County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. Analysis showed the Republican gain in strength in the county was 2.7 per cent, based on comparison with the election in 1938, the most recent comparable year.

In 1938 the Republicans lost the county by 203,785, Richard J. Lyons, the senatorial nominee, receiving 42.7 per cent of the vote. This year Sen. Wayland Brooks lost it by only 112,030 votes and received 45.4 per cent of all the votes cast.

Surmount Country Apathy.

This mark was attained in spite of an extremely low vote cast in the suburbs of Chicago, within Cook county, which are strong Republican territory. The country towns, as they are called politically, cast only 61.77 per cent of their registered vote—by far the lowest on record since permanent registration became effective there in 1936. In 1938 the vote was 78 per cent.

The final figures on the senatorship race were:

	Chicago.	Suburbs.	County total.
McKeough, D...	759,570	91,379	850,949
Holtwick, Pro...	2,692	536	3,228

There were 1,626,782 ballots cast, so that in addition to the 3,228 who voted for Enoch A. Holtwick there were 33,686 voters whose ballots were not recorded for either of the major candidates. Their ballots were defective or they did not mark for the office.

Suburban Drop Is Blow.

With the registration of 408,293, the suburbs cast only 252,208 ballots. This was a jolt to Republican leaders who had counted on at least 300,000 votes there and it is considered an evidence of lack of organization work. In Chicago the vote was 76.76 per cent and that was the lowest since 1930 when it was 74.12. But the suburbs dragged the percentage for the whole country down to 73.98.

But even at that the suburbs brought up Brooks' percentage. In that territory he received 62.3 per cent of the vote in comparison with the 58.42 he received in 1940, and since he received only 42.32 per cent in Chicago, his average was brought up to 45.4 for the county.

The high man on the Republican ticket was Attorney John F. Tyrrell, who benefited from the fact that he was running against Robert E. Crowe for one of the Superior court vacancies. His total vote was 779,120, which was only 12,956 behind Crowe. One other man ran ahead of Brooks. That was Leo Carr, candidate for sheriff, who received 742,630 votes, or 64,295 behind Peter B. Carey, the Democratic winner.

McKeough Sixth on His Slate.

Rep. R. S. McKeough ran in sixth place on the Democratic ticket. The five who beat his total of 850,949 were led by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who reached the high mark of the election—885,572. Next came another candidate, who received the solid Polish vote, Benjamin S. Adamowski, nominee for congressman at large, who received 878,238. Assessor John S. Clark had 864,000 and Probate Judge John F. O'Connell was re-elected with 863,326.

Frank M. Padden, a nominee for a Superior court vacancy, who took his oath of office on Monday before the official count was closed, was the additional man who ran ahead of McKeough. His total was 855,272.

Adamowski also had a bigger plurality than McKeough's 112,030. It was 189,994. But his plurality was beaten by Judge Jarecki, who had a margin of 210,518.

Auto Is Crushed Between Trolley and Wall; 2 Hurt

Roy J. Hoffelt, 28 years old, of 1951 Howe street, and Floyd Perry, 23, of 6962 North Ashland avenue, last night were slightly bruised about the legs when their automobile became wedged between a street car and one wall of a railroad underpass at 15th street and Western avenue. Firemen worked for more than an hour to extricate the men from the car. The accident occurred when Hoffelt, who was driving, attempted to pass the street car. Several trolley passenger were shaken when the street car left the tracks.

2 JUDGES NAMED BY GREEN UPHELD IN COURT RULING

Democrats Induct Pair in Unusual Haste.

Two judicial appointments of Gov. Dwight H. Green which had been blocked by Chicago Democratic judges were upheld yesterday by the Illinois Supreme court. Both appointees were Republicans—Edgar A. Jonas to the Superior court and Patrick B. Prescott Jr., Negro attorney, to the Municipal court.

Observers wondered whether there was any connection between a possible foreknowledge of this decision and the unprecedented haste with which Judge Frank M. Padden of the Municipal court, elected Nov. 3 to the Jonas place, and Robert E. Crowe, elected to the vacancy in the Superior court caused by the death of Judge Robert C. O'Conner, were sworn in.

Calls It a "Convenience."

It was learned late yesterday that Judge Padden and Crowe had slipped into the county clerk's election office on Monday to be given the oath. However, the proclamation declaring them elected was not issued until yesterday afternoon.

"It was a convenience," said County Clerk Michael J. Flynn. "They wanted to leave town. If the proclamation had not shown them winners, the swearing in wouldn't count, of course."

Jonas was appointed by Gov. Green on Nov. 28, 1941, to fill a vacancy resulting from the death of Judge Walter T. Stanton 24 days after Stanton had been reëlected to another six year term. The court held that Jonas should not only serve out the Stanton term expiring Dec. 1, 1941, but should "continue in office until his successor is qualified."

As a result of Judge Padden's hasty action, Jonas will not get to serve a day as the result of the Supreme court ruling. He is entitled to about $15,000 salary, however.

"He might have trouble getting it," County Clerk Flynn said.

Question of Election.

Jonas and Prescott were refused their seats on the ground that the vacancies involved ran for more than one year, and hence had to be filled by special election. The law gives the governor the power to fill vacancies for less than one year.

In the Prescott case the Supreme court held that the Municipal court judges have not authority to "arbitrarily or individually pass upon or negative a commission regularly issued by the governor, valid on its face."

Prescott's appointment is scheduled to run until Dec. 7, when the original term of Judge Edward S. Scheffler, recently elected as chief justice, will expire.

Prescott will collect salary from Dec. 10, 1941, to Dec. 7, 1942, at the rate of $10,000 a year.

AFRICAN VICTORY WILL SPEED MAIL TO MIDDLE EAST

Opening of the Mediterranean sea to allied shipping, expected to result soon with victory in the North African campaign, will cut in half the time required to send mail and parcels to Egypt and the middle east, altho it will come too late to speed Christmas packages, Postmaster Ernest J. Kruetgen said yesterday.

At least three months are required now, Kruetgen said, to send parcels around Africa and thru the Red sea. This can be cut to six weeks when mail is sent thru the Mediterranean.

Altho it is too late to send Christmas packages to service men in Australia, in the far Pacific area and in the middle east, shipments still can be made before the holidays to Great Britain, Eire [Ireland], Portugal, Spain, and Switzerland.

O'BRIEN BAILIFF IN JARECKI COURT FIRED IN INQUIRY

Judge Dismisses His Aid in Philp Petition Probe.

In the midst of a hearing on the allegedly fraudulent nominating petition of John R. Philp, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki learned that his own Psychopathic court bailiff—an employé of Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien—was one of the 21 circulators who are under inquiry. He at once sent for the sheriff, who sent James E. Dolan, his secretary, to court.

"I don't want this fellow in my court—working for me!" said Judge Jarecki. "He has testified that he don't want to tell whom he's working for—or where—because he's afraid he'll incriminate himself. Get him out of my court. I don't want him around—even if the sheriff does!"

All Are Machine Henchmen.

The bailiff is Philip Gerace, 1143 Sedgwick street, one of 13 circulators of the petition. Philp's petition as a candidate for the Republican nomination for probate judge was filed last April. The 21 circulators of the petition, under inquiry by the county judge, all are Kelly-Nash political henchmen in the 42d ward.

Judge Jarecki, Assistant State's Attorney Nathan Kinnally, and John Cashen, attorney for the election commissioners, have stated that only 30 of the 5,200 signatures on the Philp petition were genuine. The court had given the 21 members of the 42d Ward Democratic club—each employed in either a city or county office—until yesterday to decide whether they wished to testify in connection with their activities concerning the petition.

13 Refuse to Testify.

Thirteen placed on the stand during the day refused to testify on the ground that they might incriminate themselves.

"Where are you employed?" Prosecutor Kinnally asked witness after witness. Each refused to tell for fear of incriminating himself.

Finally, after more than half a dozen other witnesses had testified, came Gerace.

"I refuse to tell where I work for fear it will incriminate me," said Gerace.

"Do you know where he works?" the court asked Kinnally.

"Yes, your honor, he is your own bailiff out at the psychopathic hospital, where you frequently sit!"

"What!" said Judge Jarecki. "My own bailiff, you say?" He turned and took a good look at the short dark man in the witness chair. "I'll have to keep better track of the bailiffs they send me."

The hearing will be continued at 10 o'clock this morning.

Starts Prison Term

Mrs. Eleanor Williams peering from police wagon which took her to Dwight reformatory.

Mrs. Eleanor Williams, blonde dice girl, was taken yesterday from the county jail to the women's reformatory at Dwight to serve a sentence of 1 to 14 years for the slaying last August of her sweetheart, Gordon McNaughton.

"I intend to be a model prisoner," said Mrs. Williams. "I plan to study stenography and typing. I also intend to give up being a blonde, and let my hair return to its natural color—brown."

Mrs. Williams expressed hope her prison experience will not harden her because, she said, "I have never been hard." Mrs. Williams shot McNaughton Aug. 6 in the hotel room of another woman. At her trial she contended McNaughton had induced her to leave her husband and child, only to spurn her eventually. The jury found her guilty of manslaughter.

DEC. 7 SET AS MEMORIAL DAY BY GOV. GREEN

Monday, Dec. 7, was proclaimed Pearl Harbor day yesterday by Gov. Dwight H. Green, "not as a holiday but as a time of remembrance." Dec. 7 will be the first anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. As chairman of the Illinois state council of defense, Gov. Green called on local councils of defense in Illinois, as well as all other residents, to observe the day.

The state council will observe the day at a regular monthly meeting Dec. 7 in Chicago and will review Illinois' part in the first year of war over a state-wide radio broadcast. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker [retired], executive director of the council, urged local councils to hold simultaneous meetings and listen to the broadcast.

"Dec. 7 marks the close of the first year of our all-out war for American ideals, American security, American liberty," said Gov. Green in his proclamation. "Let us, this day, remembering the American boys who already have made the supreme sacrifice, freshen our sense of duty and pledge ourselves anew to redouble our efforts in the great tasks that lie ahead."

TRICK FILIBUSTER FOILS ANTI-POLL TAX BILL ACTION

Barkley Tactics Assailed as Southerners Stall.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—Southern senators filibustered today against the anti-poll tax bill in a bitter senate session which saw Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] withdraw his recommendation that Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley be appointed to the Supreme court.

By a series of roll calls and other delaying tactics, including reading and correcting the complete journal of yesterday's proceedings, the southerners for the fourth consecutive legislative day prevented Barkley from bringing formally before the senate the controversial bill which would eliminate payment of a poll tax as a voting prerequisite in eight southern states.

Whether McKellar's sharp criticism of Barkley—his senate seatmate for years—would end in an open challenge to the Kentuckian's leadership in the next congress remained to be seen. McKellar himself declared, "There are no circumstances on earth by which I would become an applicant for Sen. Barkley's place as leader."

Galleries Crowded.

Republican senators and a large crowd of civilians and soldiers in the galleries watched the intraparty row flame hotter by the hour on the Democratic side of the chamber.

McKellar bitterly assailed Barkley for moving Saturday that McKellar and seven other senators be arrested and brought to the chamber in order to obtain a quorum—"which he could not do anything with when he got it."

Barkley sat in his usual front seat while McKellar shouted. The majority leader's face flushed as his critic recounted how he had voted for Barkley when the latter was named majority leader by a one vote margin.

Recommended for Court.

McKellar told, too, that last month he prepared a petition to President Roosevelt, signed by several other senators, recommending Barkley's appointment to the Supreme court to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Associate Justice James F. Byrnes.

Today the opponents spearheaded by Sen. Richard B. Russell [D., Ga.] made use of an assortment of parliamentary delaying tactics to prevent Barkley from moving its consideration during the "morning hour" which ended at 2 p. m. A motion to consider the bill, lodged before that hour, would not have been debatable under the senate's rules. The delay, however, left the motion open to unlimited debate.

Overnight each senator had received a letter from President Philip Murray of the Congress of Industrial Organizations urging speedy enactment of the legislation. Murray said the nation "stands aghast and enraged at the tactics of a small bloc . . . which is seeking to frustrate majority rule in this nation."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

E. E. B. writes: "I was told that a party raising 300 turkeys or 400 chickens was a farmer, hence eligible for deferment. Is there a rule about when a person is entitled to be called this or that type of farmer and is eligible for deferment?"

ANSWER: There is no hard and fast rule. The draft board probably would follow the ordinary understanding of the term as used in the particular community. In California, for example, a ranch is any little 1 or 2 acre piece of ground, but in other states and sections anything under 5,000 acres is a "farm" but not a ranch. A farmer in Illinois with 640 acres producing crops for market might fit a particular draft board's definition of a farmer, but in other states where farms run 3,000, 4,000 acres and up he would be called an "indolent fellow" with a spot of ground," unimportant to the war effort.

S. K. writes: "A business girls club to which I belong would like to send gifts to soldiers for Christmas as a club project. Last year The Tribune sponsored an "Adopt a Yank" campaign, but I have seen nothing in the paper about it this year. How do I go about getting names of soldiers? Can you send me enough?"

ANSWER: We do not have the names, but don't let that deter your splendid, unselfish idea. You can simply make up the packages and address them to the "Special Service Officer" of any camp, post, or shore station, with instructions to distribute the packages Christmas morning to any Yank who does not receive a package.

E. D. asks: "What is the meaning of this new ruling about men who reach their 45th birth date before they are to be inducted? Can they be inducted? If so, why, since the President has already signed the bill?"

ANSWER: We understand that, effective Friday, Nov. 13, all men who have reached their 45th birthday on the date of their scheduled induction may request relief from service.

C. A. I. asks: "Can you give me a summary of the qualifications for a WAAC, where one applies, and is a woman excluded if her husband is in service?"

ANSWER: The applicant must be a citizen between the ages of 21 and 45, excellent character, pass the intelligence test, present proof of birth or citizenship, must be between 5 and 6 feet tall with a minimum weight of 114 pounds and a maximum of 171, must present satisfactory evidence of health [a statement from a physician], together with character references from two responsible business or professional people in the applicant's own community. If the applicant is qualifying for a specialist's rating she must submit with her application statements from employers or others testifying as to her skill. The WAACs welcome recruits who have husbands or sons in service. Contact the nearest army recruiting office. If a recruiting office is not convenient send a self-addressed envelope and a booklet telling all about the WAACs will be mailed to you.

ROGER FAHERTY SAYS HE'D ENTER MAYORAL RACE

Only one of the men so far mentioned as mayoral candidates who might smash the Kelly-Nash machine, yesterday would say he would accept the nomination if it were tendered him by Republican leaders discussing the subject in Florida. This was Roger Faherty, 53 years old, attorney and son of Michael J. Faherty, former president of the board of local improvements.

"No one has approached me on the subject," Faherty said. "I would love it, however, and certainly will run if I'm asked."

Among those who either would not comment or who expressly said they were not candidates are Judges John A. Sbarbaro and Julius H. Miner; John F. Tyrrell, attorney for the Republican county central committee; Elmer J. Schnackenberg, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives; and George B. McKibben, state director of finance. State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and Sheldon Clark, sportsman, earlier had refused to comment.

COMMITTEES TO PICK CANDIDATE, DEMPSEY SAYS

Plan Usual Procedure in Mayoral Selection.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Daytona Beach, Fla., Nov. 17.—A candidate to be indorsed for mayor of Chicago will be picked freely and openly by the Republican city committee in accordance with regular party procedure, John T. Dempsey, chairman of the Republican city and county organizations, said today.

Dempsey, who is vacationing here with Sen. Wayland Brooks, Gov. Dwight H. Green, and State Tax Commissioner Richard J. Lyons, made this announcement to emphasize that a fusion campaign to break the power of the Kelly-Nash machine will become possible only with the full approval of the city committee and its subcommittee on candidates.

Have Made No Decisions.

The four Republican leaders have been informally discussing politics and casually exploring campaign personalities and possibilities, including fusion, but have refrained from slate-making or even from preliminary decisions.

Into the fusion talk have crept the names of such "free" Democrats as State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney and County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

"In the last campaign the county central committee authorized me to appoint a subcommittee on candidates," Dempsey said. "I did so and the committee was representative. It held sessions for a month interviewing and considering candidates. Eventually its recommendations were submitted to the entire committee, which approved its report in full. It was a harmony ticket and the primary voters nominated the recommended candidates.

Committee to Be Guide.

"This time the city committee will be the guide. I presume I will be asked by the committee to name a subcommittee on candidates for mayor, city clerk, and city treasurer. If so, this committee will do like the other did. A hearing will be given to any and all candidates, prospects or aspirants. A report will be made back to the full committee of the 50 ward committeemen.

"Whoever is recommended I am sure will be loyally supported. The Republicans of Chicago now are united. I believe every one of the 50 committeemen will back whoever is recommended. And I am sure the voters again will show their confidence in the choice of the party organization."

HUNGER PUTS U. S. SOLDIER ON TRAIL OF $2,000 REWARD

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP).—Pvt. Lee Clary of Lulling, Tex., who has been saving $40 a month out of his pay to buy a farm after the war, is $1,600 richer—but not as a result of his savings.

Clary received a $2,000 reward for finding a $25,000 brooch. He gave Patricia Brown $400 for helping locate the owner, Mrs. Jack Lysaght, wife of the international tennis player. The rest he sent home.

Mrs. Lysaght lost the brooch on Sept. 22. Clary found it on his way to the American Red Cross club for a snack.

SHARPEN KNIVES TO LOP COUNTY'S BUDGET BURDENS

Circuit Judges to Hold Hearing on Saturday.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Consideration of the 1943 budget of Cook county, which has been going into the red with its appropriations in recent years, will begin in earnest on Saturday. A committee representing the Circuit court judges will hear estimates by county fee offices on their requirements for employés.

County officials, as well as the judges' committee, are aware of the seriousness of the financial situation, and several of them outlined yesterday specific methods by which certain expenditures could be reduced greatly.

Danger of Immense Deficit.

The arithmetic of the problem budget is simple: If the county spends as much in 1943 as it did in 1942, it will have a deficit of about eight millions at the end of next year. The figures are taken from the preliminary budget estimate made up by Michael J. Flynn, county controler; Richard J. Daley, deputy controler, and Lee J. Howard, county auditor.

The estimate showed that revenues in prospect in 1943 are $17,898,000, and that the amount needed to continue spending at the 1942 rate is about $20,500,000. There already is a deficit of $5,144,000.

Judges Must Set Number.

The Circuit court committee is composed of Judges Julius Miner, John Prystalski, and Denis J. Normoyle. Under a somewhat archaic state constitution, they must set the number of employés in each of the 13 fee offices [those which collect money from the public]; the county board must fix and pay the salaries of these workers, who now number about 2,000. The county board establishes both personnel and salary for 19 other offices with 2,300 employés.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, sent out letters two weeks ago urging all department heads to cut sharply into their budgetary requests in this "retrenchment period."

Yesterday Smith said that there were factors favorable to saving.

Costs Cut at County Hospital.

"The county hospital this year is operating at a normal," he said. "In the two previous years it was giving more than rated capacity service. The saving was $80,000. Another $100,000 was saved on nurses' training. The cost this year will probably be 20 per cent below the 1942 budget figure."

Joseph L. Moss, director of the county welfare bureau, said free calls by doctors on indigent sick persons in 1941 cost the county $135,000; in 1942 the figure will be $100,000.

Persons taken to county institutions after accidents, Moss added, were often able to collect damages from insurance companies and pay for their treatment; for years this source gave the county only about $10,000 annually; in 1941 it had risen to $45,000 and this year the figure may be $70,000.

Cost of Blind a Problem.

"The biggest saving," he continued, "could be made by transferring the cost of helping the blind in the county to the state and federal governments. I shall urge this upon the next session of the legislature."

The state already is coöperating with the county in relief for the blind. If the United States takes over from the county the latter will save $450,000 a year, Moss estimated.

Flynn, also clerk of the County court and county clerk, said he would request the judges' committee to cut his force 20 per cent.

There are, however, possibilities that may work in the other direction. Some unions are asking larger pay in county institutions, and supply costs are on the upward trend.

INVALIDATE LAW BANNING NAME OF CO-RESPONDENT

The Illinois Supreme court in Springfield yesterday held unconstitutional the state law prohibiting the naming of co-respondents in suits for divorce, annulment, separate maintenance or child custody.

The court affirmed a decision of Judge Charles S. Dougherty in the Chicago Municipal court, which quashed a charge of violating the law brought against Mrs. Leah Mahumed, 5343 Kenmore avenue, as a result of a separate maintenance suit she filed against her husband, Herbert Mahumed.

The information filed against Mrs. Mahumed said she "unlawfully and maliciously" named Miss Dorothy Tourssen as co-respondent in the suit filed Sept. 4, 1941, in Circuit court.

The Supreme court held the statute was void because its purpose was not properly set forth in the title of the act, and thus violated that section of the Illinois constitution providing that no act of the legislature "shall embrace more than one subject, which shall be expressed in the title."

3 Indicted as Aids of Carol; 'Lies!' Cries Exiled King

Foe of Nazis, He Says

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17 (AP).—Former King Carol of Rumania, named today as the man who gave $13,000 to two Rumanian priests and an editor indicted for espionage, said the charges against the trio "surpass my understanding."

He indicated that the three, indicted by a Detroit federal grand jury, were members of the Free Rumanian organization which he heads, altho he did not say so directly.

He said the movement has existed for nearly two years and "never has ceased to make the greatest effort in sustaining the cause of the united nations." He said that to accuse such a movement of being the agent of an enemy government "is not only an outright lie but also completely ridiculous."

Brands Interests Low Ones.

Carol said the accusations against the Detroit men are based on the lowest of intrigues and on interests which are completely different from those of the united nations." The exiled king dictated his statement to reporters at his home in Coyoacan.

Carol said that all his efforts and all those of the Free Rumanian movement "are aimed at sustaining and helping the objectives of the united nations and at affirming that the real Rumania is heart and soul with the united nations."

Declaring that "the truth will emerge," he said: "With all these blows my faith has not failed. I am convinced that the well known sentiment of justice of the United States will prevail."

Calls Self Foe of Nazis.

He called himself "one of the greatest enemies of Naziism" and said his aims are "completely unselfish."

"I wish justice to be done," he said, "and that my unhappy people will be able to react as their hearts urge, at the side of those who fight for justice, liberty, and democracy."

He said he had been "continually pursued by Nazi hatred" and that he had hoped that on this continent he would be considered "what I really am—an enemy of Naziism."

Accused of Espionage

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 17 (AP).—Father Glighaerie Moraru, a priest of the Rumanian Orthodox church, and another priest and an editor listed as his agents were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of violating the espionage act and failing to register as foreign agents.

Moraru, identified in the indictment as leader of a free Rumanian movement in North America, was said by federal investigators to have received $13,000 from former King Carol of Rumania and to have been involved in efforts to obtain permission for Carol and his companion, Mme. Lupescu, to enter this country from Mexico.

Investigators said that if Carol could gain recognition as the head of a government in exile his impounded funds in this country and official Rumanian gold stores here could be freed.

Separate from Davila Group.

Federal officials said Moraru's movement had no connection with a free Rumanian movement headed by Charles Davila, former Rumanian minister to the United States who resigned when his country gave indications of becoming Fascist.

Moraru and Father Stephan Opreanu, the other priest who was indicted, pleaded innocent when arraigned before Federal Judge Frank A. Picard this afternoon and bond was set at $10,000 each. The editor indicted is George Zamfir, a naturalized American citizen who has edited the Free Rumanian.

All three had been living in the Detroit area. Moraru is a naturalized Canadian citizen and Opreanu is a Rumanian national.

Detained as Enemy Alien.

The indictment charged that Moraru started his free Rumanian movement at Montreal, Que., in March, 1941, and continued his activities until he was detained Oct. 25 as an enemy alien.

Agents of the federal bureau of investigation said the three had been under surveillance for two years and that their activities were largely political, altho with a definite subversive character.

STRIKE OF 2,000 AT STEEL PLANT WILL END TODAY

Approximately 2,000 persons will go back to work at the National Malleable and Steel Castings company plant, 1400 Laramie avenue, Cicero, starting with the 7 o'clock shift this morning, thus ending a walkout that began Monday night when workers opposed a report of a referee for the War Labor Board over a wage increase.

Paul Russo, assistant regional director of Chicago for the UAW union, CIO, declared that the walkout was "unauthorized and the work of a small group of irresponsible persons exploiting the grievances of employés."

In a conference with the plant management yesterday afternoon the union committee agreed to return to work this morning. Russo said the international office of the union would conduct an investigation of causes leading to the stoppage and that adequate measures would be taken to assure uninterrupted production at the plant.

Joseph Houze, general manager of the plant, said the walkout had been started by about 400 workers but that others joined when they were informed the management could not guarantee them protection.

CLOSE 343 BARS FOR FAILING TO OBTAIN LICENSE

Three hundred forty-three Chicago taverns closed voluntarily or had been closed by police last night after the 4:30 p. m. deadline for renewal of licenses had passed. Police said some of these probably will reopen after they obtain licenses for the current six month period.

When the office of City Collector Louis Rixmann closed, 7,799 applications for renewals had been filed, compared with 8,347 issued during the license period ended Oct. 31.

FIND BABY DEAD IN CRIB.

Harvey Donald Brown, 8 week old son of Edward Brown, a postal clerk at Fort Sheridan, was found dead in his crib at the Brown home at 648 Michigan avenue, Highland Park, yesterday.

PHONE, HARVESTER COMPANIES EACH GIVE $50,000 TO AID FUND

Two $50,000 gifts, by the Illinois Bell Telephone company and the International Harvester company, were announced yesterday by Charles Y. Freeman, chairman of the Chicago Community Fund campaign. The donations, Freeman said, were from the companies and do not include contributions by employés.

Leaders in the campaign's industrial and women's divisions are to report at a meeting in the Standard club tomorrow contributions received during the last week.

The fund still is approximately $1,000,000 short of the $3,750,000 goal workers hope to reach by Thanksgiving day.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—Have you ever had a desire to do your own dental work? Or have you, for instance, ever longed to shove a big gob of wax in your mouth, clamp down on it, then mail it off somewhere and have a set of false teeth made from it?

Well, you won't be able to do that kind of homework any more without becoming liable to prosecution if measures now pending in congress are enacted into law.

These bills really have teeth in them. The house already has passed one outlawing the mail-order false teeth business in the 48 states and the territories. And a senate proposal would make it a crime to send dental crockery thru the mails.

Secret Hearings on Bill.

For more than a week, behind doors so tightly closed you couldn't get a piece of dental floss between them, the senate interstate commerce committee has been holding secret hearings on its bill to save the nation's mouths.

There was no indication of an intent to save the mouths for political oratory. The measure, rather, was fraught with wartime significance, for its proponents painted horror pictures of what mail-order molars are doing to the national health in these perilous times, to say nothing of the hideous distortion of once comely faces.

Gritting his teeth in bitterness, Rep. Philip A. Traynor [D., Del.], sponsor of the house bill—and, incidentally, a former dentist—explained that the practice of poking wax around the gums and buying a mouthful of tusks "sight unseen" is distressingly prevalent.

Many Dissatisfied Customers.

Thousands upon thousands of Americans, he said, have bought a new set of food choppers thru the mails and have learned it is no laughing matter, most of them being afraid to open their mouths to laugh. Some of the teeth, he added, would have fit better in the mouth of a horse.

"Mail order teeth are a grave menace to the health of the people," he declared. "Thousands of Americans who have bought these teeth are literally starving to death because they can't eat properly."

$600 DAMAGE IN FIRE.

Fire yesterday caused an estimated $600 damage to the home of Mrs. Julia Lucas, 10111 South Hoyne avenue. Defective wiring was blamed.

Chicago, Illinois

Gentlemen:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Chicago Tribune and the Federal Life Insurance Company for their generous and prompt remittance.

My husband carried this policy and was killed in an automobile accident recently. When the death was reported and the necessary forms filled out, the Federal Life Insurance Company promptly delivered a check for more than twice the expected amount, and there were no questions or red tape connected with it.

I sincerely hope that this letter will be printed so that folks will know that this is a really wonderful policy.

Sincerely,
Mary E. Lang

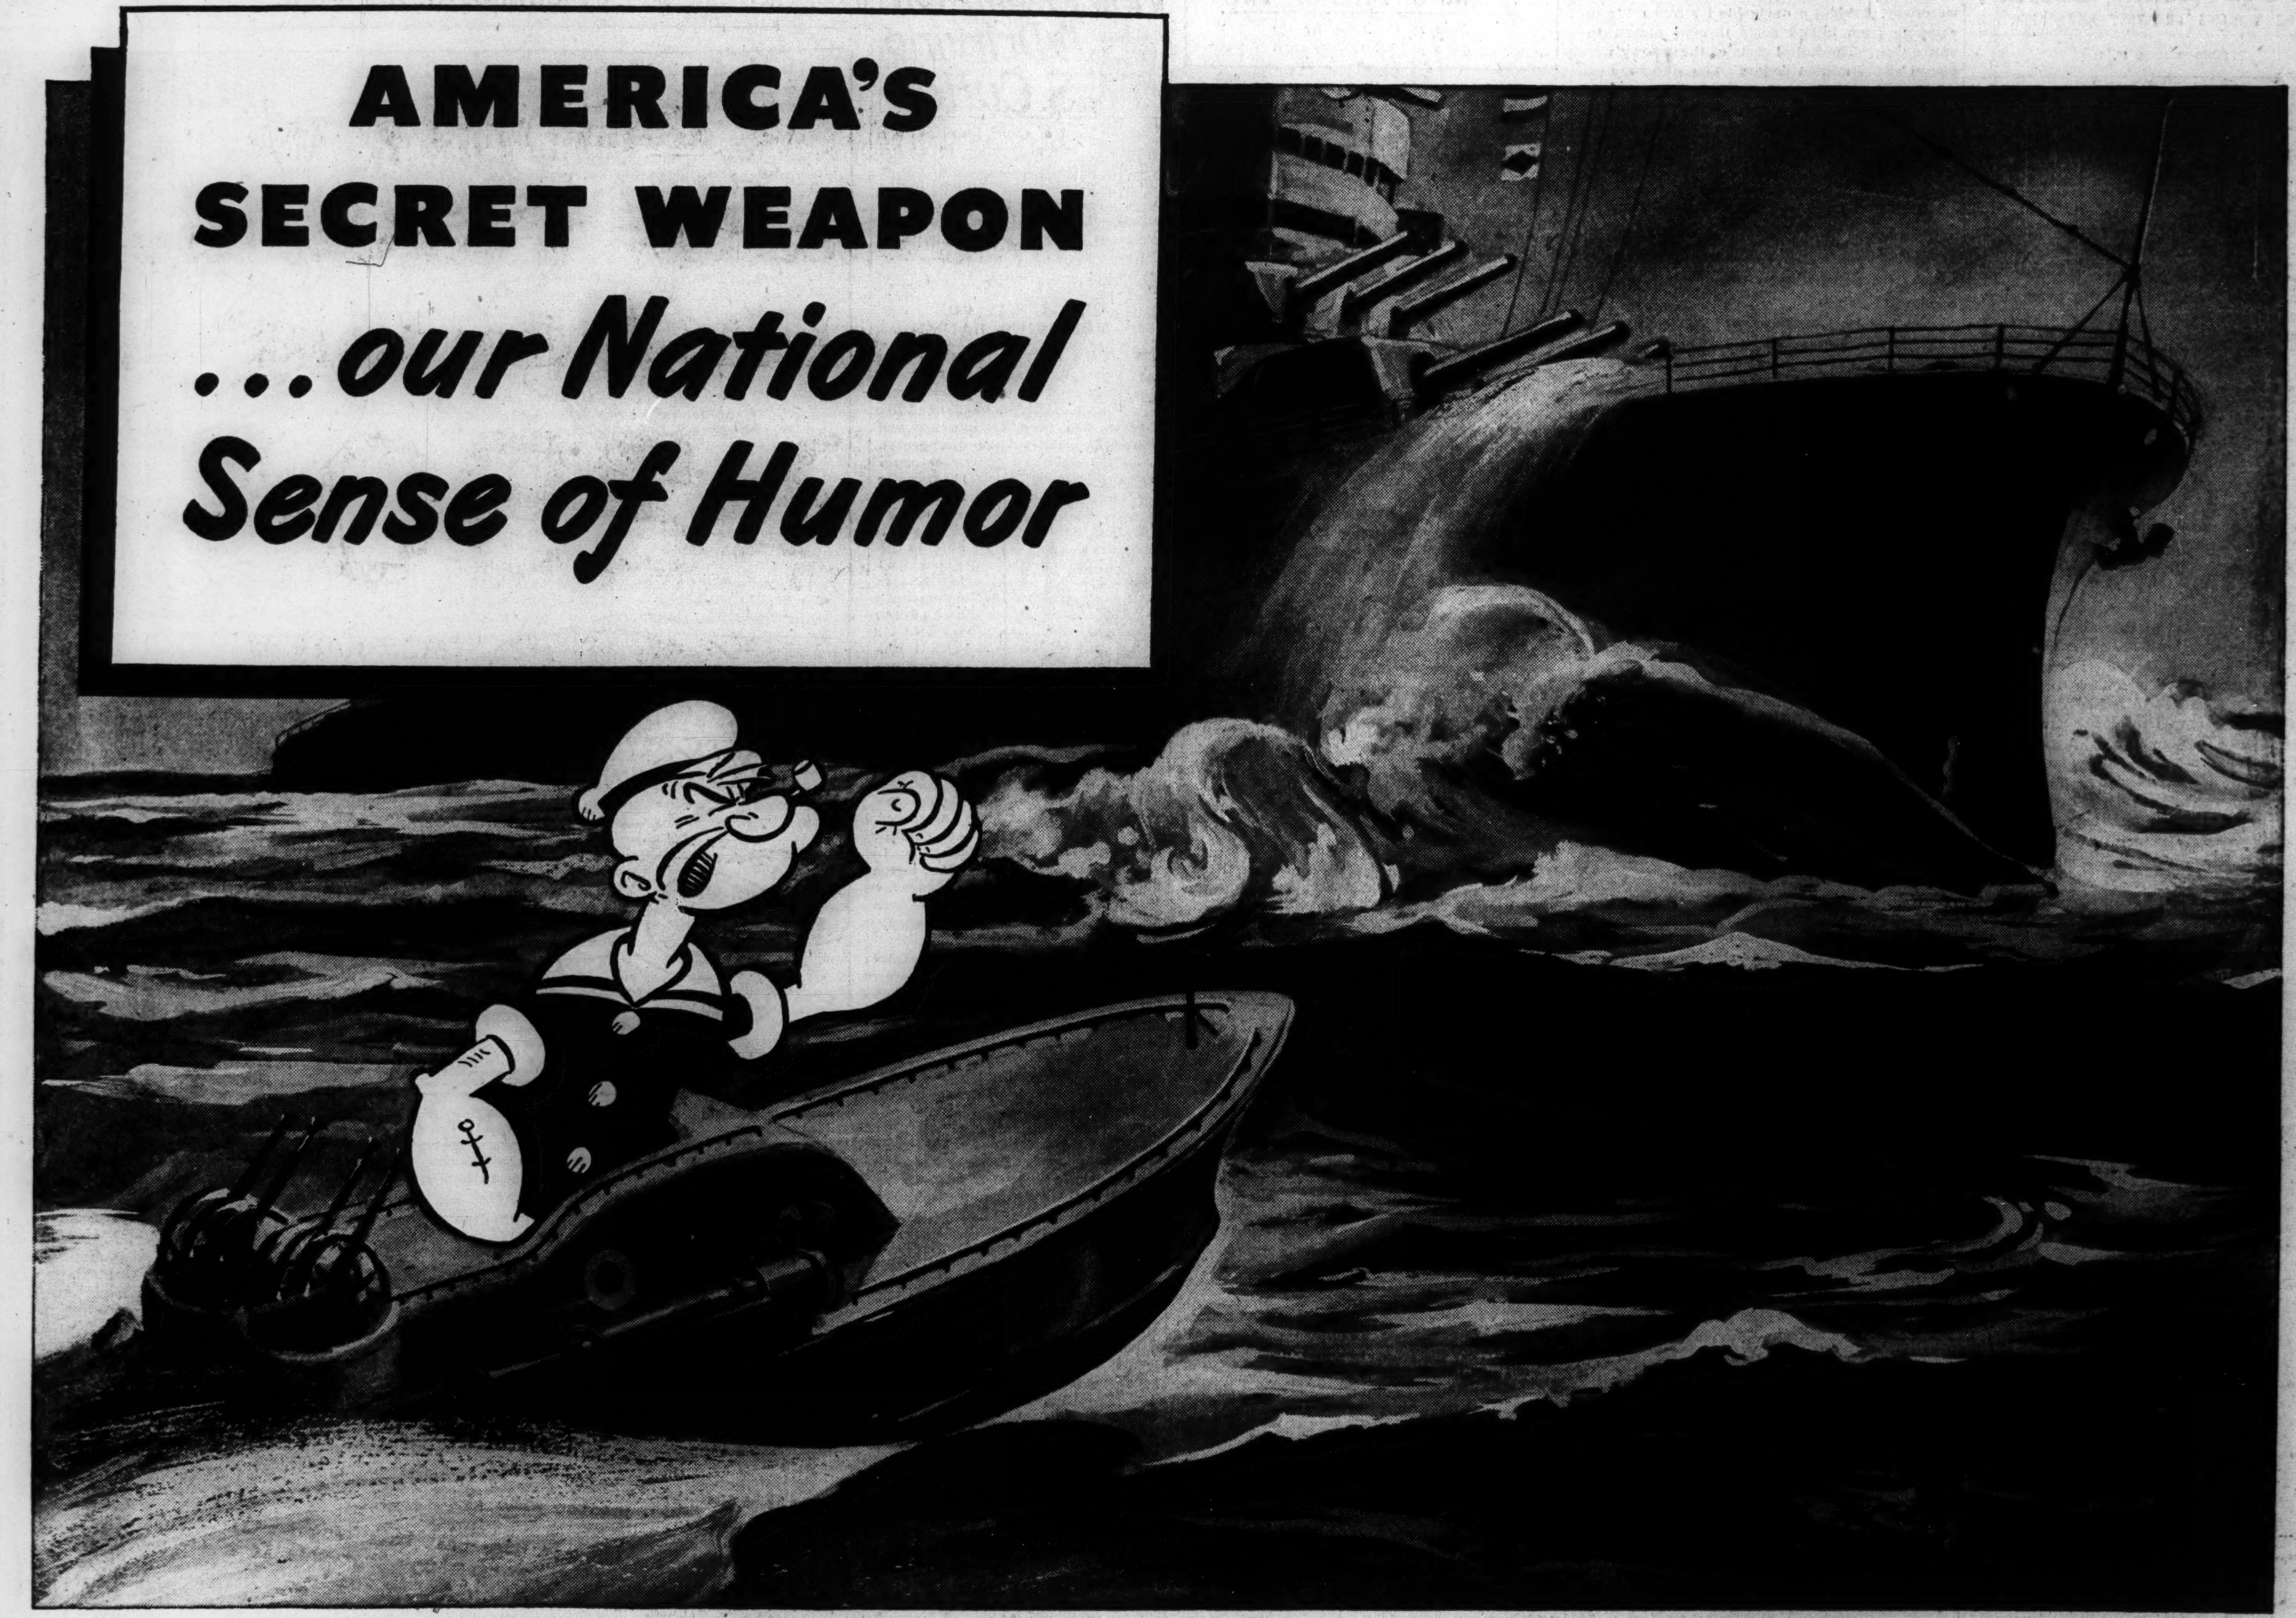
AMERICA'S SECRET WEAPON ...our National Sense of Humor



POPEYE ALWAYS "MOWS 'EM DOWN"

AMERICA'S innate sense of humor is the secret weapon Hitler fears most today. Desperately his stooge, Herr Goebbels, has attempted to imitate it by proclaiming a Laughter Week—a week during which all true Aryans "must be cheerful, must laugh, must tell funny stories."

Fortunately, Americans need no Act of Congress to make them smile. Laughter is the American birthright —a wholesome habit formed in early childhood.

For more than 40 years, Puck-The Comic Weekly has been the nation's greatest source of humor. Puck has played a significant role in the moulding of American character.

Distributed to more than six million families with 15 great Sunday newspapers from coast to coast, Puck today is a keystone of national morale. Just as Alice in Wonderland stepped through the mirror, so do these more than six million families—men, women and children—once a week, step into a world of fantasy through the colorful pages of Puck-The Comic Weekly.

No. 1 in the Army Camps

With the nation working as never before, Puck provides a necessary "breathing spell"—priceless moments of entertainment to millions on the home front. And in addition, the "comics," by popular vote, have proved to be the No. 1 reading matter among the boys in the service.

Ask any passerby on any street corner in America: "Ever hear of Jiggs and Maggie?" and watch the twinkle in their eyes. Sure, they've heard of Popeye, too, and Blondie and Barney Google and Tillie the Toiler and Flash Gordon, Skippy, The Katzenjammers, Tippie, Aladdin, Jr., and all the favorite characters that make up Puck's great ALL STAR CAST.

There's another group that knows Puck intimately—a sophisticated group of the nation's leading advertisers. Ask any one of dozens of shrewd media-minded firms who have used PUCK'S pages to popularize their products and you'll get the same answer. It boils down to this:

They chose Puck for three reasons:

1. It's the only national comic weekly.
2. It blankets the great industrial areas which today, as always, are the most prosperous markets in the U.S.A.
3. It's read more thoroughly by more people than any other publication of its kind in the world.

Proof of the advertisers' confidence in Puck-The Comic Weekly is evidenced by a gain in billing of 8% for the 11 months of 1942 over the corresponding period of a year ago!

The entire and absolute freedom of the press is essential to the preservation of government on the basis of a free constitution. . . . Daniel Webster

THE AMERICAN CENTURY.

The remnants of the Japanese fleet that sought to drive us out of the Solomons have fled to the northward, leaving our navy in possession of the zone of battle and our land forces in control of their Guadalcanal positions. The Japanese naval losses appear to have been vastly greater than ours.

The American people await the details of the fighting with impatience. From present accounts it seems probable that if there was any marked advantage at the start in the size of the fleets engaged the Japanese had it. What they lacked was air power for scouting and striking. It may be that the Japanese are beginning to run short of planes. The reference to motor torpedo boats in our fleet suggests that they may have been of great importance in the night fighting.

But this is speculation. What we know is that a great victory has been won, an all-American victory of vast scope. The scene of battle is many thousands of miles from our shores and perhaps that explains the slowness with which the American people have appreciated the importance of the engagement. In Australia the meaning of this second battle of the Solomons will be grasped at once. Likewise the lesson will not be lost upon the Japanese, once they learn the truth of what happened to their armada.

On Nov. 15, before the outcome was known, Australia's naval minister, Mr. Makin, said that on the outcome of the Solomons naval battle depended the success of the Japanese plan for the invasion of Australia. His anxiety was intense. "The Solomons are the screen between the enemy and Australia," he said, "and if the Japanese should break thru the allied naval cordon they certainly will attack Australia."

What the battle meant for Japan was stated by the newspaper Asahi Shimbun, which, no doubt, presented the official view. The outcome, it was said, "would decisively influence the whole war situation."

That is to say, the American navy, fighting in the Solomons, and the American army and marines in Guadalcanal, have saved Australia from invasion. They have done so without material assistance from any other nation. Except for the protection accorded by our soldiers and sailors Australia would today be wide open and in all probability the attack would long since have been launched.

When Singapore fell the Australians awoke to the realization that Britain, the nominal guardian of Australia, was no longer a reliance. The only hope lay in America, and, as we know, that hope was not misplaced. Inevitably the Australians will regard the new relationship as the cornerstone of their international policy for the indefinite future.

New Zealand, perhaps South Africa, and certainly all of the Americas, including Canada, are dependent upon us just as Australia is. Indeed, the military power of the United States, which is now beginning to make itself manifest in many parts of the world, is destined to be the determining factor in the organization of the post-war world. We have become the principal partner in the united nations; those Americans who have felt a sense of inferiority to Europe and particularly to Britain are living in the past. This is the American century.

BREAKING THE ICE.

An ice breaker similar to those used on the canals of Holland will be put into service next month to keep the Illinois waterway open thru the winter. That is all to the good. Now what somebody will have to figure out is how to persuade the federal government to let enough water into the waterway so that it will ever ice over.

The waterway's project depth of nine feet is rarely attained because the Supreme court has limited the volume of water that can be diverted into the waterway to 1,500 second feet. With that flow the channel is barely navigable at several points. Several attempts have been made since the war began to obtain permission for an increased diversion from Lake Michigan, but the Washington burocrats have pursued the usual policy of stalling. As a result, the potentialities of the waterway are not being realized.

The neglect of this essential marine artery is the more pronounced because there is no reason now for denying a substantial increase in the water let in from the lake. Lake Michigan's present level is dangerously high, and before the winter is out the lakes may burst their bounds along wide sections of the shoreline. Nevertheless, Washington persists in its "wait and see" policy.

There are many persuasive reasons why the government should assent to increased diversion. The first is that the Illinois waterway is of proved usefulness to the war effort. It is being used every day to carry war freight and war vessels built on the lakes are constantly passing thru it on their way to the gulf. The navy department has recognized its utility by spending more than 2 million dollars to lift or move 17 fixed bridges so that waterway traffic may move unimpeded.

Government officials concede that the extra power that could be generated at Lockport with an increased flow would release 20,000 to 30,000 carloadings of coal which will otherwise have to be consigned to the Chicago area when there is an admitted shortage of freight cars thruout the nation. Also relevant is the consideration of public health. There was such a negligible intake of water close inshore during the summer months that wastes threatened an epidemic of intestinal diseases thru bacteria in the water supply. The amount of chlorination necessary equaled that used in Britain after water mains were wrecked by Nazi bombers.

The Illinois waterway is practically a gift to the nation from the people of Chicago and the state, whose taxes paid for it. Little federal money ever went into it. But it just isn't popular with Washington, where such grandiose projects as the St. Lawrence seaway, which probably could never have been completed until the war was over, have been regarded with high favor.

Mr. Roosevelt reluctantly deferred work on the seaway, altho the St. Lawrence is ice locked five months of the year. In contrast, the Illinois waterway provides a navigable ice free route for shipping from inland ports thruout almost the entire year. The initial costs of the seaway were placed at 277 million dollars. The waterway can be made to provide maximum usefulness right now without additional investment. All it requires is the release of water which may soon be lapping over into the basements of dwellers in lake states.

MR. BYRNES SOUNDS OFF.

To the back fence gossip about incipient shortages of this and that, which has resulted in clearing the shelves of stores of many kinds of goods, Economic Stabilization Administrator James F. Byrnes made his contribution in a speech broadcast Monday night. He said that there would have to be "rationing of many more things." And, of course, there will be if Mr. Byrnes, Leon Henderson, or others keep on insisting that there won't be enough to go around.

Last year, the day after it was announced that aluminum would be reserved to fly in and there would be none to cook in, the kitchenware departments in the stores were swamped. In similar circumstances there have been runs on stockings, coffee, automobiles, bed sheets, raisins, chocolate, and pants with cuffs—to mention a few items which come readily to mind.

It isn't much of a trick for Washington to create a shortage in consumer goods. All officials have to do is to talk about it. People have more spending money than they ever had before and can be scared into using it. Their spending of the extra money to stock up produces shortages of goods of which there would be plenty if buying were normal. By talking shortages, public officials accelerate developments which they profess to fear. They produce the need for the action, which they say they are reluctant to take.

The fact that Mr. Byrnes in his first speech in his new job did not specify the goods which were going to be rationed can only result in extending the hysteria. When buyers are told that their ability to buy many things in the future is going to be restricted, they proceed to lay in supplies of anything that can be stored. If we don't have a buyers' panic it isn't Byrnes' fault.

Mr. Byrnes deprecated the criticism which he and the President had received because of his order, countersigned by the President, limiting the salaries to $25,000, after certain deductions. He neglected to take notice of the fact that the objection arose from the fact that he and the President had by proclamation established a regulation which both houses of congress had declined to authorize. He minimized the importance of the salary limitation since it affected only 3,000 persons. This is strange doctrine from a man who has been a member of the Supreme Court of the United States, a body which is constituted to see that wrongs are righted even when but a single individual is affected. Just how many would there have to be to merit fair consideration by Director of Economic Stabilization Byrnes?

The $25,000 mark was arbitrarily set. If he can limit salaries to that figure he can put a ceiling at $5,000, and say that only 600 thousand people are affected. For if 3,000 are too few to take notice of, the only logical stopping place is communism, in which all incomes are equal. The Russians tried that for a while, until their economy broke down. We appear to be headed in the same direction.

GENERALS CAN'T MAKE LAWS.

James A. Fee, United States district judge sitting in Portland, Ore., has held that the military may not impose regulations on the civilian population in the absence of martial law and the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus.

"The congress of the United States is in session and consists of the elected representatives of the people," his opinion states. "To this body, alone, is committed the ordinary power of passing laws which govern the conduct of the citizen, even in time of war."

Judge Fee's ruling follows the great tradition of the American courts in protecting citizens against arbitrary actions of government, even in time of war. He is in the footsteps of Justice David Davis who, speaking for the court in ex parte Milligan, declared that a military court may not try a civilian when the civil courts are available for such a prosecution.

Judge Fee's opinion will have the effect of voiding the curfew imposed by the army on the west coast so far as it applies to American citizens of Japanese descent. There is statutory authority for detaining enemy aliens, or restricting their movements.

The case before the court was that of Minoru Yasui, the American born son of Japanese aliens, who walked into a Portland police station and dared the police to jail him for violating the curfew order promulgated by Lieut. Gen. De Witt, head of the western defense command. The police, as usual, obliged.

Now Judge Fee says they did rightly. Yasui had been an employé of the Japanese propaganda ministry. The court found that by taking such employment he chose allegiance to the Japanese emperor and became a Japanese citizen despite his American birth.

It has always been recognized that a native born American forfeited citizenship if he swore allegiance to another sovereignty. Judge Fee says the forfeiture may take the form of a forswearing of allegiance, but it also may be inferred from the performance of any service for an alien sovereignty involving a breach of American allegiance, even tho that breach is not formally acknowledged.

Where does that leave Earl Browder, native of Kansas, but agent of Russian policy in the United States?

ANOTHER MEANEY APPOINTMENT?

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

How is the President going to fill the vacancy created on the federal bench in Illinois by the death of Judge Charles E. Woodward? The question comes up again, now that Mr. Roosevelt's appointment of Boss Hague's tool, Thomas F. Meaney, has brought such swift and certain retribution for Sen. Smathers of New Jersey, one of the administration's sure supporters in congress.

It was reported several months ago that a selection in the Meaney pattern was being considered—that is an appointee from the ranks of the Kelly-Nash machine's faithful. If the department of justice and the President did not know before the defeat of Sen. Smathers what the people think of such political invasions of the bench, they know full well now.

Illinois should keep an eye on its vacant judgeship; it has every right to a distinguished choice.

HOLD THAT ARCHIPELAGO!

So many naval battles have been fought around the Solomon Islands of late that the Muse of History is bewildered about the proper names for them. Perhaps the latest might be called the Defeat of the Japanese Armada. The Japanese loss of lives, from the sinkings of troop transports, may exceed the losses of the Spanish Armada. Indeed, the total of drowned Nipponese may run higher than in any naval battle in history.

* * *

Some committee or foundation, which does not reveal its title, has issued a bit of propaganda against "The Star-Spangled Banner" and in favor of an official return to "America." This column intends to remain on the sidelines of such arguments for the duration.

* * *

The question to be debated and clarified, in the case of "The Star-Spangled Banner" vs. "America," is the definition and status of a national "anthem." Should a song for patriotic occasions, when citizens are in a martial fervor, be of the anthem type? "The Marseillaise," perhaps the most stirring national song, is certainly not an anthem.

* * *

So far as the names of ships are concerned, the war in the Pacific is the most anonymous in history. This column is not satisfied with "a battleship of the Kongo class"; it wants to know the exact name, in order to have the pleasure of scratching her off the list. Then, too, even if known, the names of Japanese warships are hard to remember.

* * *

If we didn't have a thousand other things to do, we would take a course in Japanese and buy a copy of "Jane's Fighting Ships" [20 smackers], thus establishing our own intelligence department. As matters stand, we can only praise the Lord and call for Stanley Johnston.

LINEBOOK SONG.

The warp of dreams and the woof of laughter;
Visions of faith born in nights of despair;
Hopes of the past and long years hereafter;
And swashbuckling tunes of devil-may-care.
Rhymes from the hearts of sad, lonely singers;
Quips from gay, joyful lips, careless and free.
Tears of lost loves (how memory lingers),
Sonnets of comfort, warm in rich meaning;
Ballads that tell of bright victories won.
Nuggets of knowledge, worthy the gleaning;
All these, my friends, are the ingredients
That make the new Linebook worth 15 cents!

Did You Ever Bet on a White Horse?

Linemaster: The inference contained in your statement of Nov. 14 that white horses are never race horses is essentially accurate; to say "nobody ever saw a white race horse" is to be in error. I herewith cite evidence to the contrary.

In the permanent collection of the Art Institute of Chicago there is a painting which bears the title, "Death on a White Horse." I hazily recall the story of this work of art.

A thriftless cook, finding only $5 between himself and abject poverty, went to a race in which one of the entries was listed "a white horse." He bet the $5 on this horse, which failed to win. The cook became despondent and committed suicide. The incident, reported in a newspaper, supplied an artist with inspiration.

Now as to the scientific reason why white horses are not employed as race horses: Examination of the Mendelian laws of heredity shows that white is a recessive characteristic in animals, and that dark colors are dominant. The whites verge into albino types, and albinos are never the best physical specimens. Writer Coy.

VALUES VARY.

To me,
Contentment used to mean
A lot of things—
Like red fox jackets, travel,
And a pair of kings;
Like Guatemala moonlight,
Sharp and white,
Sequining the onyx of the night.
O,
Crazy things like wine
At Chez Paree,
Or stopping at the Empire Room
For tea.
Like penthouse parties
Far too mad and gay,
With breasts of guinea hens
And orange frappé.
I used to think contentment meant
A yacht or two—
But now
I find contentment is
Our little Pam . . .
And you! B. J. K.

Hint to Hedge Apple Collectors.

Linemaster: Do you want to see some Osage orange trees, right in Chicago on a main-traveled thorofare? Try Addison street and Tripp avenue, northwest corner, close to the Carl Schurz High school: eight large trees. A block east, at the northwest corner of Addison and Keeler avenue, there are 12 trees, some of them still bearing fruit. Just across the street, in the parkway, within 150 feet of St. Viator's church there is another fine specimen.

All of these trees are from 50 to 65 years old. They were originally a part of a hedge bordering a farm. Irving Parker.

DIATHERMY FOR REMOVING HAIR.

FOR the most part, women have relied upon electrolysis for the removal of superfluous hair. This plan, in the hands of skilled experts, has been highly approved. Unsightly bristles have disappeared, never to return, as a rule. This procedure is preferable to periodical tweezing or employing a hair pulling plaster which sometimes causes infection as tiny open wounds may be created in this manner.

Thru the application of the galvanic current the follicle is destroyed. Occasionally, of course, a careless operator reverses the electrodes. In consequence, a tiny metallic tattoo dot is deposited in the epidermis. While various measures have been devised to avoid this untoward result, only alertness will suffice.

It is not uncommon to use several needles at a time, changing one after another as the desired end is accomplished. The strength of the charge must be gauged accurately so that only the hair root will be affected—without the possibility of scar formation.

The problem of a safer and more foolproof technique has been discussed on many occasions. More than 30 years ago the suggestion was made that the high frequency heating current [diathermy] could be used. This was effective for superficial lesions. Improvement, however, has come with more precise equipment.

Apparently the advantage lies in the fact that this type of electrocoagulation is more rapid and is equally satisfactory when compared with electrolysis. The root is not touched by the needle as a fair sized area is "cooked." Furthermore, there are no blemishes on the surface. In addition, there are fewer recurrences.

Finally, only one or two seconds will be demanded for each operation instead of the 20 to 30 seconds formerly required. The test of success depends upon whether the strand can be removed without the slightest resistance. Here diathermy is superior as the "killing" is almost instantaneous. It is necessary, however, to adjust the machine to each individual's cuticle; otherwise adjacent tissue may be injured.

Whichever method is followed, the region may need to be gone over two or three times at intervals. This is because hairs may be lost temporarily and may not show. Within a short period they will reappear because the growing part is still alive.

It goes without saying that some body surfaces are more susceptible to irritation than others. This means that too frequent treatments applied to a sensitive epidermis will have a tendency to scar. The same can be said of overdosing.

From the cosmetic standpoint, and as an aid to morale, the removal of unsightly hair may be recommended.

THE ISSUE BEFORE US.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—While we are engaged in fighting a war all over the world, which every last American is determined to win no matter what the cost in life and property, there is a tremendous struggle right here at home against creeping communism which we must also win if this nation is to continue its existence as the land of liberty.

On Nov. 3 the voters of America struck their first blow in this battle. The pernicious doctrine of statism, which is destructive of all freedom, was placed on the defensive. The next major battle which will be joined in this fight is close upon us. It is the contest for the mayoralty of Chicago. There were those amongst us in 1939 who felt that the election of a mayor sympathetic to the New Deal would change the history of America. Such a mayor was elected and as a result we got the "Voice from the Sewers" at the Democratic convention in 1940.

Since that time the Communists have crept into strategic positions thruout the nation. On Nov. 3 the people registered their disapproval of the course in government espoused and imposed upon us by the "Voice from the Sewers." Therefore, it would seem to be the duty of Chicago voters to select a mayor this time who has the intelligence, the ability, and the determination to fight to victory against this creeping communism, this statism, this destruction of the noblest establishment of freedom the world has ever known. Only in the Republican party can such a mayor be found. Only by the Republican party can the fight against creeping communism be won.

This battle for the mayoralty is no longer a local issue. Upon its outcome can rest the fate of the United States as the land of the free or the country of the chained, harnessed to the task of policing the whole world.

SERVICE FOR STRAPHANGERS.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—While standing in the street car the other day with a package in one arm and my baby in the other, I got an idea for improving the street car, especially for the benefit of straphangers with packages. The company should build shelves along both sides of the car, so if you are standing and have a package you can lay it there until you are ready to get off. This would keep the aisle clear and give you more room to stand.

THEY'RE WAITING FOR BENNY.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—Now that Ben Adamowski has nothing to do and no one to purge and smear, why doesn't he follow the fine example of another beaten Democrat, Paul Douglas, and join some part of the fighting forces as a private? Or will he emulate the white feather boys, Walter Winchell and his kind?

SMALL POTATO PEELER.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS

Chicago, Nov. 11.—The gross stupidity of the government in handling its conscientious objectors is a matter for serious thought. England has followed a plan of alternate service for its citizens who are willing to make sacrifices and to accept difficult jobs but who cannot feel justified in murdering their fellow men.

Our hospitals are understaffed, our farmers are not able to operate their farms, civilian defense needs workers. In the face of shortages everywhere on the home front, the government takes 5,000 healthy, active, and willing men and locates them in half-baked camps in the backwoods where they are very little positive good either to themselves or to others.

Elgin State hospital houses 5,000 patients. Its director appealed for help and suggested using the conscientious objectors to aid in the operation of his understaffed hospital, but he was refused. Is this kind of government procedure in harmony with the "freedoms" we hear so much about? MRS. A. J. B.

HIS BLOOD BOILS.

Fort Lewis, Wash., Nov. 3.—I am forced to borrow an old phrase—"It makes my blood boil"—to show my contempt for a few minorities who are holding back our war effort.

For one, I will bring up the wildcat strikes. It seems that a few workers are not satisfied to be earning nine times as much as a soldier. They must quit working until an employer agrees to pay them 10 times the salary of a soldier.

Secondly, when 12 senators can banter the United States senate into holding back tons of much needed idle silver, for apparently selfish interests, I judge them equally guilty.

There are thousands of soldiers living in tent camps thruout the United States who could possibly be put to valuable use if there was adequate equipment for them to fight with. SERGT. L.

IN GRATITUDE FOR THE ELECTION.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The results of last Tuesday's election offer a most encouraging sign that we are going to be able to preserve our democratic form of government, despite the dangers that threaten it.

In this month of Thanksgiving let us give tangible expression to our appreciation for the outcome by buying more war bonds than we ever bought in any month before.

VICTOR ELVING.

DEMOCRATS DON'T CHANGE.

Lyons, Mich., Nov. 10.—"While the government of the United States, under the conduct of the Democratic party, has been all that time surrendering one plain and castle after another to slavery, the people of the United States have been no less steadily and perseveringly gathering together the forces with which to recover back again all the fields and all the castles which have been lost, and to confound and overthrow, by one decisive blow, the betrayers of the Constitution and freedom forever."

The above is no comment on the recent election, or on coercive labor unioneering, but is taken from William H. Seward's "On the Irrepressible Conflict."

Test Your Horse Sense By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 37.

1. Which of these animals will make a pasture look like a ploughed field? Sheep Hogs Horses Turkeys.
2. If a pie were cut into 4 pieces and you were given ½ of ½ of the pie, how many pieces would you receive? 1 2 3 4.
3. A quick, practical means of distinguishing between a Jap soldier and a Chinese is by examination of their Ears Teeth Hands Feet.
4. If four soldiers were seated at a USO center and you wished to find which was shortest, you should have the pianist play God Bless America Heart of Texas Star Spangled Banner Old Black Joe.
5. Which one of these persons would probably have the slowest pulse rate? Boy of 7 yrs. Girl of 14 yrs. Man of 34 yrs. Man of 65 yrs.
6. Worry is one of the best forms of health insurance providing the things about which you fret are outside your own epidermis. If you wish to revitalize an elderly person, don't stop his worries, but externalize them. Then he retains contact with his current environment and turns his thoughts to the future instead of dwelling in the past. FACTOR PLEADS GUILTY IN IOWA WHISKY SWINDLE

Sentence Delayed, for a Possible Restitution.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 17 (AP).—John [Jake the Barber] Factor of Chicago pleaded guilty in federal court here today to charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in a whisky warehouse receipts case in which he and 11 others were indicted last August.

John Factor.

Factor previously had entered a plea of innocent to the charges that he and his fellow defendants operated a million dollar receipts swindle, and trial had been set for Monday.

Factor was present in court to make the plea and at his request Judge Robert C. Bell postponed sentence until there could be a full presentation of the case and Factor could have an opportunity to make restitution. His bond of $15,000 was continued.

Others Fight Charges.

Three other defendants, Henry and Leo Bernstein, brothers, and A. A. Slater, all of Chicago, also withdrew pleas of innocent and filed demurrers to the indictments. Besides Factor, Henry Bernstein was the only other defendant in court.

Thomas B. Hart, regional director for the Securities and Exchange commission, said the alleged swindle involved at least 300 investors, many of them residents of the middle west.

Hart said the operations were carried on in the names of three Chicago firms: The United Bottling and Distributing company, A. A. Slater & Co., and the Old Oak Bottling and Distributing corporation.

Warehouse Receipts Involved.

Hart said Factor and the others were accused of persuading holders of receipts to surrender them on the promise that whisky would be bottled and sold at big profits by the three now defunct companies.

The receipts so gained, SEC officials charged, were sold by the operators, who retained the proceeds.

The indictments further alleged that the operators made false representations as to the great profits, marketing conditions, and general demand for various types of whisky and that in order to lull persons into a sense of false security, monthly or other periodic payments were made in some instances. These payments, the indictments said, were represented as proceeds from the bottling and sale of whisky thru the operation.

Kidnaped in 1933.

Factor was kidnaped near Chicago July 1, 1933, and held for 12 days. Court records showed he paid $70,000 for his release and four members of the Touhy gang went to prison for long terms for the kidnaping.

When two leaders of the gang escaped from the Illinois state prison at Statesville last Oct. 9, special police guards were posted around the Chicago apartment where Factor, his wife, and their 16 year old son, Alvin, lived.

Factor's testimony was instrumental in sending the Touhy gang to prison.

Orders Landlady to Supply Adequate Heat to Tenants

Judge John P. Barnes in the federal District court, issued an injunction yesterday restraining Nan Gallagher of Savanna, Carroll county, from violating the rent control act, and making it mandatory upon her to furnish her three tenants with adequate heat. The tenants, Spenced A. Jones, John F. Muehl, and Lester Mann, are employed at the Savanna ordnance depot.

BEATEN, TOSSED OFF CLIFF, BUT IS FOUND ALIVE

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 17 (AP).—Evidently beaten with a rock, Mrs. Inez Maclam of Los Angeles was found in a serious condition today at the foot of a cliff overlooking the ocean near Encinitas.

Capt. A. B. Mason of the sheriff's office said a blood stained rock was found on the top of the cliff. He said Mrs. Maclam apparently was beaten senseless and then hurled over the cliff.

Deputy Sheriff Anthony Van Denakker said Mrs. Maclam reported she left Los Angeles last Saturday in her car with her three small children and a nurse. Van Denakker said the children, the nurse, and the automobile had not been found.

FINED $50 FOR SLOT MACHINE.

Judge Oscar S. Caplan fined Stanley R. Mlynek, 38 years old, manager of a pool room at 1055 North Rockwell street, $50 yesterday for possessing a slot machine and confiscated the machine for the scrap drive.

PANDER IS SEIZED AS 6TH VICTIM IN JAIL DODGER HUNT

Helps Trap Himself When He Answers Phone.

Assistant State's Attorney Myron Lewis tracked down another jail dodger yesterday, the sixth person he has found enjoying freedom while their jail commitment papers gathered dust in the Municipal court clerk's office.

The man is Nick Vergado, 38 years old, sentenced to six months in the Bridewell on March 18, 1938, for pandering—a sentence court records show never was served.

The hunt for jail dodgers started when it was discovered that John P. Brosnan, a city hall pay roller, had evaded for nine years serving a jail sentence imposed on him for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Answers the Telephone.

Lewis was tracing Vergado yesterday, following leads supplied by a cab company where the man worked occasionally. He called the Maryland hotel at 900 Rush street. To his surprise Vergado answered the telephone.

Lewis quickly broke the connection and called Capt. Frank Reynolds of Chicago avenue police, a few blocks from the hotel. Capt. Reynolds and a squad arrested Vergado.

Lewis said he would ask Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty to issue new commitment papers for Vergado today.

Vergado's conviction was affirmed by the Appellate court on Nov. 10, 1938. The capias for his arrest was returned, marked "not found," on July 6, 1939. The court ordered forfeit of his $1,000 bond and issued a new capias on April 16, 1940.

Four Days in Bridewell.

Three months later Vergado was arrested and went to the Bridewell for four days. Then his case was appealed to the Illinois Supreme court and he was released on appeal bond.

The Supreme court affirmed his conviction on Oct. 28, 1940, and Lewis said that nothing had been heard of Vergado since. The state's attorney termed the case "typical" of court laxity enabling persons convicted in Municijal court to escape punishment.

Of the six cases the prosecutor discovered Vergado's arrest marks the third case cleaned up. Brosnan and Levi Billow, Negro, who had two months of a year's term to serve on a sex offense, have been apprehended. Three others, including a woman shoplifter, are being sought, Lewis said.

MOTHER SEIZED AS ABDUCTOR OF SON, 10, IS FREED

Mrs. Mynette Fasth, 32 years old, charged with abducting her son, Dennis Spellum, 10, from the home of her former husband, Karl Spellum of Glencoe, Minn., was freed in Felony court yesterday when Minnesota authorities failed to press the charge. Mrs. Fasth took Dennis from the Spellum home in Minnesota on Oct. 10. She was arrested Oct. 18 on the abduction charge in her home at 4501 Malden street. She now is the wife of Gustav Fasth, a tool and die maker.

Sanction County Hospital for Soldier Rehabilitation

The board of county commissioners designated yesterday that Cook County hospital be the official rehabilitation center for Selective Service registrants. The board acted on the request of Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of Selective Service.

WOOING OF MAIL ORDER ROMEO IS BARED IN SLAYING

Notes Show How Accused Mate Won Chicagoan.

The woo-by-mail methods which William R. Puckett, 63 years old, used last spring to win Mrs. Ella Mae Puckett, 67, who was slain on a lonely Indiana road Nov. 6, were bared yesterday by Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the public administrator.

A search of the slain woman's home at 7840 Kenwood avenue disclosed several letters apparently exchanged between the two after their "introduction" thru a matrimonial agency at Grayslake, Ill.

Puckett is being held in the Tippecanoe county jail in Lafayette, Ind., under indictment for the slaying of his wife despite his story that she was shot and killed by a hitch-hiker.

She Gets Prompt Reply.

After the first exchange of letters early in February, the then Mrs. Ella Landquist wrote to Puckett, addressing him as "Dear Club Member" and mentioning that she was financially secure. His answer was prompt, he asked for her picture and closed with:

"I am honest in telling you that your letters have fanned a spark of hope in my heart into a flame of desire to know you better, and to begin to think and plan to enjoy my life more by trying to help you enjoy yours."

"Dear Friend," Mrs. Landquist replied on Feb. 12, inclosing a picture of herself in the yard of her home. "Well, I am a brunette; as you know, I own my home. Have sold a building that I receive payments from every month, also another income so I am getting along nicely. . . . It sure would be nice to have some one help putter around the place. You say you hope to retire. Well, with what we both have probably you could, providing it would turn out that way."

Looked Like "Good Armful."

"My dear Ella," came Puckett's answer. "When I look at you I admire you. I am glad you are not one of those girls who look like they were afraid to eat. [She weighed nearly 250 pounds.] You look like you would make a good armful, maybe two armsful. Looking into your beautiful face and eyes, I am saying dear Ella, you look as sweet as honey, as fresh as the morning dew on the blushing rose at sunrise, and as happy as an angel. Darling, I love you and I want you to know it."

Mrs. Landquist replied on Feb. 17. "Dear Will," her letter ran. "I see where the love bug has really got you."

Puckett apparently visited her that week for the first time and after he returned to his home in Lafayette, Ind., he wrote her: "I am satisfied we could soon forget all these longing, lonesome days and nights we have had and be smiling and laughing with the joy we could bring to each other. I don't see anything to gain by waiting and waiting. Suppose we get married."

Suggests More Meetings.

On Feb. 26, Mrs. Landquist, calling him "my sweetheart," mailed her reply: "I would love to [marry you], but I think I ought to see you more than once. Does my dear boy friend think he will come to Chicago soon again?"

Puckett's answer said words failed him and he continued: "I long for the time to come when I can put my arms around you and say, my own darling, my sweetheart, I love you with all my heart. Don't you feel that a little haste would be all right in that case?"

They were married March 7 in Calumet City.

SLAYER OF 2 SISTERS, 7 AND 8, SENTENCED TO DEATH IN CHAIR

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 17 (AP).—With a smile on his lips, Edward Haight, 17 year old convicted killer of two little sisters, stood in county court today and heard himself sentenced to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison. Execution was set for the week of Dec. 27. Haight was found guilty by a jury of six men and six women of luring Margaret Lynch, 7, and Helen, 8, into a stolen station wagon, Sept. 14, trying to rape one, maltreating the other, and tossing both into Westchester waters to drown.

RUNAWAY PLANE TREATS WOMAN TO FLYING LESSON

Alone, She Goes Up, and Crash Lands, Unhurt.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 17 [Special].—Mrs. B. A. Freed, 40 years old, of Moline, whose experience with airplanes has been limited to a few hours' casual riding as a passenger in her husband's plane, took an involuntary ride by herself today, causing consternation for 20 minutes at the local airport.

While an ambulance waited at the hastily cleared air field, Mrs. Freed, who had taken off inadvertently, brought the plane in for two unsuccessful attempts at landing and finally crash-landed from a height of 50 feet, damaging the nose and propeller of the plane but escaping injury.

Husband Spins Propeller.

Mrs. Freed's flight began when she sat in the passenger's seat in her husband's light two-place coupe. She had flown here this morning with her husband from Moline and the two were about to start the return trip. Her husband twirled the propeller, and the ship, its brakes not holding, started to taxi along the runway.

Mrs. Freed decided something should be done to halt the plane's rolling progress, so she pushed at one of the gadgets on the dashboard. It was the throttle and the plane responded by zooming into the air, climbing at a sharp angle to between 1,500 and 2,000 feet, according to an estimate by Arthur Curry, airport manager.

"We had about 25 ships on the field," Curry said, "and we got them into hangars within five minutes. We noticed that Mrs. Freed was circling the field. Her husband said she had never touched the controls of a plane, but she seemed to be handling it O. K. She was attempting to come in for a landing and made a perfect approach.

Pushes at Throttle.

"The wheels touched the ground, but Mrs. Freed did not know what to do next. She pushed at the throttle and took off again. Next time she came in at a steep angle and bounced 50 to 75 feet. She gunned the engine but the plane had lost flying speed and came down nose first at a 70 degree angle. It skidded along on its nose for 50 feet and Mrs. Freed climbed out before we could get to her."

An ambulance took Mrs. Freed to a hospital, but an examination showed no injuries.

"I moved over to the pilot's seat and took the controls," she explained. "I tried to remember what I had seen my husband do. The plane has a steering wheel like an automobile, so I steered it. Now I am going to learn to fly."

Within an hour the couple were in the air again. Their own plane was too badly damaged for flight, but Freed called a fellow private flyer in Moline, who flew over and took them home.

Hospital Offers Care to Darlan Son, Polio Victim

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17 (AP).—Mayor Marvin L. Kline in a letter to President Roosevelt today offered the facilities of the General hospital and the Sister Kenny method of treatment of infantile paralysis to the son of Adm. Jean Darlan, political leader of French North Africa. Darlan's son is in Algiers stricken with poliomyelitis. It was suggested to the President that a transport plane be sent to Algiers to bring the son of Darlan to the United States.

MAJ. DE SEVERSKY TO APPEAR ON N.U. REVIEWING STAND

The rôle of air power in winning the war will be discussed by three aviation authorities on the Northwestern Reviewing Stand on W-G-N at 10 a. m. Sunday. Participants in the discussion will be Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, author of "Victory Thru Air Power," Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways, and Prof. Lawrence Wyly of the Northwestern Technological institute.

The program is presented in W-G-N's main studio. Studio guests are invited.

Altho the Army-Navy football game on Saturday, Nov. 28, has been transferred from Philadelphia to Annapolis and travel restrictions will keep thousands of fans from the sidelines, followers of this game may choose their radio report from either the Mutual, NBC, and CBS networks.

Calumet in Second Place, Not Fourth, in Scrap Drive

Calumet High school properly belonged in 2d place in the school salvage drive when the board of education released ratings Monday. Previous reports had placed Calumet 4th. The school, at 8131 South May street, has collected 202,000 pounds of scrap metal since Oct. 1. Six hundred dollars has been realized already from scrap sales and has been turned into Christmas boxes for Calumet alumni in the armed services.

There Is Gayety and Laughter in These 2 Books

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough. [Dodd-Mead, $2.50.]

"We Took to the Woods," by Louise Dickinson Rich. [Lippincott, $2.75.] Dual choice of the Book of the Month Club for December.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Escape" books in a therapeutic as well as delightful sense are these two volumes. Some of us have been tensing our minds just as we have been tensing our hours, determined to get the most out of every minute to put into the hopper of the war effort.

We have forgotten that mysteriously but miraculously one good frame shaking laugh can speed up our mental metabolism. To those of us who have got out of the habit of laughing, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" is a tonic prescription.

Bar none, this is the nicest, funniest book about a trip abroad that any one ever wrote . . . not the sharpest, nor the most satirical, nor the most informative, nor the most interpretive, but the most simply and lusciously funny. It is, except for minor details, the story of every girl's first trip abroad.

Altho few travelers can boast a case of measles two days before landing, the excitement of running aground in the St. Lawrence, the casual and wholly innocent shelter over night in a house of ill fame, the heroic conking on the head with a deck chair of an illegal immigrant swimming for his life, the less unusual moments have been experienced by every one. For instance, the bouts with the bedbugs, the stalwart and almost unsuccessful effort of a young man and woman [unmarried] to convince the frugal minded French pension keeper that one really commodious bed wouldn't do for both of them; the sad experience with a penny in the slot "geezer."

These two girls in the '20s had a superb and enchanting time because their hearts were young and gay, and I challenge any one reading about it to resist a shuffling off of years and care.

You will find yourself chuckling and then suddenly snorting with joy, no more at the events and the way the girls met them than at the irresistibly funny way the authors say everything. You will find yourself gathering an audience about you to listen.

Incidentally, the drawings by Alajalov are very funny, too.

"We Took to the Woods" will do the same sort of thing to you that "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" will do. It will live up to its title. It will take you, literally and bodily, into the deep woods of western Maine where Mr. and Mrs. Rich choose to live and have their being.

It will paint for you the picture of a good life lived richly and happily and rewardingly—without any of the "things" which people on the "outside" think are the essentials of life, but with many things which city dwellers don't know are essential because they have never met them . . . the sound as well as the feel of isolation, the spirit and body tingling cleanliness of trackless white snow, the sense of being hourly alive and a part of the cycle of endless life. . . .

Mrs. Rich writes with gayety and nonchalance about what the rest of us would call privation and often danger—like having her baby before a doctor could even be called, being without food if she has not been careful enough to think of everything she needed, or because the lakes are sometimes frozen too much to be navigable by boat and not frozen enough to be solid for a car; the scary puff of smoke on the horizon that may mean a forest fire; a hurricane which made jackstraws of the trees; many things which would turn a city woman's hair white but apparently are a slug from the fountain of youth to her.

Mrs. Rich has a delicious sense of humor, and, what is sometimes rarer, a sense of the absurd. Hitch that in double harness with a sense of reality and you have something. You'll be clearer eyed about lots of things after you have read this book.

Outstanding Juvenile Volumes Are Featured for Book Week

BY AGATHA L. SHEA.
[Director, Children's Work, Chicago Public Library.]

Books for young people in this first year of war reflect their interest in our armed forces and in our allies. Many stirringly emphasize our own American backgrounds from which sprang the democracy we defend. In addition, the year has given us many excellent vocational and sports stories and some fine biographies. Noteworthy books in a variety of fields are briefly mentioned and described here in connection with Book Week, Nov. 15 to 21, in which outstanding books for children and adolescents are featured all over the country by bookshops and libraries.

Picture Books

Dash and Dart, by Mary and Conrad Buff [Viking, $2]. Simple rhythmic prose tells the story of two young fawns in their wooded home.

Watching for Winkie, by Theresa Kalab [Longmans, $1.75]. A story of a blue-gray pigeon who saved the lives of a bomber crew and justified her little keeper's faith in her.

Hezekiah Horton, by Ellen Tarry [Viking, $1]. A delightful story of a little Harlem Negro boy and the big red automobile which seemed a dream come true.

Dorcas Porcus, by Tasha Tudor [Oxford, 75 cents]. A tiny stocking book with a yellow calico cover and lovely pictures tells about the little pig who ran away.

Penny and the White Horse, by Margery Bianco and Marjory Collison [Messner, $2]. A merry-go-round horse is the hero of this colorful picture book.

The Tall Book of Mother Goose, illustrated by Feodor Rojankovsky [Harpers, $1]. Unusual pictures by the famous Russian artist make this an item of interest to the collector and art enthusiast.

For Older Boys

When the Typhoon Blows, by Elizabeth Foreman Lewis [Winston, $2]. The hero of this inspiring story is a 15 year old boy of China whose fight for freedom never wavers.

Juarez, Hero of Mexico, by Nina Baker [Vanguard, $2.50]. A thrilling account of the Indian boy who became Mexico's great patriot leader.

Chemical Elements, by I. Nechaev [Coward, $2.50]. An informal account of discoveries in chemistry by a young Russian chemist.

The Wreck of the Wild Wave, by Edith Thacher Hurd [Oxford, $2.50]. Shipwreck adventures in the clipper ship era are exciting and realistic.

Ocean Outposts, by Helen Follett [Scribners, $2]. About the lands of the Pacific war zone, illustrated with maps and photographs.

All-American, by John Tunis [Harcourt, $2]. A modern sport and school story which is also a fine lesson in democracy for young America.

For Older Girls

Have You Seen Tom Thumb? by Mabel Leigh Hunt [Stokes, $2]. The story of Charles Stratton, the midget whom Barnum made famous as Gen. Tom Thumb, is a good picture of an interesting period in our history with adventure and romance which young readers will like. Illustrated by Fritz Eichenberg.

Dixie Decides, by May Justus [Random, $2]. An idealistic young daughter of southern mountaineers decides upon an education, and sets about getting it.

Jemima, Daughter of Daniel Boone, by Margaret Sutton [Scribners, $2]. The exciting adventures of this young Kentucky pioneer make thrilling reading which modern American girls will enjoy. The story is based upon historical records and old letters.

A Star for Ginny, by Phyllis Whitney [Houghton-Mifflin ,$2]; The Blueberry Muffin, by Mary Wolfe Thompson [Longmans, $2]; Wider Wings, by Patricia O'Malley [Greystone, $2], and Handkerchief Holiday, by Fjeril Hess [Macmillan, $2]. Career books which cover a variety of interests. All are good stories.

Martha Washington, by Alice Desmond [Dodd-Mead, $2.50]. A biography that makes very good reading.

Catch a Falling Star, by Gertrude Robinson [Dutton, $2]. An excellent pioneer story in which romance and adventure compete for the young reader's interest.

For In-Betweens, 9 to 11

Poo-Poo and the Dragons, by C. S. Forester [Little-Brown, $1.75]. A fanciful tale which holds many laughs for young readers.

Susan's Safe Harbor, by Katherine Wigmore Eyre [Oxford, $1.75], and The Middle Moffat, by Eleanor Estes [Harcourt, $2]. These two stories of little girl "doings," the first in San Francisco and the second in New England, will be favorite items for girl readers of this group.

Mexico and the Inca Lands, by Rafaello Busoni. [Holiday, $1]. This and its companion volume on Australia are attractive and timely books on neighbors in whom our boys and girls are becoming much interested.

MacArthur of Bataan, by Helen Nicolay [Appleton, $1.75]. Tho not a comprehensive biography of this great hero it is one which boys of this age group will enjoy.

Look at America, by Elizabeth Kent Tarshis [McBride, $2]. A bird's-eye of what makes America, our farms, our industries, and our cities.

Bells and Grass, by Walter De La Mare [Viking, $2.50]. A fine poetry collection, illustrated by Dorothy Lathrop.

America at War

Submarine—Story of Undersea Fighters, by Kendall Banning [Random, $1]. Approved officially by United States navy.

Navy Diver, by Gregor Felsen [Dutton, $2]. Fiction founded on an authentic account of diving in the United States navy.

ADVENTURE IN BLOOD TRANSFUSION

by Bertram M. Bernheim, M.D.

The wondrous story of a great surgical achievement. A fast-paced, vivid account of a struggle for conquest in surgery...of a problem that baffled and enthralled the minds of men through the ages...and of the lightning victory won by American surgeons in the Twentieth Century.

written by a man who knows whereof he speaks

Dr. Bernheim is Associate Professor of Surgery at Johns Hopkins and author of "Medicine at the Crossroads". He has been in the thick of the struggle for achievement since the hazardous days when blood had to be pumped direct from donor to patient. His is the "inside" story.

MISS MARION STEPHENS.

When one of her good customers asked Miss Marion Stephens, manager of the Board of Trade Book Shop, to make up a package of books for her mother in the hospital, her selection made such a hit that now she's featuring what she calls a "prize package" every month. For November she has chosen these four important new books: [1] An intensely significant novel by the author of "Magnificent Obsession"—perfect for Christmas giving; [2] A thrilling, first hand account of desert, jungle and sea action in World War II, by a man whose broadcasts from vital fronts have made him famous; [3] A fascinating novel laid in New Orleans, sparkling carnival city, about three generations of beautiful women and the men they love; [4] A distinguished profile of the Civil War by one of America's great Lincoln scholars; moving, dramatic, profusely illustrated. Miss Stephens will be glad to mail this "prize package," or any single book in it, to anyone on your list; or to make up other book assortments to order. Just stop in at the Board of Trade Book Shop or give her a ring [Webster 0018]. All the latest books are also available at these Handy Book & Gift Shops: Chimes [29 N. THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

IT'S NEW YEAR'S EVE EVERY NIGHT DOWN IN FLORIDA

Miami Area Gay Spots Do Rushing Business.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mimai, Fla., Nov. 17.—Miami Beach can afford to be [and is] choosy about its winter guests, and the word today is that if you want to spend a winter vacation down this way you'd better write to one of the chambers of commerce before you start packing.

Miami and other southern Florida cities are just as anxious as ever to exercise their southern hospitality this season, but in some places there are priorities. The state is big and roomy, however, and Florida would establish tent colonies rather than have northern folks go elsewhere for the winter.

There still is considerable hotel space available in Miami, according to Mayor C. H. Reeder, Otto E. Fisher, president of the Greater Miami Hotel association, and Sam H. Gilman of the Apartment House association. The army has taken over four big hotels on Biscayne boulevard and will take another Dec. 15. That leaves 11,000 hotel rooms and 16,000 apartment units available for vacationers, officials said.

Soldiers Stream In.

In Miami Beach the army has all the hotels south of 23d street and many north of that thorofare—and more and more soldiers are coming. The hotel people like the arrangement and so do their bondholders. With four soldiers to a room and regular pay days, the business people have no complaint. The night clubs in both cities are doing a New Year's business every night.

The dimouts bother nobody. Everything goes on as usual, but with less light. Miami Beach, whose main industry is housing, feels patriotic because that industry has enlisted for the war effort.

Mayor Val C. Cleary of Miami Beach and Tom Ferris, director of the Miami Beach News service, said the space not occupied by the soldiers—most of whom are in officers' training groups—will be apportioned carefully.

Seven Classes Included.

Persons to be given a preference were listed as follows:

1. The sick. Special arrangements will be made to care for those who need the Miami Beach climate.
2. The elderly. Special preference will be shown elderly persons affected by fuel shortages in the north.
3. Persons now living in crowded defense areas who are willing to rent their homes to war workers and who then will come to Miami Beach for the duration.
4. Relatives of soldiers who wish to make visits here.
5. Young men about to go into service who wish to spend their last two weeks of civilian life in Miami Beach.
6. War workers who need relaxation.
7. Military men on furloughs, and their families.

In the other parts of lower Florida there are no such classifications, the only requisite being enough currency to keep the natives happy. As a special inducement to the northerners, it was announced no tuition will be charged this winter for northern children who attend public schools in this county. There was such a charge in other years.

OCALA REGION SLATES JOY FOR WINTER GUESTS

Ocala, Fla., Nov. 17 [Special].—Resort centers around Ocala are maintaining open house, unhampered by the war effort, Wilson P. Turnipseed, president of the chamber of commerce, reported recently. A special tourist committee has been formed to serve families of men in uniform, war workers, and other visitors.

Silver Springs, Rainbow Springs, Silver Glen Springs, Juniper Springs, Lake Weir, Lake Kerr, and Orange lake have the latch string out to all who seek relaxation, in either small allotments or by the season.

There are more than 100 hotels, tourist guest homes, apartment units, cottages, and courts available, a new survey discloses. "The Ocala area is proud to be able to coöperate with northern visitors by assisting them in getting located thru the chamber of commerce placement bureau," Mayor C. C. Fraser stated. "A supervision program of entertainment, indoor games and outdoor recreational facilities officially opened on Nov. 15."

YOUR "Traveling Companions" OVER THANKSGIVING

These men in service, and hundreds of thousands of their "buddies" will be traveling over Thanksgiving, too. Some to new locations—some for long deserved furloughs at home.

This means capacity Thanksgiving travel for our passenger facilities. You can help us make both Civilian and Military travel comfortable and convenient by heeding these timely suggestions when planning your Thanksgiving trip.

Buy Round Trip Tickets Now—Avoid the last minute rush at ticket windows. Get complete information and schedules before you leave.

Leave a Couple of Days Early—Return After the Rush. You'll enjoy your trip more if you leave Monday or Tuesday and return after the Holiday Rush.

Travel Light—Avoid excess luggage. You can check your necessary baggage—it will add to your comfort.

Pullman Accommodations in Demand—Make Reservations as early as possible. If you postpone your trip—cancel your reservations so others may use them.

There may be STANDING ROOM ONLY on trains THESE 5 DAYS

Our Country being at war, "travel as usual" is out for the duration. So the fine old American custom of traveling home in comfort for Thanksgiving now becomes another "war casualty."

For there just are not enough cars to carry troops and, at the same time, provide the travel comforts to which you have been accustomed during holidays in peace times.

Under the circumstances, if you make a train trip this year, please understand that there may not be seats available. Soldiers and sailors fortunate enough to get a few days leave to be with their families will probably be traveling in substantial numbers.

We are sorry it is necessary to warn you that conditions will not be what you are accustomed to, but military transportation needs come first. With the equipment remaining for civilian use, we shall strive to do our best to serve the public.

League Hears Plea of Hodes for Home Rule

Chicago, as other cities faced with civilian defense and other emergency expenditures, has a "war born financial dilemma" that could be solved thru home rule, Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, told the Cook County League of Women Voters yesterday at a school of government meeting.

"If Chicago enjoyed home rule," Mr. Hodes said, "if it were no longer treated as an infant of the state, it could revamp its antiquated tax system, modernize tax collection methods, take over and operate or sell properties in default, rent its water, sewage plant, police and fire fighting services to communities outside its limits, and otherwise operate along sound business lines."

Giving figures on the city finances, he told the league that from January of 1933 to January of 1942 the city's "operating fund debt" for corporate purposes was reduced from $20,449,000 to $8,129,000; that the amount of unpaid tax warrants was reduced from $65,752,000 to $34,654,000; the amount owed by the city in judgments was cut from $17,232,000 to $7,174,000, and that the net bonded debt was sliced from $133,595,000 to $67,282,000.

These reductions achieved a "grand total of savings" of $119,789,000," he said. But war expenditures, Mr. Hodes added, would more than offset any possible economies.

Chicago, faced with problems "that would have taxed the wisdom and ingenuity of the founding fathers," must go to the state legislature for the right to raise money, to spend it or to perform any desired or even emergency act not specifically authorized by state law, he pointed out. "By controlling a majority in the state legislature," Mr. Hodes asserted, "rural and small town Illinois can keep Chicago in a straitjacket."

Front VIEWS and PROFILES By MARCIA WINN

Book Notes.

The happiest author of the week is Richard Williams, the 12 year old Quiz Kid. Richard not only is a youthful Euclid; he also has a flare for writing and at the request of an eastern publisher has been writing a book. The book was rejected this week, and Richard's monitors set about to break the news gently. His reaction was most unorthodox. Throwing his cap into the air, he shouted, "You mean I don't have to write on that book any more?"

Thin Ice.

A man we know was out at the Great Lakes Naval Training station last week when Secretary of the Navy Knox arrived. To welcome him the band broke out with "The Skaters' Waltz."

De Amicitia.

A remarkable friendship was broken Monday by the death of Henry Gordon Gale, noted physicist and dean emeritus of the division of physical sciences at the University of Chicago. His close friend for 43 years was Gordon J. Lang, former dean of humanities at Chicago and now alumni dean. The two met in 1899 and began a daily bout at billiards, keeping meticulous score and summing up results at the end of each year. In the summer they played golf. Thru the years Lang had a slight edge on Gale in billiards, but Gale consistently and infinitesimally trimmed him at golf. The golf was abandoned three years ago when Gale had a heart attack, but the sight of the two white-haired men playing billiards after lunch in the Quadrangle club remained as integral a part of the club as the ivy on its walls. In more than four decades there was only one break in the friendship, and this was purely the insurmountable obstacle of distance. That was in 1921 when Lang went to the University of Toronto for two years. Upon his return the billiards and golf were resumed.

The Human Race.

The hotel employé was beside herself with work. She was acting as switchboard operator, cashier, room clerk and mail cage girl. At that point a guest telephoned. "Can you tell me," she inquired in painfully exquisite accents, "the name of the best Presbyterian church in town?"

War News.

To carry a package out of a war industry plant, a pass must be procured. Roberta reports that a young man in a war plant recently requested such a pass from an official. The official asked what the package contained, and the worker said it contained hair tonic. "O, yeah?" the official guffawed. "I'll just sample that hair tonic." He did. It was hair tonic.

Musical Brothers.

James Melton and Lawrence Tibbett, both of whom sang at the Chicago opera Monday night in "La Traviata," may do a movie together in which they appear as brothers. Hollywood thinks they look alike. If they do, Tibbett will play the older brother who does good deeds, Melton the younger brother who gets the girl. Sic transit, etc. . . .

Biblical Model.

The fact that Adm. Darlan has stepped in where Gen. DeGaulle hoped to be has biblical precedent in the parable of the laborers in the vineyard. Remember where in the Gospel according to St. Matthew the householder went out early in the day and hired laborers to work in his vineyard for a penny a day? And then at the eleventh hour went out and found others idle and hired them at the same rate? And the first protested? "I always wanted to cry out in the middle of church, "T'aint right, 't'ain't right," a friend said.

The lines particularly applicable to Darlan seem to be those in Matthew xx., 6 and 7: Why stand ye here all day idle? . . . Because no man hath hired us.

Those Colorful Buttons Effect Swank in Gowns

BY REA SEEGER.

One of the season's smartest fashion ideas is the basic dress gone dress parade. Combine the classic simplicity of a supercomfortable and figure flattering basic dress this year with elbow length sleeves and with the legal amount of yardage having festive accents such as bead work, embroidery, velvet applique, or buttons that positively take your breath away . . . then you have the best finds of this topsy-turvy year of 1942.

Some of the dresses do have long sleeves, some fitted, some gathered into narrow band cuffs, but the gayest, most flattering, and the most popular to date are the models with the sleeves that end at the elbow.

There are light blues, plenty of soft beiges and grays, stunning, vivid shades of red, carbon blue, amethyst, imperial purple, moss and bronze green, cinnamon, copper, and the smoothest of dull blacks. Many of the light shades shine with sequins [small and discreet] and are cut with graciously curved and flattering collars faced with metallic brocades—the brocade repeated in the narrow cuffs or along yokelines.

It's the buttons, however, that make the excitement—huge, wide affairs in shiny gold or silver metal, glittering discs of rhinestones, rather fabulously jeweled effects that simulate rubies, emeralds, sapphires, and combinations of these with twinkling rhinestones.

Dutch Masters Exhibit Renews Faith in Future

BY HARRIETT PRIBBLE.

No one who attended yesterday's opening of the Great Dutch Masters exhibition left the Chicago Art institute, it is safe to wager, without a renewed confidence in the might and right of the United States, the Netherlands, and their allies.

"These paintings should give all of us who have the privilege of admiring them a renewed determination to fight with everything we possess for the preservation of the heritage of our forefathers," declared Dr. Alexander Loudon, Netherlands ambassador to the United States, who came from Washington, D. C., for the dedication at 3:30 o'clock.

One could not help noting that the stalwart determination on the faces of "The Regents of the Children's Charity Home, Haarlem" [the famous "Dutch Masters," as it is more popularly called] was reflected on the countenances of the present day Dutch heroes who sat in a double row beneath the priceless masterpiece. The feelings of the visitors were summed up by Rear Adm. G. W. Stoeve, commander of the Netherlands East Indies navy, who said: "Once more the powers of aggression will be overrun and a remnant of the Netherlands forces will fight at your side to victory."

A large number of visitors viewed the paintings yesterday. During the dedication they packed the railings and sat on the marble steps of the grand staircase, and most of them, like Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, stood rigidly at attention during the half hour program.

Chauncey McCormick, vice president of the Art institute, opened the program in the absence of Potter Palmer, who, with Mrs. Palmer, was called east by the death of his aunt, Mrs. Lockwood Honoré.

A small portion of the crowd was invited to a reception later to meet Dr. and Mrs. Loudon, Rear Adm. Stoeve, Maj. Gen. L. H. van Oyen, commander in chief of the Netherlands air force; Maj. W. Th. Carp, head of the Dutch army's Canadian unit, and the Dutch officers who were flown up from Scott field for the opening. Dr. Loudon's attractive blonde wife, who received with the ambassador, the McCormicks, Mr. and Mrs. Jan I. Noest, and Mr. Rich, wore a festive little hat crowned with fuchsia ostrich plumes.

Among those who viewed the paintings of Frans Hals, Rembrandt, and Vermeer were Mrs. Donald F. McPherson, Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw and her sister, Mrs. Winterbotham Badger, Miss Gwethalyn Jones, Miss Frieda Foltz, Mrs. Fletcher Durbin, Mrs. Frank Mulford, Mrs. Frank Hibbard, and Mrs. Charles G. Goodspeed and Mrs. Watson McLallen, who in their AWVS uniforms were the only two women to sit with the special guests during the dedication. Also representing the AWVS were the 10 young women who sold programs, along with 10 representatives of the Queen Wilhelmina fund dressed in Dutch costumes. The two organizations shared the proceeds from the program sale.

Stage Notes

"Junior Miss" gives its 75th performance at the Harris theater tonight, and at the same time the New York company celebrates the rounding out of a full year at the Lyceum theater. A telegram, signed by actors, understudies, stage crew, and press agent at the Harris, was sent to the New York company last night with the following message:

"Felicitations from the Chicago 'Junior Miss' company upon occasion of your first New York anniversary. That you may remain on Broadway for another smashing year is our earnest wish. We are not doing so badly ourselves in Chicago, this being our ninth big week, and we are gathering momentum daily."

"Maid in the Ozarks" is doing so well at the Great Northern theater that the management of the mountain comedy has taken an option on the theater for several months after Jan. 1, when the present lease expires.

In a recent noontime radio broadcast the time ran out before Lou Holtz could finish a story he was telling. When he reached the theater for the matinée performance he found an anxious letter from a woman, saying that the suspense was too great, and that she was attending the performance in the hope that he would finish the story. He did.

Have you seen the "Porgy and Bess" goat, wearing an identifying blanket, traveling down Michigan avenue toward the Studebaker theater in the company of his caretaker? The other day a policeman stopped both goat and caretaker, threatening to arrest the animal for advertising without a license.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Feminine First.

Women's intuition has a new testing ground, as evidenced by the quick rise of a young Chicagoan—woman adjuster for compensation in the local office of one of our large insurance companies. She is Elizabeth Shimmin—until a month or so ago Elizabeth Doering of Wilmette. Marriage has changed her name, tho not her vocation.

A note which came to this desk stated she was the first woman adjuster for compensation in the middle west, but Elizabeth imposes no prior claim on that title . . . says she honestly doesn't know . . . has been so busy . . . merely knows there is a promising field for women in insurance as a result of the war. They work, she informs me, a 40 hour week, yet statistics in the office of her company indicate they are accomplishing almost as much as men who work a 70 hour week.

All of the qualities ordinarily associated with personnel work are of value in adjusting claims: Intuition, tact, discrimination, and understanding of people. The adjuster is something of a Portia off the bench, because she must weigh the justice of claims, question the witnesses, and decide whether the person seeking compensation broke her arm, for example, while at work or on a gay week-end.

Men, she has observed, are less difficult to cope with than women; men are less emotional about accidents and more meticulous about relating circumstances precisely as they occurred, "but women," she adds hopefully, "are getting better in this respect."

To her work, this youthful adjuster brings a full quota of gifts. She went to high school in Evanston; had one year at Connecticut College for Women," but finished at Northwestern; worked in a department store for a bit, then took an insurance job and went to Boston for a training course. She had just wiped the dishes from a fried chicken dinner [tho she admits she "doesn't make a profession of cooking"], when I visited with her. An outdoor enthusiast, she likes outside work. Her advice to girls interested in this kind of job is "to enter as a transferable employé" and to "watch the want ads."

Pity the Poor Employer.

"Pity the poor employé? Yes, but the employer has his troubles, too. One matter that can not be dealt with pleasantly is the dishonesty of the employé at times. For instance, the stamp problem. How many girls will go to the stamp box or drawer, and with no compunction use or 'borrow' some stamps? Stamps are a necessary and important item in the daily life of any business and not just a convenience for the employé who carries on her personal correspondence at the office."Lizzie Lou.

Dis and Data.

Mary Ceddia writes to say she knows "data" is plural, but wonders if "these data" is correct. Correct tho awkward in sound. . . . Winter is approaching and with it the annual wrangle over office temperatures. When it's right for the girls, the men are too warm and take cold when they go outside. When right for the men, the girls freeze. . . . There's a new gem, the "parparadoscha," an orange sapphire—and it sounds like a prehistoric animal. . . . Gypsy Rose Lee, the multiple careerist, is a collector. Her collection of Royal Dolton plates has been on exhibit recently at the Cincinnati Museum of Arts. . . . Men's Wear says Santa Claus has already rolled into town "khaki clad and driving a jeep."

Author to Speak.

Elizabeth Pickett Chevalier, author of "Drivin' Woman," will be the guest speaker at a literary tea at Mandel Brothers at 2:30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

No Cooking. No Work. Real Saving.

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

And you'll say it's really amazing, for quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it eases breathing, and lets you sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Gay Party Invitations Give Hint of Approaching Holidays

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE good news in the Pacific, plus the approach of the Thanksgiving holiday, apparently have put every one in a party frame of mind. Invitations to a variety of affairs are showering down upon Chicagoans all around.

"You are invited to attend the cocktail party of the year," begin invitations received yesterday by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Whipple Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. John Schlotterbeck, who promise a "party nonpariel" to be held at the famous Serpentine bar at 200 East Chestnut street on Saturday, Nov. 28, from 4 until 7 o'clock. The Greek War Relief association will receive the proceeds. The charge is to be $2.50 for three drinks with hors d'oeuvres, and additional orders will be solicited at proportionate prices. The bar is in the Jacobses' apartment in the Seneca hotel.

Invitations to "cocktails after five" that same afternoon have been mailed by Mr. and Mrs. Jere Patterson, who will be housewarming their new apartment in St. Paul street, part of the Crilly court area.

The Crilly court neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Justin A. Stanley are being invited to cocktails on Friday, Nov. 27, to see the colored movies that Mr. Stanley took of all the neighborhood mothers, fathers, and children in a Sunday parade.

In a flash of whimsy over approaching gasoline rationing, the junior associates of the Woman's Athletic club are calling their informal dinner-dance on Friday the "Last Gas . . . p." Mrs. John Haverkampf, chairman of the party, and Mrs. Kingsley Colton and Mrs. Herbert Kochs, who are working with her, are arranging for cocktails from 7 to 8:30 o'clock. Dinner will be served from 7 o'clock on. One of the largest parties will be that of Mrs. Colton, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles D. Peacock, and Mrs. Walter Langtry, who are entertaining jointly for 50 guests. Others with reservations for parties include Mrs. Kochs, Miss Lillian and Miss Myrtle Lampert, Mrs. Edwin W. Sims Jr., Mrs. Willard Jaques, and Mrs. Haverkampf.

The Kenilworth club's invitations for its "pre-ration" dinner-dance on Friday night went out printed, appropriately enough, on little paper sacks. Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. La Chance, Mr. and Mrs. Axel A. Hofgren, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Smith form the committee for the party.

Elise Jones' Betrothal Announced at Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sinks Jones of Evanston entertained at a family party last Sunday to announce the engagement of their daughter, Elise, to John Arberry Haney, son of Mrs. Joseph Walker of Ada, Okla. Miss Jones is a senior at Northwestern university, from which her fiancé received his master's degree. He is in the United States signal corps reserve and expects to go into the army shortly.

The North Shore Junior Board of Northwestern University settlement is holding an open house for members and friends from 3 to 5 o'clock today at the Georgian hotel in Evanston. Special guests will be Miss Harriet Vittum, Mrs. Joseph W. Sharpe, Mrs. Arlington Harvey, Mrs. Edward P. Welles, and Mrs. Norman Westerhold.

Miss Carol Fox is entertaining 12 young women at dinner at the Electric club tonight and taking her guests afterward to hear the Chicago Opera company performance of "Mignon" in the Civic Opera house. The Carlo Peronis, Mr. and Mrs. Fortune Gallo, and Mrs. Edward A. Leight also will be guests of Miss Fox.

Gads Hill Center Board Giving Shopping Feast.

Another kind of party is planned for today by the Winnetka board of Gads Hill center, a Christmas shopping feast at the Winnetka home of Mrs. Walter F. Straub, 1250 Westmoor road. From 10 until 5 o'clock friends of the board and others in search of Christmas gifts may browse thru this "Sale of Treasures" for unusual and lovely items. Mrs. Noble MacFarlane is chairman of the sale.

Young women who come into the city for parties this winter will not find returning home so easy, if they live in the suburbs, when gasoline rationing arrives. The Chicago Junior league has been reminding its members that they may use the clubrooms in the Ambassador East to rest in or to change clothes before dinner, and also as a meeting place. The Seneca hotel has devised a post-debutantes' plan whereby young women who come in from the country for parties may spend the night in an apartment reserved for them. Among the first to use the plan were Miss Phyllis and Miss Sylvia Peter, who often are included in parties for naval reserve school midshipmen and officers from the navy pier. Miss Phyllis Peter has a war job at the War Production board, and her sister is attending the Lake College of Commerce in Waukegan.

Cordon Plans Card Party for Next Monday Night.

The Cordon club is planning a gala card party for next Monday night at which the prize for each table will be a cake for a soldier. The club itself will deliver the cake, or the winners may take the cake prizes away with them, and the club reminds its members that the service men's center is right next door. Hot spiced cider and doughnuts will be served, and Chicago friends of the Frontier Nursing service in Kentucky are packing off Christmas boxes to the service's headquarters in order that most of the supplies may be hauled in early from the railroad. Warm clothing and shoes, woolen garments for babies, knives and balls for boys, and toys and dolls for girls and little children are some of the articles the service is asking for to help make its Christmas a gay one. Boxes should be sent by parcel post to Hyden, Ky., and by freight or express to Hazard, Ky.

Chicago Leaders in American Women's Voluntary Services

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Directing the destinies of the American Women's Voluntary services in Chicago are Mrs. Potter Palmer (left), chairman of the board; Mrs. Watson McLallen (center), president, and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, state director. The AWVS, organized here only two months ago, has reached a membership of more than 3,000 and is conducting 22 classes in services helpful to the war effort.

Women In War Work . . . . By Kate Massee

Col. Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois director of selective service, has advised wives of childless married men who are soon to be drafted to find jobs. Letters to this column have convinced us of women's willingness to go to work, and they seek advice on how to go about it. Returning to business or industry after several years of keeping house means, first, getting the job. Many housewives may be at a loss as to where to go to ask for one.

Those women who can qualify for war production training courses and can maintain themselves for the average 10 weeks of classes can be fairly sure of better than average positions. In the Chicago area these classes are held at the Illinois Institute of Technology, the University of Chicago, Northwestern and De Paul universities, and Central YMCA and Wheaton colleges.

Ordnance inspection, offered at Illinois Tech, is an earn-as-you-learn course. Students receive $120 a month. Selection of candidates is thru civil service and the Chicago ordnance district. High school education is a prerequisite for this training.

Civil service enrolls workers for all government agencies now under war emergency appointments. Among the newest announcements of opportunities are for teletype operators at $1,440 to $1,620 a year and junior chemists at $2,000 a year and chemical aids at $1,800.

Opportunities available thru civil service range from typist to personnel worker. Information about the classifications of work are available in room 1105 New Postoffice building.

Another source is the United States Employment service, which has 12 community offices in Chicago. Women who do not know the location of their nearest office should call Franklin 6900.

These community offices provide information about jobs and about the job training available in Chicago's public vocational schools. An adviser will go over the applicant's qualifications and tell her what training is available.

In general, classes are in the late afternoon or evening. A student may attend 30 hours a week for eight weeks or 15 hours a week for 16 weeks. Training includes such fields as aircraft engine, assembly, sheet-metal, woodwork, arc welding, armature winding, electricity, radio and communications, and machine shop.

A class in retail training especially designed for housewives is opening Monday at Washburne Trade school, Division and Sedgwick streets. It meets mornings from 9 until 11. Registration for this, too, is thru the United States Employment service.

Women interested in the government courses offered at the universities and colleges may inquire at the individual schools or write their qualifications to this department. We will provide names of courses for which they appear best suited.

Students are being registered now for nurses' aid courses beginning on Monday at Ingalls Memorial hospital in Harvey, St. Francis hospital in Blue Island, and West Suburban hospital in Oak Park. A minimum of 30 applicants is required to start a class, a number which as yet has not been reached at Ingalls hospital. The class will have to be canceled unless more volunteers are enrolled, Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, chairman of the Red Cross volunteer nurses' aid corps, has announced. Mrs. Spiegel also said that the Harvey community needs an adequate number of aids for emergency service with OCD medical squads and casualty stations.

Women of 18 to 50 should apply for training at Red Cross headquarters, 529 South Wabash avenue. West Suburban hospital will train aids to serve at Hines hospital, where they are especially needed.

Thirteen more Chicago women who have joined the WAVES will leave for Stillwater, Okla., this morning to enter yeoman training at Oklahoma A. & M. The new WAVES are Elaine Barg and Annabelle Dean, formerly copywriters; Cecilia Brozowski, who was in industrial work, and Dorothy Burtch, Lois Elkins, Clare Flanagan, Marjorie Gist, Phyllis Hughes, Helen Kisla, Evelyn Pfetzing, Mildred Puerner, Irene Setlak, and Corinne Sherman, all of whom were in office or secretarial positions.

A second refresher course for volunteers who desire to assist in the Chicago nutrition program is announced by Dr. Ruth Cowan Clouse, chairman of the Chicago nutrition committee, sponsor of the course. Dr. Clouse also is head of the department of home economics at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The first class session was held last night from 7:30 until 9 o'clock at Red Cross headquarters, 529 South Wabash avenue, room 405. Classes will be held every Tuesday and Thursday evening for five weeks at the same time and place.

No fee will be charged for registration, but registrants will be expected to volunteer to teach at least two courses to lay groups such as the Red Cross Parent-Teacher association, and OCD.

The course has been planned for prospective teachers already prepared for such teaching but interested in authentic information concerning recent scientific developments in the field. Dr. Margaret Hessler Brooks of the home economics department of the University of Chicago is director, assisted by a group of home economics experts.

Application for admission to the course should be made to Jana Glenn Krause, Red Cross headquarters.

Six Wisconsin nurses have been appointed to the army nurse corps with relative rank of second lieutenant, according to an announcement by Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding general of the 6th service command. They are Merla M. Frank, Myrtle M. Musch, Ethel K. Schmidt, and Eleanor King, all of Milwaukee; Marie L. Benson of Wausau, and Elaine A. Roe of Whitewater.

Sixty men stationed at Camp Grant will be guests of the students of Rosary college at a supper-dance next Sunday from 3 until 7 o'clock. The party will be sponsored by the social action academy of the Rosary guild, student religions organization. Margaret Callahan of Fort Wayne, Ind., is general chairman.

WPB Puts New Restrictions on Kitchen Utensils

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—The War Production board today placed further drastic restrictions on the output of housewives' kitchen utensils by limiting production of metal kitchen tools to a handful of items. The order, effective next Monday, prohibits the use of metal altogether for kitchen bins, boxes, and other containers.

Except for some articles of cutlery, and enamel and cast iron cooking utensils permitted in earlier orders and other eight items no metal cooking utensils may be made except black steel frying pans 8 to 12 inches in diameter and heavy duty black steel roasting pans.

The eight articles permitted are basting spoons, cake turners, can openers, egg beaters, food choppers and grinders, food mills, wire strainers, and wire whips. The use of metal in these items is restricted to 35 per cent of normal.

Among articles for which metal is prohibited entirely are jar openers, bottle openers, flour sifters, dippers, scoops, slicers, corers, mashers, graters, cutters, sieves, cork screws, and skewers. Also forbidden are metal rinsing pans, pot scourers, dust pans, silent butlers, crumb sets, wash boards, and clothes wringers.

Kitchen metal tools which may be produced only for the armed services are butter cutters, dippers, French fry cutters, nutmeg graters, skimmers, sugar and flour scoops, and vegetable graters.

Storage equipment for which metal is ruled out includes vegetable bins, canisters, bread and cake boxes, cookie containers, spice sets, lunch boxes, and garbage receptacles having foot pedal lid tilting devices.

All vacuum jugs and bottles are ruled out except those with a capacity of one quart or less, which may be produced at one half of normal output.

WPB said today's regulation is the last of a series of orders affecting kitchen equipment.

Previously the amount of iron and steel for cutlery was reduced to 60 per cent of normal for such articles used in preparing food, and to 35 per cent for eating utensils.

Last month the WPB ordered a reduction from 450 to 25 in the types of kitchen enamelware produced and cut the use of metal in enamelware by 25 per cent.

It also reduced the types of cast iron kitchenware manufactured from 200 to 12 types, and cut the use of cast iron by 50 to 75 per cent in items produced henceforth.

The WPB also issued an order early this month cutting to 50 per cent of normal the manufacture of galvanized garbage cans, wash boilers, and fire shovels, and to 10 per cent the output of galvanized pails and washtubs. Prohibited was the use of galvanized steel for all other household items such as watering pots, rubbish cans, radiator pans, and foot baths.

Manufacturers and stores have on hand quantities of the items curbed in today's order, so the effect of the edict may not be felt for some months, it was said.

Engagements

Mrs. Leslie J. Solomon of the Belden-Stratford hotel announces the engagement of her daughter, Jane Claire, to Corp. Arthur M. Oppenheimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Oppenheimer of Highland Park. The announcement was made last night at the wedding reception of Corp. Oppenheimer's sister, Miss Janet Cecile Oppenheimer, and Sam F. Seessel.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrissy of East 54th street announce the engagement of their daughter, Marion, to Pvt. Rodney Funk, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Funk of Lewiston, Idaho. Pvt. Funk received his degree from the Northern Illinois College of Optometry ust before entering the army. At present he is stationed with the medical corps in Panama.

Herma Clark Program.

Miss Herma Clark, Tribune writer, will give her program of monologues, "Bustles and Bangs," before the Women of Rotary at a luncheon meeting today in the Hotel Sherman.

"Wedding Postponed"

SYNOPSIS.

Guests arrive at the church for the wedding of Tessa Devlin and elderly Jayson Plaice, friend of Tessa's father, Tom, multimillionaire. Tessa has only recently come to live with her father, whom she had not seen since babyhood. Guests speculate as to whether Carol Kimbark, who had set her cap for Jayson, will attend the wedding. Alice Devlin, Tessa's stepmother, and Uncle Billy Boomer, friend of the Devlin's, are among the guests. The minister comes forward and announces the wedding has been postponed. The guests do not know that Tessa is running away from a cottage where a woman lies killed. The story flashes back 10 months to where Uncle Billy Boomer barges into Phoebe, Inc., fashionable dressmaking establishment run by Mrs. Phoebe Carson and Kate McLaughlin. He wants to buy the establishment, but ends by selling Mrs. Carson a cottage near the Devlin estate, not far from Carol Kimbark's summer home. Mrs. Carson's son, Bart, is an interne.

INSTALMENT III.
TESSA'S PAST.

"Now you take gold mining. I've had a lot of experience in gold mining myself up in British Columbia before I went into the copra business in Samoa. Went prospecting three, four times with a friend o' mine, Elmer Schreckengast.

"Elmer always says you can make the richest strike on the country, but if you ain't got the capital to develop it, you . . ."

Alice Devlin, straining as always to be the perfect hostess, nervously cast about for some topic to break the log jam of Uncle Billy's monolog.

"Do you—I mean are you all going to the Quatre Arts pageant tomorrow night?" she inquired loudly and brightly, and was rewarded by an instant response that left Uncle Billy practically talking to himself. Even the men grabbed onto the life line.

"We're going to see the gowns we'll probably have to pay for during the coming season," Thomas Devlin said, and laughed ruefully with the other men present. "Some sort of a fashion parade, Alice tells me."

"Some sort of a fashion parade. It's the parade of the season. Phoebe and Axinia are both showing." Carol Kimbark was slightly indignant at Devlin's light treatment of such an important event. Even Jay's impressed. He's going with me."

"Well, he can enjoy himself. He won't have to be thinking all the time what it's going to cost him. These bachelors!"

Two women of the company exchanged sotto voce comments. "As if the price of a gown or two bothered Tom Devlin!"

"My dear, very rich people are always that way. It's sort of a pose."

Carol Kimbark hooked her arm thru Alice Devlin's. "Phoebe's doing a heavenly new gown for me. It's a deep blue with . . ." The two women wandered off, deep in the intricacies of the feminine couture, and the rest of the Devlin guests broke up into small knots of talk that left Uncle Billy stranded and irascible.

He knocked out his pipe and jammed it into the shapeless pocket of his old sack suit, so incongruous in the company of black and white dinner jackets, and stalked morosely thru the long wide rooms of the Devlin penthouse.

"How do the Devlins put up with that old man?" one of the sotto voices went on. "You'd think that at least when they had guests he'd make himself scarce."

"O no, my dear, that's precisely the time when he shines. It must be all of 10 years now since he has been living with the Devlins, and he always has made himself right at home, as if he owned the place. It burns Alice up, but she just has to grin and bear it."

"Why?"

"Well, it seems that once upon a time he saved Tom's life in a landslide or something up there in the mining country, and then he did some kind of trading in the South Seas or something like that, and now he's old and penniless and I suppose Tom feels they owe him something."

"Penniless my eye! Why he has a finger in half a dozen business pies."

"And every one of them losing money. Tom puts up the cash and stands the losses. It's the easiest way of keeping the old boy contented. He seems to get a kick out of fancying himself a big business man. I hear his latest fad's real estate."

"D'you suppose he'll go tomorrow night? Imagine him—at the Quatre Arts pageant." There was a titter of derisive feminine laughter, suddenly broken off as one clutched the arm of the other.

"Will you look at Carol Kimbark? She certainly is making a play for Jayson Plaice."

"Well, I suppose after you've had three husbands you sort of get the hunting habit. And they say she could use some of his money."

At the far end of the long drawing room, Mrs. Carol Kimbark slipped a possessive arm thru Jayson Plaice's. They were an undeniably striking couple. She, lovely and blonde, with a certain stunning breathlessness that not even the onset of the perilous 40's could entirely dispel; and he, broad shouldered, solid, successful.

"Come on, Jay," she was saying "let's get out of this. Let's go over to my place and have a drink."

He looked at her with admiring but slightly mocking eyes. "O, there are plenty of drinks here. Shall I get you one?"

He deftly slipped his arm free of hers and started toward the dining room, but he was intercepted by Thomas Devlin and a knot of men.

"Look here, Jay, Berkeley says that if we have any of that Pacific corporation stock we ought to . . ."

Thomas Devlin, had he possessed any masculine vanity, would have avoided standing beside his handsome business partner in the Atlas Mining company. He was a lean, clean shaven, stringy man with slightly prominent eyes behind his spectacles, full half a head shorter than Plaice. Altho they were both in their early 50's, Devlin looked at least 10 years older.

He was intensely argumentative now in the midst of the group of men, as his wife on the other side of the drawing room was discreetly apologetic to the three women in whom she was confiding.

"Of course, my dears, Tessa's terribly gauche in some ways. And her clothes are awful. I'm taking her to Phoebe next week for a complete outfit."

The four of them cast carefully disguised glances at the girl across the room, standing there uncertainly by two broad windows.

"But Alice darling, I can't decide whether it's all very romantic or simply appalling. I mean suddenly finding out that Tom was married before and here's the grown up daughter. Was there a divorce or what?"

"O, no. She died in childbirth when Tessa was born. It was very sad and he has never talked much about it, not even to me."

"But the child? And all these years?"

"I know. It's a long story. I'll tell you some time. The problem now is to—well, to make her presentable. After all, she has lived all her life in a remote mission station up in the hills in India, except these last three years when she was in training in a hospital in Bombay. She wants to go on training here so she can get a job and work. Imagine!"

The three of them joined in Alice Devlin's uncomprehending laugh.

The girl by the windows hesitated and then moved slowly down the length of the long drawing room, uncertain, strangely alien, but unconscious of the whispering women or the arguing men. As she passed the group of men, Jayson Plaice's eyes followed her.

At the archway into the foyer she paused again. Then decision seemed to take hold of her. She crossed the foyer to a coat closet, took a rough topcoat from a hook, wrapped it around her and slipped out of a door leading onto a penthouse terrace.

A fine October rain fell slowly, monotonously, its mist distorting the lights of the city 30 stories below. She shivered, but flung her head back and took great gulps of cold air.

She leaned against the parapet and let the rain play on her face and cling in fine mist to her dark hair. She shut her eyes, and her thoughts flowed back across the months, across the ocean, and thru the heavy Indian jungle to the mission station in the hills that was still "home" altho she would never see it again.

Never again home! Never again fa—— She choked on that word so bound up with the incredible conflict that her life had become.

But he was, she told herself fiercely. He was her father, that great, gentle man who had worn out his life in those far off hills and who slept now beneath their harsh verdue. He was her father. Not that one there in the chattering room behind her.

It wasn't true. Blood wasn't thicker than water. The accident of begetting didn't make a father. It was love, patient, gentle, shared with hardship and small triumphs and great sacrifices. Love, deep-welled, selfless, wise.

But not all wise. That letter he had left her. That was her only reproach. In the damp cold of a Manhattan rooftop she lived again those last three months.

She was back in the American Evangelical hospital in Bombay where the busy, happy months of training were suddenly broken by that frightening summons back to the hills. "Dr. Shaw desperately ill. Come . . ."

She had made the long journey by train, by river boat, and finally by mule-back to the distant station where for 18 years Dr. Robert Shaw had maintained the Evangelical Medical mission, and fought singlehanded for the health and life and deliverance of an oppressed people. She had arrived just three days before he died.

Study of Child Is Advised to End Tantrums

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

She is an older woman and has fallen upon what we call "evil days." But she is full of courage and pieces out the two ends of her tiny income by taking care of other people's children for part of the day or in the evenings, when they occasionally want to go out. She is really interested in children and is very good with them, even tho she had none of her own. Some of the children are very sweet and she grows very fond of them, and some are very trying, but she takes them all in her stride. She was telling us about one of the trying children.

"He has tantrums and he has them wherever he happens to be," she said. "One of the first days I had to take him out he went into action right in the middle of the sidewalk. At first I tried to talk to him, but it didn't require much wit to see that that was a futile performance. So I simply stood to one side and waited. Presently two beautifully dressed women came along, stopped and looked at him and then at me. I'm sure they thought I was a cruel, cold creature, so they leaned over him and talked sweetly to him, asking what was the matter and trying to help him up. He only stopped screaming long enough to shoot out his fists, which knocked the bright red hat of one of them half off her head. With an angry jerk she straightened up. 'You're a naughty boy,' she said, and they both hurried away.

"The screaming and kicking began again, and two more women passed by, then stopped, looked at Harold and then at me. 'Poor little thing,' they said. 'What's the matter, little boy? Come, get up. Come, let us help you.' They, too, leaned over solicitiously and cooed at him. Out whanged his fists again and off into the gutter flew a handoag. Sweetness was replaced by honest anger. 'You nasty little boy! You ought to have a spanking,' they said and flounced off.

"In the lull which followed I said quietly, 'When you're quiet, Harold, you can get up and I'll take you home. But I don't care how long you stay there. I have my book to read,' and I found a stone coping to sit on and pretended to be lost in reading. What a surprised child he was! In a few minutes, when he could see that I meant what I said and wasn't bluffing, he got up looking sheepish, and touched my arm. 'I want to go home,' he said, 'I'm hungry.' I found out later that his tantrums were habitual, and always stood the entire household on end."

Generalities are not my long suit. But I think tantrums, which usually arise in the early years, usually tie up with one of two things: Overindulgence of a child and the centering of attention upon him, and with the opposite, an unreasonable degree of blocking and frustration of his normal activities and desires, or a lack of interest in him.

In the first case, a small boy or girl develops an inordinate taste for attention. Children love attention and get used to having it. Also they love excitement. In the second case, the tantrum may not be a craving for attention but from being neglected, or it may be a frantic outlet for feeling helpless or trapped in the face of the superior force.

My friend dealt wisely with the immediate and certainly unexpected situation. A mother however, who found her child going berserk like this repeatedly, would need to do more than that. She would need to study her child and her own treatment of him, then provide him with an intelligent kind of interest and gratification of his deeper desires and needs, or make whatever other revisions she sensed were necessary in his life.

This is the 30th in our series of articles written especially for the parents of young children.

Contributions Are Made to Ice and Camp Funds

The Thomas A. Rutherford Charitable Trust contributed gifts of $11.84 to both the Ice Fund and the Camp Algonquin Fund yesterday. The Ice Fund, which supplies ice for the needy of the city each summer, reached a total of $851.80 and the Camp Algonquin Fund, which provides vacations for underprivileged children and their mothers at the United Charities camp on the Fox river, equaled $953.41. All donations are gratefully acknowledged in these columns. They should be addressed to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago.

The Housewife

An odorless, liquid, all-purpose cleaner is a handy item to keep in your cleaning closet. One that has been found to be most efficient comes bottled in several sizes and can be used for a spot on your wool dress as well as to clean the painted woodwork, or the carpet. Two 9x12 rugs can be cleaned with a gallon of this liquid. Its makers state it contains no soap, acid, or ammonia.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question 21: Both sides vulnerable; both 80 part-score. The bidding goes:

North	East	South	West

What call do you make?

YESTERDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 20: Neither side vulnerable, the bidding has gone:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	Pass	2 diamonds
3 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

You are West and hold:

♠5 3 ♥K J 6 4 ♦J 7 5 ♣J 6 4 2

What card do you lead?

Answer: West's best opening is a trump. It is extremely unlikely that a lead of partner's suit is either necessary or advisable. With considerable heart strength in your own hand, your best chance to defeat the contract appears to be to break up a potential cross-ruff, thereby assuring to the greatest possible degree that you will win two heart tricks. [Fifteen points demerit for the lead of any diamond; 25 points dem. for a club lead; 50 points dem. for a heart lead.]

TODAY'S HAND.

Both sides vulnerable.
North-South 30 part-score.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	Pass	3 spades
Pass	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened his singleton spade; East won and played two more rounds of the suit. On the third round West was tempted to force dummy's heart ace with the nine or ten, but, with rare foresight, resisted the impulse and, instead, discarded a second club.

After ruffing the third spade with dummy's heart five, declarer cashed the ace, then entered his own hand with a diamond. Now came the crucial play—and declarer guessed wrong! Forced to take out trumps, he led the queen. East won and returned another spade—and now, whatever declarer played, West was sure to win the setting trick with the heart ten.

If declarer had guessed that East had started with king and one trump, he could have made his contract by driving out the king with a low trump. But if West had forced dummy to ruff with the heart ace, declarer scarcely could have gone wrong.

The more I hear about coffee hoarders the madder I get. What do you think of this woman's patriotism: "O, well, I guess my family will get along all right," she said to a companion on a bus, loudly enough for fellow passengers to hear, "I've got 45 pounds of coffee put away!"

A good many persons of my acquaintance are turning to cereal beverages as the hot drink for breakfast or dinner in order not to exceed the cup of coffee a day quota. And they're being surprised and pleased at how delicious these preparations can be.

There's a plentiful supply of fresh winter pears for homemakers to include in their nutritious menus. Winter pears never are ripened on the tree; they are ripened after picking. A temperature of about 67 degrees is right for developing their fine flavor and juiciness. They shouldn't be refrigerated before they are fully ripe, or they'll not have the flavor they'd have otherwise.

There's a campaign on to get wholesalers to ripen pears for the retailer, so that the homemaker may buy them always perfectly ripe and ready for eating.

Fresh pears are a good idea for the lunchpail. Pear sauce, pear cobbler, even pear pie can be perfectly delicious.

Brown sugar sauce is wonderful with steamed puddings. If you've made the pudding with molasses or honey and can afford to use a cupful of your precious brown sugar, try this. It's good with any of the puddings which appeared in yesterday's column, too.

Brown Sugar Sauce for Steamed Puddings.

1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, flour, salt, water, and butter. Cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Serve warm. Maple flavoring can be used in place of vanilla. Black walnut also is good.

Flank steak may be among the economy meats one of these weekends, and then perhaps you'll want this good recipe to guide you in its preparation. Flank steak will become tender if it's braised, and it has a lot of good flavor prepared this way.

Creole Flank Steak.
[Serves six.]

1 large flank steak
⅓ cup flour
Salt, pepper
Fat for browning
SAUCE:
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup finely cut celery
¼ cup chopped onion
1 cup whole ripe olives
1 cup well seasoned tomato sauce
1 tablespoon paprika
¼ teaspoon salt

Have the dealer score the steak for you. Pound the flour into it thoroly and cut into serving pieces. Brown on both sides in hot fat, and season with salt and pepper. Cover and cook gently until tender, over very low heat, about 45 minutes, perhaps longer. Transfer meat to a baking dish. Add green pepper, celery, and onion to the drippings in the pan and let cook for about 5 minutes. Cut olives from pits and add with tomato sauce, paprika, and salt. Use more salt, if needed. Pour over meat in casserole and bake 20 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Oatmeal Dreams.
[Rich Filled Cookies.]
[About 40 small cookies.]

½ cup shortening
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick cooking oatmeal
¼ cup sour cream [about]

Cream shortening and sugar together until light and fluffy. Sift flour, soda, and salt together and stir in oatmeal. Add to creamed mixture, working in with fingers as for pastry. Add sour cream to moisten, just enough to hold the mixture together. Roll out as for pie crust and cut in squares or rounds. Place spoonful of filling on half the squares and top with remaining squares. Press edges together and prick tops with fork. Bake in moderately hot [375 degrees] oven for 15 minutes.

Date Filling.

½ pound dates, cut in pieces
½ cup sugar
½ cup boiling water
Juice of half an orange

Annual Parish Party.

The annual parish party of the Our Lady of Mount Carmel church will be held in the parish community building at 700 Belmont avenue tonight. Mrs. William Trinkaus is general chairman. Msgr. Joseph A. Casey, pastor of the church, will be receiving congratulations on the silver jubilee of his pastorate.

Patterns for Night Attire

SLEEPYTIME ATTIRE.

Plenty of rest is one of the national prescriptions for health. To get that rest, night clothes are important. They must be comfortable and, often, especially warm. These patterns are timely and easy to follow.

Style No. 3034 is designed for sizes, 1, 2, 4, and 6. Size 4 requires, for garment with feet, 2½ yards of 35 inch material; for collarless pajamas, 2¼ yards.

Style No. 2926 is designed for 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, and 52 inch bust measurements. Size 42 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material with 2⅛ yards of lace.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost (coin preferred—wrap it carefully), for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The autumn pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Feeling Is Lacking in Recital Playing of Young Violinist

Hard work and good basic training obviously had gone into Adele Modjeska's recital at Kimball hall last night, yet it was a dull recital because Miss Modjeska's playing had not stepped out of the diligence of the studio into the sharp focus of public performance. It lacked temperament. Into Corelli's "La Folia" and the Conus concerto, the young violinist put a good basic tone and an intelligent musical knowledge, but she had no feeling for the blandishing curve of a phrase or the impast of sensitive timing. These qualities were hinted at later in a Moffat arrangement of a jocund little piece called "Mr. Shield's giocoso," but they were quite lost in a Bach sicilienne. Only Miss Modjeska can coax them into doing her full service, and her playing full justice.—C. C.

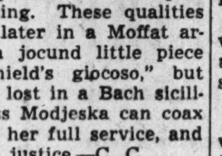
BRUSH AWAY GRAY HAIR ..AND LOOK 10 YEARS YOUNGER



● Now, at home, you can quickly and easily tint telltale streaks of gray to natural-appearing shades—from lightest blonde to darkest black. Brownatone and a small brush does it—or your money back. Used for 30 years by thousands of women (men, too)—Brownatone is guaranteed harmless. No skin test needed, active coloring agent is purely vegetable. Cannot affect waving of hair. Lasting—does not wash out. Just brush or comb it in. One application imparts desired color. Simply retouch as new gray appears. Easy to prove by tinting a test lock of your hair. 60c and $1.65 (5 times as much) at drug or toilet counters on a money-back guarantee. Ask for BROWNATONE. Get it today.

Good Morning!

One penitent's dream of creating a worthwhile life for himself and others like him is realized in "City of Silent Men."

This is a brief, well acted and moderately interesting programmer. The "city" is a town where an idle canning factory is put into operation for the purpose of providing work for ex-convicts—the "silent men" of the title. . . . Men who, because of their records, have been unable to find work.

The venture meets with opposition by the press and many citizens, both good and bad. . . . Trouble and a murder ensue—which are in no way the fault of the factory workers. . . . But finally, as I said, a dream comes true.

There's a bit of a surprise for you toward the end.

Main rôles are handled competently by Frank Albertson, Dick Curtis, William Gould, Jan Wiley, and Emmett Lynn. . . . June Lang is prettily there with come hither eyes and a lot of hair. . . . Perhaps there's talent under the decor—but I wouldn't know.

See you soon.

Louis Adamic to Speak.

Louis Adamic, author of "The Native's Return" and other works, will speak at a Town Hall meeting of members and guests of the Adolph Kraus lodge of B'nai B'rith this evening in the Covenant club.

Music Note

The Chicago Opera company announces that Jennie Tourel, French mezzo soprano, will replace Gladys Swarthout in the title rôle of "Mignon" at the Civic Opera house this evening. Miss Swarthout, reported ill with a cold, has canceled all performances for a week. Miss Tourel appeared here in "Mignon" in 1931, singing the rôle of Frederick. She has sung the name part more than 200 times with the Opéra Comique in Paris and in 1937 sang it at the Metropolitan Opera in New York. She recently was chosen by Arturo Toscanini as soloist in Berlioz's "Romeo and Juliet," which opened the New York Philharmonic Symphony season.

Thru the Looking Glass

There are obvious reasons why most women change from light to somewhat heavier creams in cold weather. The reasons for changing from lighter to heavier perfumes aren't so apparent. Your skin cries for richer oils when cold wind is sapping it, but why you want richer, warmer perfumes when you don your heavier coats and furs you don't quite know. You do, tho. They are somehow more suitable with winter raiment.

A cool flower scent isn't appropriate with dark wools or furs, you've probably noticed. You want something spicier and more sophisticated.

One of our favorities, on fur or with furs, was created especially for them. If clings to fur, improves on it and makes the wearer feel that her furs are far more flattering and luxurious than they were before. It's a lovely perfume, one that can't be defined easily, and all its sophisticated charm and rather deep, smoldering undertones seem exactly right when you're dressed in your winter best.

Frankly, this is rather a dramatic perfume, and one you might call exotic, tho it isn't, thank heaven, the least bit vulgar. It wouldn't do with your gingham gowns, tho; it's for the occasions when you want to feel glamorous and distinguished and smartly turned out.

This same perfume furnishes the scent for a superlatively good cologne that can be used as a daytime fragrance, and there is also a bath powder. Women who like alluring, but smooth fragrance— and can wear it well—will find these perfect, especially during a season when they dress more elegantly than usual.

"Breakfast of Champions"

Looking at Hollywood . . . By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 17.—Now that David Selznick has turned over his stories and stars to Twentieth Century, it's likely that the first production to come out of the deal will be Quentin Reynold's story, "Only the Stars Are Neutral," which Twentieth now owns. Alfred Hitchcock will direct, and Joan Fontaine will star in it. . . . David, as you know, is going to make war pictures for the duration. For 11 successive years the exhibitors have voted him America's No. 1 producer. If any man is going to make war pictures as they should be made, David is that man. I've said before that he was tops when he worked, and now he's at work—on the best possible type of work he could do in these times. Congratulations, David.

David Selznick.

One Way to Fame.

Every year there is a dark horse. This year's, with interest by three studios, is Mary Lucille Armstrong of New York, "America's most murdered girl." If that puzzles you, it means only this—that Mary has been posing for those detective and mystery magazine covers which always show a girl being stabbed, throttled, mangled by a gorilla, shot by a gunman, or trussed by a fiend. Last month she was on seven covers simultaneously, and being slain in seven different ways. . . . Producer Damon Runyon carries his personal gin rummy score pads with him. The top, where the names of the players are written in, reads: Damon-Pigeon. . . . From United Artists comes word that the company is looking for "a Howard Dietz" to handle its promotion and advertising. Don't flood the mail with applications, boys. Maybe there is only one Howard Dietz.

Tall Girls Wanted.

Whatever became of Hunt Stromberg's ambition to import six giant showgirls from New York for his "G-String Murder" picture? He could have saved time and moved faster by hiring one of them right here in Hollywood. She's Helen O'Hara, 6 feet 2 inches tall and beautiful as all get-out. Warner Brothers has popped her under contract, so Hunt is too late on that one. She's the daughter of Illustrator Henry Clive. . . . But Hunt can redeem himself and tie in with something worth trying to. Out here there's a club called the Tall Toppers. Men have to be more than 6 feet 2, and girls more than 6 feet. I saw an outing of them at the beach the other day—the loveliest Dianas you ever saw. You're welcome, Hunt!

Tsk, Tsk!

What's all this about Red Skelton's ructions with Lucille Ball during filming of "Du Barry Was a Lady?" Three extras have reported that Lucille left the set twice because of the goings-on and bad tempers. If it's true, take it easy, Red. You can be a star without running a currycomb over other people's sensibilities. . . . Fellow travelers tell me that Victor Mature will soon be on transport duty to the South Pacific. . . . Not even in "Ecstasy" were Hedy Lamarr's pictures as sexy as those taken for "White Cargo." The more I see of them, the more surprised I am.

Just the Thing!

Mike Curtiz, who's directing "Mission to Moscow," asked the Boy Scouts who are playing members of the Hitler Youth organization whether they could sing a German song in march tempo. "Sure," piped up one boy, "'Der Fuehrer's Face!'" . . . John Payne and Jack Oakie had some fun with that Bantam that June Havoc drives. The minute they discovered it could be lifted by two men, there was no stopping them, and it ended up in the men's dressing room on the "Hello, Frisco, Hello" set, with poor June spending all day looking for it. . . . That all-girl band recruited for "Salute for Three" has turned out to be so good that Dona Drake, who was formerly Rita Rio, leader of an all-girl band, wants to take it out on a tour of army camps. . . . Twentieth Century is going to make a picture called "Wags"—all about the dogs that are recruited and trained for war duty. . . . Gail Patrick and Susan Hayward will do their first screen singing in "Hit Parade." . . . Dinah Shore's doing such a good job in "Thank Your Lucky Stars" that they're building up her part.

Old Fashioned Welcome.

Fay McKenzie, who arrived in San Juan, Puerto Rico, last week with Desi Arnaz and Billy and Ella Gilbert, to entertain troops in the Caribbean area, wrote the Hollywood victory committee that the soldiers there turned the tables and gave them a typical Hollywood "première"—pre-dim-out variety, with searchlights, a jive band, and introducing of celebrities over a loudspeaker system. . . . Beauty parlors are so interested in Ginger Rogers' new hair shade in "One Upon a Honeymoon" that RKO is sending out complete information and color pictures. Watch for a new fad—the "Ginger Blonde." . . . New York Frame and Picture company, which has been supplying America with pictures of its war heroes and actors since 1895, reports that in the last three days it has had calls for more than 250,000 pictures of Lieut. Gen. Eisenhower; within 24 hours after Maj. Mark Clark's exploits were announced, close to 94,000 pictures of him were ordered; Jimmy Stewart's photo has been most in demand of all movie stars, since Pearl Harbor; and, since the bombing of Tokio, there's been a tremendous call for photos of Jimmy Doolittle by Chinese. . . . Lou Costello had his 4 year old Carole on the set and she was watching proceedings from the side car of his motor scooter. After Lou finished a very funny scene that had every one on the stage in stitches, he looked at Carole, who hadn't even cracked a smile. "She'll laugh when we get home, or I'll know why!" said Lou in disgust.

C. Y. O. FIGHTERS CLASH TONIGHT IN TITLE BOUTS

RUN OFF FINALS IN NOVICE AND OPEN DIVISIONS

Six Sailors to Make Championship Bids.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Sixteen new champions—eight in the open class and eight in the novice—will be crowned in the finals of the 12th annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament in Ashland auditorium, Ashland boulevard and Van Buren street, tonight. The first of the 16 bouts will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Tho there are no defending champions five of the 1941 finalists again have qualified for the championship round in the 1942 meet. These are Bertrand White, featherweight, and Melvin Johnson, lightweight, both of Corpus Christi; Ed Kaminski, St. Rose of Lima heavyweight; Mike Sarno, St. Francis of Rome, light heavyweight, and Ted Varnadoe, St. Joseph, bantamweight.

White a Veteran.

In last year's open division finals White was runnerup to Ray Murray, Johnson finished second to Al Reasoner, and Kaminski was runnerup to Harry Stephens, while in the novice finals Sarno stopped Carmen Caputo, and Varnadoe beat Ralph Reitan.

Varnadoe and Sarno each returns this evening in an attempt to win his first title in the experienced class, the former against Lloyd Watts of Holy Family, and Sarno against James Lemon, Precious Blood. White is paired with Henry Vera, a former Golden Gloves novice title holder; Johnson is matched with Tommy Burns, representative of Navy pier, who went all the way to the semifinals before being eliminated in the 1942 Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions, and Kaminski is paired with Blaze Zorich, St. Raphael parish.

Bonetti Faces Hudson.

Only one change has been made in the big show, Wally Klingele, a fighting marine from Yakima, Wash., being substituted for Carlyle Coots of Navy pier in the novice heavyweight final. Klingele won a medal in a recent tournament held at the pier. Bonetti, who is a native of Pleasanton, Cal., and Bray, who comes from Miltonvale, Kas., also won pier titles.

Bonetti, who is 22 years old and a slugger, will try conclusions with Rudy Hudson, Corpus Christi, who is quite a puncher himself. Sergio was a student at San Jose college until he entered the service last June. The 21 year old Bray's opponent will be Dick McAllister, another standard bearer of Corpus Christi.

The team championship appears to rest between Navy pier and Corpus Christi. Each has six color bearers remaining in the tournament.

Tonight's fights are preliminary to the impending competitions in the Service Men's league and Golden Gloves.

Expect Capacity Crowd.

Qualifiers will weigh in this afternoon at CYO center gymnasium. Each will undergo medical tests by Dr. James V. Russell, examining physician for the CYO.

Peter A. Fosco, chairman of the arrangements committee, is making plans to handle a capacity crowd of 4,500 in the Ashland auditorium. Tickets will go on sale at the west side arena at 7 o'clock. Admission is $1.10.

The first match will be between Jedd Nichols, St. James, Arlington Heights, and Efran Garcia, All Saints, for the novice flyweight championship. After the eight novice title contests, a patriotic ceremony will be held. During this period the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago and founder of the CYO, will administer the pledge to the flag and the CYO oath of sportsmanship to the 32 finalists.

Proceeds of the colorful program will go to the West Side Community center of the CYO, the head of which is Anthony M. Inorio.

Pairings and the order in which the bouts will be held follow:

NOVICE CLASS.

118 pounds—Al Nero, St. William, vs. Peter De Simone, St. Jarlath.
147 pounds—George Bray, Navy pier, vs. Dick McAllister, Corpus Christi.
160 pounds—Dick Saburn, Navy pier, vs. Walter Pavilanes, St. Margaret.
175 pounds—Joe Lindsay, Corpus Christi, vs. Ysaias Espinosa, St. James.
Heavyweight—Wallace Klingele, Navy pier, vs. Leo Bagby, Holy Name.

OPEN CLASS.

126 pounds—Bertrand White, Corpus Christi, vs. Henry Vera, St. Agatha.
135 pounds—Tommy Burns, Navy pier, vs. Melvin Johnson, Corpus Christi.
147 pounds—Pedro Lewis, Corpus Christi, vs. Sam Washington, St. Joseph.

MOON MULLINS—FREE SPEECH

They Fight for Titles Tonight

Bears, Cards Tied in Drive for Cadets

It's all-square for the Chicago Bears and Cardinals in their special Navy pilot cadet recruiting drive, staged under the direction of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection board in the Board of Trade building. Each team has signed up 10 future flyers for the fleet, who have been placed in squadrons bearing the names of the two elevens.

Handling the procurement duties for the Bears are John Petty and Frank Maznicki, both of whom will go into training soon as Navy pilot cadets. The Cardinals' recruiting efforts are in charge of Vinc Banonis and Steve Lach, also V-5 cadets. Members of both teams are acting as recruiting agents. Dec. 6 is the deadline of the drive.

Frank Yrigoyen, 5838 W. Superior street.
William Cannady, 1118 Loyola avenue.
Gerald Cornelius, 2673 W. Washington boulevard.
Donald Berlinger, 3830 N. Bell avenue.

Jack Thompson, 4110 N. Keystone avenue.
James Miller, 904 N. Ridgeland avenue.
Dana Danforth, E. Seminary, Onarga, Ill.
Thomas Drinkwater, 4331 N. Francisco avenue.
Alex R. Lloyd, 3730 N. Racine avenue.

Melvin Waldman, 3218 Diversey street.
William Carroll, 7937 Michigan avenue.
Walter Bekta, 3731 W. 57th place.
Elmer Westwood, 11805 S. Lowe street.
George Kerstein, 2739 S. Keeler avenue.
Harry Nielsen, 1746 Humboldt boulevard.
Arthur Jonas, 2101 S. Scoville avenue, Berwyn.
Frank Gregory, 7348 Vernon avenue.
Wilbert C. Streich, 6349 S. Justine avenue.
Daniel Sullivan, 5712 S. Spaulding avenue.

THOMPSON WINS DECISION OVER GUS DORAZIO

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP).—Turkey Thompson of Los Angeles made his eastern debut a successful one tonight, winning a 10 round decision over Gus Dorazio of Philadelphia before before 7,000 fans at the Arena.

Al Tribuani, 153, of Wilmington, Del., won his 11th straight bout against Pedro Tomez, 151, Philadelphia. Tribuani had Tomez on the verge of a knockout several times and had him down for three in the sixth round.

Mayon Padlo, 155¼, Philadelphia, won a technical knockout over Manuel Rosa, 151¾, Baltimore, when Referee Dave Beloff stopped the fight after 46 seconds of the second round. Rosa's eye was severely cut.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 17 (AP).—The Boston Bruins scored their third straight victory, after losing four National Hockey league starts, by outskating Montreal's shorthanded Canadiens for a 4 to 1 decision tonight before a skimpy crowd of 7,500 at the Boston Garden.

Playing 13 men against 12, the Bruins pulled into the lead during the 18th minute when Flash Hollett finished off a five man rush by rifling a 40 foot shot thru Goalie Paul Bibeault after taking a forward pass from Jack Crawford, his defense partner.

O'Connor Ruins Shutout.

Both teams went scoreless during the lively second period, when each drew penalties. Murph Chamberlain slipped the puck into an empty cage after Busher Jackson pulled Bibeault out with a steaming shot during the fifth minute of the last period. The Jackson brothers then gave the Bruins their last two goals, Art converting Bill Cowley's pass thru the defense and Harvey registering Hollett's passout with only 36 seconds remaining.

The Canadiens ruined Frankie Brimsek's shutout hopes midway thru the third period when, with Hollett in the penalty box, Buddy O'Connor headed a three man rush and scored on a high 30 foot shot.

Canadiens Try Hard.

The visitors put on a furious attack during most of the last 10 minutes of play and their overaggressiveness opened the gates for a Hollett breakaway that set up Harvey Jackson's last minute tally. Lineup:

BOSTON [4].		MONTREAL [1].

CUBS SHORT OF CATCHERS; GET WARREN OF PHILS

The Cubs yesterday acted to protect themselves against a possible shortage of catchers in 1943 by acquiring Ben Warren from the Phils on waivers. They paid the waiver price of $7,500.

Acquisition of Warren only partly helps fill the depleted ranks of Cub backstops. The team already has lost Paul Gillespie and Bob Scheffing. Marv Felderman expects to be called into military service within two weeks. Clyde McCullough is married, but there are no little McCulloughs about the family home. Therefore only Chico Hernandez, the Cuban, is likely to be available next spring.

Hockey League Governors Will Debate Player Cut

Boston, Mass., Nov. 17 (AP).—Manager Art Ross of the Boston Bruins said tonight that the board of governors of the National Hockey league would be asked to meet next week to consider the question of reducing the player limit from 15 to 13 men.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

MILWAUKEE baseball fans, who have not the slightest doubt that Charley Grimm and his promising Brewers will be doing business at the old stand next summer, are bombarding President Bill Veeck with demands that all second games of double headers go the full nine innings instead of seven as heretofore . . . Bill, whose success with the club rests largely on his willingness to accept suggestions from the boys who pay the freight, says he will bring a sheaf of such letters to the annual major league meetings in Chicago next month and lay them before other American association magnates. . . . Dr. John Lavan, who played shortstop for the Browns and Athletics, has been named director of research for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., with headquarters in New York. . . . As a member of the A's in 1913, Doc received a check for $3,294 as his world series cut. . . . That was the foundation of his medical course. . . . Thru an oversight the name of John E. Pfeffer of Chicago was omitted from the list appearing in these columns last week of survivors of the players who participated in the first football game between Northwestern and Illinois in 1892. . . . Pfeffer was a freshman in '92 and advanced to the captaincy of the Illini in 1894. . . . Two of his brothers, Frank and Ed, were pitchers in the early days of the National league. . . . When the matchmaker for the Olympia in Detroit offered Ray Robinson a bout with Jimmy Edgar, Ray's manager wired a demand for a $15,000 guarantee. . . . The Olympia is looking for another opponent for Edgar. . . . Babe Pratt of the New York Rangers had a little difficulty at the border recently when Canadian officials examined his passport. . . . It seems his infant son had tried to eat the document and had mangled his dad's photograph beyond recognition.

President Alva Bradley of the Indians is opposed to the proposal that the player limit of major league clubs be raised from 25 to 27. . . . "In the first place," says Alva, "I can't imagine where an owner can find even 25 men." . . . Sidelight on Great Britain's attitude toward organized sports in wartime: Headline: "20,000 Watch Rugby Contest in London." . . . The Alma [Mich.] college football team has not lost a game in two seasons. . . . Motion pictures of a recent Marquette football game revealed that John Strzykalski, star Hilltopper half back, had been roughed while making a punt. . . . Coach Tom Stidham told the brilliant sophomore to protest similar treatment in future games. . . . John's reply was: "What's the use? They can't hurt me." . . . On any given Saturday this season the middle west probably has had one of the best, if not the best, football team in the land. . . . What other team could have turned in a better performance against Notre Dame than Michigan did last Saturday? . . . The Wisconsin team that defeated Ohio State Oct. 31 must have been as good as they come that afternoon. . . . The Notre Dame squad that crushed the Iowa Seahawks Oct. 17 was as strong an all around group as we ever have seen. . . . Minnesota could not have been far away from No. 1 ranking in its 27 to 7 victory over Iowa. . . . The Seahawk eleven that defeated Michigan, 26 to 14, must have been one of the great teams of that day. . . . Illinois was in the championship class the afternoon it whipped Minnesota. . . . Ditto for Iowa in its triumph over Wisconsin the next Saturday after the Badgers had flattened Ohio State. . . . Indiana, too, has had its moments. . . . Gridiron strength apparently is more evenly distributed in this section than ever before, which is a happy situation for one and all.

Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving an early tradition.
Back in that colonial way
Into the woods went our forebears
Food for Thanksgiving day.

Scrawny, indeed, were the turkeys,
Strange old brick ovens for bread,
The queer hanging crane in the fireplace
Weaving on loom making thread.

Watching and caring for family
Alert to the needs of her man,
Making his home life so pleasant
As only a good woman can.

With all their work and the labor,
Abiding faith in their hearts,
They passed to each one now living
Ambition to play well our parts.

A place to lay my weary head;
While my eyes are closed in sleep
Wilt Thou, Lord, a vigil keep.

Raise me freshened in the morn,
Ready with a broader view
Of warring men and nations, too.

CHOOSE BOWLERS FOR ALL-STAR TOURNEY TODAY

Committee May Invite Additional Men.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

Crimmins, Norris, Burton, Lausche, Wilman, Varipapa, Sinke—and now Walter Wellman and Harry Lippe.

Those are a few of the names bowlers and bowling fans of Chicagoland will see in their programs when they flock down to the Auditorium Theater Service Men's Center from Dec. 5 on for nine days for the second National All-Star tournament. And those are all names that will be read today when the general committee meets to complete the field for the year's biggest match game bowling event.

The lineup will be made up largely of men who have been seeded by reason of having finished high in last year's All-Star preliminary competition and of survivors of preliminary tournaments which have finished or are underway in various parts of the country. But the committee will have to decide whether to extend invitations to stars in a few other cities where it was not possible to hold eliminations. Applications from bowlers in those cities have become numerous in the last few days, which means that the committee will have no trouble in picking an all-star field and one that is representative geographically.

More Names Added to List.

A few names were added yesterday to the list of men who will compete come Dec. 5. There was that of Edwin Scott of Kalamazoo, Mich. He won a place by capturing his final match Sunday night. In the All-Star lineup he will find two contestants from nearby Battle Creek, Jack Sharkey and Ray Blackmore having taken top honors there. Then there will be Leo Stumpf, manager of Schneider Brothers center in Elgin, who beat out Frank Burmeister, a fellow townsman, by defeating Burmeister in the closing match of the competition there. Stumpf dropped 788 pins to Burmeister's 762. He won the first three of their four games and needed a healthy pin total in the final game to qualify. He finished with 120.09 points to Burmeister's 119.36.

One name was dropped off the list of qualifiers and it represented a distinct loss to Chicago bowling as well as to the All-Star tournament. It was that of Glenn Gersch, who was 20 years old yesterday, just a day after leaving for Camp Grant to go into the army air corps. Gersch has been a big leaguer for several seasons in spite of his youth. He was a member of the champion Schlitz team in the Classic league last season and this. Three of his team members will be in the All-Star event, however. They are Paul Krumske, Wally Freitag, and Adam Plunge.

Lippe Replaces Gersch.

Taking Gersch's place in the All-Star show will be Harry Lippe of the Thompson Restaurants. Lippe substituted for Lowell Jackson in the

BROWN SEEKS NEW RESERVES AT HALF BACK

Title Hopes of Both at Stake.

Columbus, O., Nov. 17 [Special].—A complete sellout of all available seats in the Ohio stadium for the Michigan-Ohio State football game here on Saturday was announced today by Henry D. Taylor, director of ticket sales. This means that at least 76,000 will watch the game, which will do much to decide the Western conference title for the year. In addition many service men will attend and temporary seats are being installed for them.

Brown Juggles Lineup.

Weather hampered preparations for the Wolverine game today. Coach Paul Brown had the squad working mainly on offense during the practice session. Brown was juggling his back field men thruout the session in an attempt to find suitable substitutions for Les Horvath and Paul Sarringhaus, regular half backs. George Slusser and Loren Staker, Columbus East High sophomore, are the only other replacements available at present.

George Priday, a quarter back, was tried at one half back position, while Phil Drake, also a signal caller, received some attention. Either may see service Saturday.

Three Slightly Injured.

Three players, Center Bill Vickroy, Substitute End John White, and Horvath, showed up for today's practice with slight charley horses resulting from the Illinois game. All, however, will be ready for action Saturday.

The squad, after a comparatively light session Monday, showed real zip and action today. The starting lineup today appeared to be about the same as usual with the exception of left tackle. The week's practice will determine whether Bill Willis or Don McCafferty will start.

MICHIGAN STARS GET BIDS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 17 [Special].—Two of Michigan's outstanding football stars received invitations today to appear in the annual North-South game Dec. 28 in Montgomery, Ala. George Ceithaml, captain and quarter back, and Bob Kolesar, veteran right guard, were sent letters by Lynn Waldorf, who will pilot the North All-Stars, telling them that they had been chosen on the honorary team. Neither of the players has given definite assurance that he will be able to accept the offer.

More important to both the Wolverine veterans at present is the conference battle with Ohio State in Columbus Saturday which may very likely be the deciding game of the Big Ten race. Coach Fritz Crisler sent his wards thru a strenuous contact session today and he is not underestimating the strength of the Buckeyes.

ILLINI STUDY DEFENSE.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 17 [Special].—Coach Ray Eliot and his aids bent themselves today to the task of a defense against the power of Great Lakes.

Bob Wilson, junior guard, will be out for the remainder of the season because of a leg injury.

Saturday's engagement will be the last home game for the seniors—Capt. Jimmy Smith, Elmer Engel, Jim McCarthy, Joe Pawlowski, Myron Pfeifer, Bob Wallin, Bob Gibbs, John Cipriano, and Ralph Palmer. Dick Good, another senior, will be unable to play.

SAILORS HOLD SIGNAL DRILL.

The Great Lakes Bluejackets, who now possess a string of four consecutive victories, yesterday went thru a long signal drill for the game with Illinois in Champaign Saturday. All members of the Sailor football squad participated in the practice with the exception of End Carl Mulleneaux and Center Bob Nelson, who were injured in the Camp Grant game last week.

Lieut. Paul Hinkle shifted Left Half Back Bill Harrell to quarter back in the drill, which included several new plays off the T formation. Harrell and Pete Kmetovic, former Stanford star, probably will share the quarter back duties when the T is used.

OSMANSKI MAY WARM UP SUNDAY FOR FINAL GAME

Could Have Been Used in Packer Game.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Bill Osmanski, the Bears' hard hitting full back, is expected to return to competition in Sunday's game against the Lions in Detroit. Osmanski, who has been out with injuries for most of the season, was reported to have been ready to play in case of emergency in the game with the Green Bay Packers last Sunday, but when it became apparent that no extra pressure would be needed it was decided to give him an extra week's rest.

The Bears probably will be well able to get along without his services next Sunday also, inasmuch as the Lions are the weakest team in the league on the basis of their record to date. However, the idea now is to point Osmanski up for the anticipated championship game against the Redskins in Washington on Dec. 13. It will be recalled that it was Osmanski who started the 73 to 0 rout of the Redskins in the 1940 title game by running 68 yards for the first of many Chicago touchdowns.

Bears Resume Drills Today.

The Bears, who have been resting up since their victory over the Green Bay Packers last Sunday, will resume practice today. They'll continue their drills tomorrow, Friday, and Saturday preparatory to taking off for Detroit.

The Cardinals will be in Pittsburgh Sunday to play a game which was postponed from Sept. 27. Bob Maddock, whose injury was one of the first of the succession which brought hard luck to his team this season, is expected to be back in the lineup at guard. This former Notre Dame lineman, who played in the All-Star game, incurred a broken collar bone in his pro debut in September.

Green Bay Faces Giants.

The other Sunday games will be Green Bay in New York and Brooklyn in Washington. It is understood that Dick Todd, Redskin half back, will be unable to perform because of injuries. The appearance of the Packers in New York will be their first in that city in several years. It will give the eastern fans a chance to watch the famous Cecil Isbell-Don Hutson passing combination in action.

Classic League Bowls Tonight on Five Alleys

The Classic Bowling league's battle royal, in which three games separate the first and eighth place teams, will be continued tonight at five houses. Washington Shirts, in front by a game, will meet the Gills on the latters' home alleys at Marigold arcade. Other matches:

Budweisers vs. Prima Pilsners at Cascade; Meister Brau vs. Schlitz at Bowling Lanes; Monarch Beer vs. United States Beer at Faetz & Son; Thompson Restaurants vs. Ambrosia Beers at Gold Coast.

Joe Fliger of Beverly Lounge turned in a 705 series, including a 259 game to lead the individuals of the Beverly Major. Triangle Liquor rolled high series, 2,933. . . . In the Greater Chicago Traveling league Charles Kellner of Glunz Liquors missed 700 by two pins. His big game was 266. Avondale recreation held its one-game lead by dropping Congress Arcade twice. . . .

Carlson Gets 3d 690.

Elwood Carlson fired his third 690 series in four weeks when he came up with 694 as his team, Harry's Owl club, was dropping two to Chicago Recreation's 3,127 count. Rheingolds regained a first place tie with Chicago recreation by winning three from the Pogue Bourbons. . . . Leading Wallace Coals take on Samuelson's Lounge in the Samuelson Major tonight. Other matches:

Dette Realtors vs. Waggoner's Service station; Pogue Bourbons vs. Mee & Ramme; Fritzi Scheffs vs. John's Grill.

Raab Tailors are doing most of the front running in the Stack and Ryan Major league. They are tied with Prima Pilsner for the lead, have rolled high series, 2,996, and two of their shooters, Art Butler averaging 197.20 and Charles Mueller with 194.11, lead the individuals. . . . Paul Krumske won the Grove recreation sweepstakes in a field of 158 by firing a three-game total of 702. He collected $150. Harry Lippe was second with 694, good for $80. Prize money totaled $632.

Hank Marino of Milwaukee, Mort Lindsey of Stamford, Conn.; Skang Mercurio, Cleveland, and Jimmy Blouin, Blue Island, are a few of the former stars who plan to attend the Quarter Century Bowlers' association reunion at Gold Coast Dec. 6. Jim Tinney, president of the group, has rounded up the former greats who will be here for that event and for the All-Star tournament, which on that date will be in its second day.

Ritt Sets Two Records.

De Soto council, Knights of Columbus league, is pointing to the 265 game and 731 total—both records—which Michael J. Ritt of its Mohawk Grill team fired. The circuit, in its 24th season, has 24 teams. Goranson's Alleys, tied for first place with 24 won and 6 lost, will aim for 22 straight victories when the team meets Gus' Restaurant in Congress Ladies' Classic competition tonight. They've won their last 19. Other matches:

Ace Furnace vs. Victory Ace Arcade; Double Cola vs. Durkee's Margarine; Mario's Restaurant vs. Tyl-Cicero; Logan Square Buicks vs. Thompson Tennis Strings; Bowling Moderne vs. Marigold Arcade; Bee-Vac vs. Meister Brau; Clark Shoes vs. Playdium; Congress Recreation vs. Budweiser; Brucks vs. Olson Rugs.

Chicago Skaters Go Into Lead in Roller Derby

Chicago took the lead in the intercity roller skating series last night by defeating New York, 9 to 7, at the Armory. The victory gave the local squad a two point lead, 308 to 306. The race will end Sunday night.

APPEAL AWARD OF DAMAGES TO ILLINI STUDENT

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 17 (AP).—The University of Illinois Athletic association appealed to the State Supreme court today to reverse a Champaign Circuit decision holding that college athletes are employés and ordering the athletic association to pay workmen's compensation totaling $4,638 and a $200 a year pension to a youth injured while diving at a U. of I. water carnival in 1939.

The decision by Circuit Judge F. B. Leonard held that college athletes "are in effect employés of the athletic association." Judge Leonard upheld a state industrial commission award to Douglas Phillips of St. Louis of $2,141.90 for hospital and doctor bills, $7.50 weekly for 333 weeks and a $200 a year pension for life.

Phillips, a former U. of I. student, was paralyzed as a result of injuries received when he made a fire dive into a pool at the U. of I. athletic association's annual water carnival. The industrial commission held that the athletic association was liable because it collected admission charges for the carnival but dismissed a similar claim against the university itself.

RACING BOARD TO HAVE HEARING ON 1943 DATES TODAY

The Illinois racing board will hold a hearing today on the allotment of 1943 dates to the various tracks. In the applications which were filed prior to Nov. 1 there are a number of conflicts which must be settled by the board, which consists of Maj. Ednyfed Williams, chairman; Frank Mandel, and William Fay.

The major dispute is that between Washington Park and Hawthorne, both of which have asked for the month of August. Washington Park wants to run from Aug. 2 to Sept. 6 and Hawthorne has applied for Aug. 2 to Sept. 11. The available dates for the Chicago season run from the last Saturday of April to the first Saturday of November. The dates requested follow:

Arlington Park—June 21 to July 31 [36 days].
Washington Park—Aug. 2 to Sept. 6 [31 days].
Hawthorne—Aug. 2 to Sept. 11 [36 days].
Sportsman's Park—Sept. 13 to Oct. 23 [36 days].
Fairmount Park—May 29 to July 5 [30 days] and Aug. 28 to Oct. 9 [32 days].

MAROONS PLAN TO MAKE CHANGE IN BASKET RECORD

New Coach, Players Give New Outlook.

The University of Chicago's Maroons, under a new coach and augmented by a group of competent newcomers who expect to cut short the reign of defeat on the Midway, will be a different and much harder fighting outfit in this year's Big Ten basketball race.

J. Kyle Anderson, heretofore baseball and freshman basketball coach for 10 years on the Midway, has assumed the duties of varsity basketball coach, replacing Capt. Nelson Norgren, who has rejoined the army air force, in which he was a flyer in the first World war.

Anderson, tho never a basketball player, was an outstanding half back and infielder on Maroon teams of a decade and a half ago. "All the basketball I know I learned from 'Norg,'" Anderson says, "but we've been working on what may turn out to be a few surprises this year."

Newcomers on Squad.

At his disposal, Anderson will have half a dozen regulars from last year's squad, which won its opener with Illinois Tech the night before Pearl Harbor and failed to score a single victory in the remainder of the season, running the Maroons' string of consecutive Western conference losses to 31. In addition to these boys, Anderson will have four or five sophomores and transfer students good enough to give last year's regulars a stiff run for their positions.

One of Anderson's advantages as he moves into the new job is a greater familiarity with these new players, whom he coached as yearlings last winter. If, as appears likely, the sophomores become mainstays of this year's team, they may profit from the continuity of Anderson's tutelage.

Strong Sophomore Contingent.

The sophomores are headed by Harold Elman, Louis Nagy, and Armond Lilien. Leonard Rifas, a lanky transfer student; Joe Cullen, and Jerry Solomon, who won numerals last year, likewise are expected to see considerable action.

The tentative Maroon schedule, which probably will undergo some revisions in connection with the Big Ten's drive to reduce traveling, opens with a contest against the Navy Pier quintet at the Pier Dec. 10. The first game on the Midway will be two nights later, against the Glenview Naval Aviation training base.

The Tonic of Friendship.

In the deepening of the shadow
How we search each other's eyes
For a glimpse of understanding,
Without pretext or disguise.
Danger draws us close together,
Sorrow justifies its end.
In the flow of healing power
Thru the handclasp of a friend.

God be blessed for human friendship.
In our troubles and our joys
Friends sustain us with the tonic
Of their kind, familiar voice;
With their arms outstretched to help us,
And our shattered hopes to mend,
We can feel God's heart pulsating
In the handclasp of a friend.

Tilden Goes Into a Huddle

Tilden Plans for Taft Game —but Eyes Leo

As a daily reminder to his team, Charles L. Harvey, head football coach at Tilden Tech High school, defending City league champion, repeats the score of last year's Mayor Kelly benefit football game: "Leo, 46; Tilden, 13."

Since Nov. 29, 1941, Harvey has been plotting and formulating means of making Leo atone for the lopsided defeat it dealt his team in the charity game. To accomplish his aim, Tilden must defeat Taft High school Saturday in Soldiers' field for the championship and Leo must dispose of Fenwick in the Catholic league final on the following afternoon.

Despite injuries to Bob Charvat, Ted Hubler, and Eddie Uvodich, all seniors, Harvey is drilling the rest of his charges for Saturday's game with Taft with an eye on the Leo-Fenwick contest. Charvat received a bad cut over his eye returning Fenger's second half kickoff, but will be able to play Saturday. Hubler sustained a leg injury which may keep him out of the championship game. Uvodich has been slowed up by a leg injury suffered in the Lindblom game.

That Big Third Quarter.

Highly pleased with the excellent play of his line, Harvey contends his squad is the best conditioned he has ever placed on the field. He pointed out that condition was responsible for his team's second half showing against Fenger and backed it up with statistics taken from the third quarter when Tilden secored two touchdowns. In this period Tilden's line held the Fenger backs to a minus 4 yards while Ray Schumacher, Frank [Babe] Maratea, and Uvodich were pounding the Fenger forward wall for 125 yards, including the two touchdown drives of 55 and 48 yards, respectively.

Harvey intends to start Charvat and Vic Peterson at end against Taft. Each is over 6 feet tall with Charvat weighing 193 and Peterson 185. Both are exceptionally fine defensive ends and pass catchers.

Mieszkowski Is Star.

Ed Mieszkowski, a 6 foot, 193 pounder, will fill one of the tackle berths with Jim Wray, at 210, a likely substitute for 195 pound Hubler if the latter is not in condition to play. Mieszkowski was one of the standouts in the Tilden defense against Fenger and is a fast charging forward. Wray proved to be a capable substitute when filling in for Hubler last Saturday.

In the center of the line is Norm Krueger, 188 pound center who stands one inch over 6 feet. Krueger played a sensational game against Fenger, repeatedly breaking thru to toss its backs for losses. Krueger is flanked by two topnotch guards in Jim Harmon and Frank Moskovitz. Harmon, a rugged, somewhat roly-polly fellow, carries 220 pounds on his 5 foot 7 inch frame and Moskovitz, while standing 6 feet, is the lightest man in the line, weighing only 170 pounds.

Two Star Backs.

The high scoring back field includes two likely candidates for the mythical All-City team. At full back is Ray Schumacher, one of the candidates. Schumacher is a hard charging back who averaged 4 yards each time he cracked the Fenger line and is also considered the best blocking back in prep football.

Eddie Uvodich is the second candidate and is a certain repeat choice at left half back. Uvodich is a triple threat back and teams with Schumacher on reverse forward pass plays, Schumacher to Uvodich or Uvodich to Schumacher. Should Uvodich be unable to start his duties will be taken over by Bogo Bogosian, a shifty ball carrier.

The rest of the back field is rounded out with Maratea, a right half back, who is a splendid ball carrier, proficient on end runs, and a defensive standout—he intercepted three passes against Fenger, and either Mike Sipich or Mike Bracken will direct the team from the quarter back berth.

Officials Are Named.

The referee will be James Garrett [Wabash college]. He will be assisted by Umpire Ike Craig [Illinois Wesleyan], Head Linesman E. P. Carey [Loyola], and Field Judge Heinie Schultz [Chicago]. The game opens at 2 o'clock. Tilden fans will occupy the stands on the west side of the field, and Taft has been assigned the section located on the east side of the stadium.

BEARS ANSWER FANS' QUERIES AT PRO HUDDLE

Following in the wake of Sunday's largest pro crowd of the season in the 42,787 attending the Bear-Packer game, the year's largest turnout of Chicago barber shop quarter backs assembled in the Pro Huddle yesterday in the La Salle hotel and amused themselves principally with open forum queries directed at the trio of Bear players present.

John Petty, the former Purdue full back, was the honored guest of the Purdue day program, so got off with a few modest words of acknowledgment for the tribute of applause he received. But the other two, Quarter Back Sid Luckman and Tackle Lee Artoe, took a good natured round of question and answer routine.

Big [even as the word is applied to members of the pro game] Artoe, as mild at the speakers' table as he is formidable on the field of play, answered a friendly jibe as to why he committed so many infractions during a game with assurance none of the offenses were intentional, but were probably made during the heat of the game.

Other speakers on the program included the commissioner of the National Football league, Elmer Layden, and Coach Jim Conzelman of the Cardinals.

HAWKS ARE SET FOR WINGS (AND THAT ORLANDO!)

And Jim's Report Card Hasn't Improved.

Detroit's Red Wings and Chicago's Black Hawks, bitterest rivals in the National Hockey league, will battle tomorrow for the first time in Chicago this season at the Stadium. Their first game, on Nov. 8, at Detroit ended a 3-3 tie. The Red Wings, hurt least of all the six clubs by war demands, and picked by every hockey manager, excepting their own, to win the 1942-'43 championship, are leading the league, one game ahead of the Hawks.

The feud has existed since the Hawks defeated the Wings for the world's title in 1933-'34. Most of the Chicago rancor is directed against Jimmy Orlando, who has had more ice brawls than any other hockey player in the game today.

Jim's Still at It.

Jimmy did not wait long this season to arouse the ire of President Frank Calder. In the first road game for Detroit, Orlando's right knocked down Gaye Stewart, a Toronto rookie. The Maple Leaf newcomer was far from thru, however, for he arose and brought his stick down on Jimmy's noggin and it doesn't seem possible that the sixteen stitches, which the Leaf's medico took in Orlando's scalp, will be entirely healed by tomorrow night.

When Calder received a report of the affair he ordered:

1. That each player pay $100 to a war charity.
2. That Orlando not play in Toronto "until further notice."
3. That Stewart not appear in Detroit until the ban is rescinded.

Jack Adams, Detroit manager, said that he was satisfied with Calder's ruling, which is unique in National Hockey league history.

Maybe Jack Remembers.

It is possible that Adams' mildness over the incident was prompted by a backward glance at last spring's Stanley cup finals, when he himself was banished from the Wings' bench after he and three Wings had waylaid and slugged Referee Harwood after the third game of the Leafs-Wings series at Detroit.

Orlando, who has had a half dozen bouts with Hawk players at the Stadium, started his fisticuffing here by assaulting a spectator Jan. 1, 1941.

Coast Fans Want Georgia in Rose Bowl

Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 17 (AP).—The gates are open now, just in case Frankie Sinkwich and Georgia want to play football in the Rose bowl New Year's day.

Official approval of the game was given today by the western defense command. Almost everything else concerning it, at this early date, is strictly unofficial.

The football public out here wants Georgia. The grapevine says Georgia will be here provided it doesn't bog down against Georgia Tech in Athens, Nov. 28. If it does, Tech will be equally welcome. There's the further attraction of a $100,000 plus purse as one-third of the receipts.

Cougars Are Leading.

The western team will be the champion of the Pacific Coast conference. Right now Washington State is leading with five victories and one defeat, and UCLA and Southern California are in pursuit. The winner may not be determined until Dec. 12, when UCLA and USC meet here in Memorial coliseum.

Long before that date, however, something is going to be done about getting an opponent for the Pacific champion. Lately the Rose bowl game hasn't been getting the best of the eastern or southern champions because outstanding teams without official invitations wouldn't wait until the west coast championship was decided. They grabbed offers elsewhere before or as soon as their schedule was completed.

Coast Plans Remedies.

Pacific coast conference representatives met last Sunday in San Francisco to draft remedial measures. They didn't announce the action taken, but it is significant the meeting was called for the express purpose of seeing that the Rose bowl didn't have to be content with a second or third choice from the south or east, as it has once or twice before.

The undefeated eligibles are Georgia, Georgia Tech, Boston College, and Tulsa. The first two, if they haven't been sounded out, know they are wanted, and the others, New Orleans reports have it, are headed for the Sugar bowl.

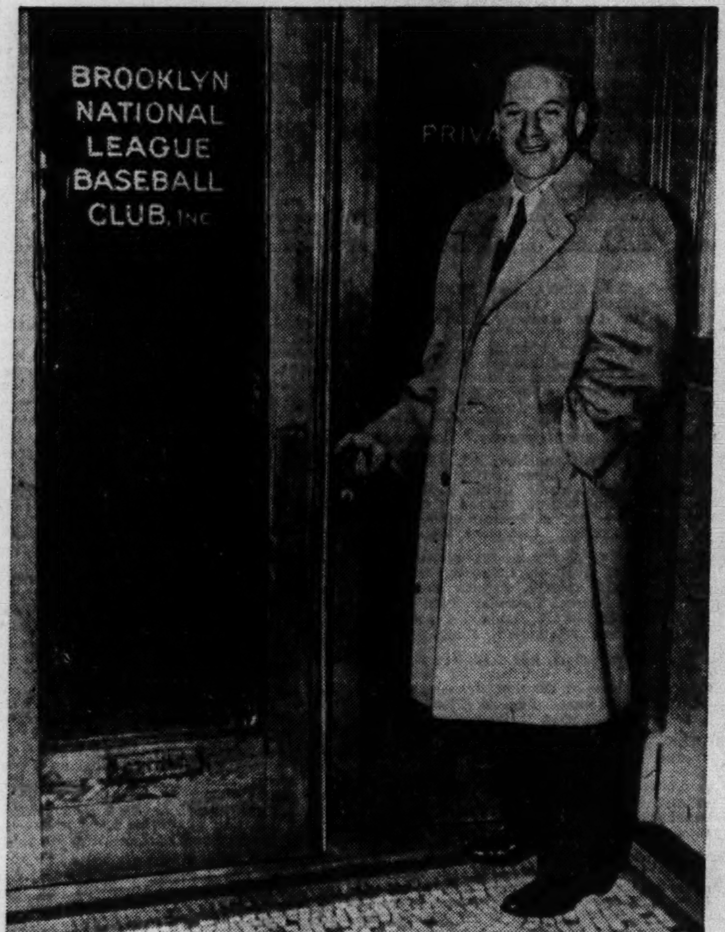
FRANKIE FRISCH NAMED PIRATE MANAGER AGAIN

San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 17 (AP).—Frankie Frisch will manage the Pittsburgh Pirates next year, William E. Benswanger, president of the club, said today.

The Pirates will do their spring training again in California and Benswanger indicated they probably would start out with a week in El Centro and complete the training in San Bernardino.

"Some of the material we have obtained since the close of the season should help us," he said,

What's for Lunch, Leo?



Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers for the last four seasons, leaves Branch Rickey's office after yesterday's "breakfast" conference with the club's new president on what Durocher's status will be in 1943. After a session beginning at 7:30 a. m. and continuing until midafternoon, no announcement was made, but Rickey has promised to make a decision on Leo's place in the Brooklyn picture tomorrow.

Durocher and Rickey Go to Verbal Draw

New York, Nov. 17 (AP).—Branch Rickey and Leo Durocher wrestled vocally for eight hours today over the managership of the Brooklyn Dodgers and at the end the club's new president announced that he would reveal definitely on Thursday afternoon whether Durocher would return as pilot in 1943.

The conference brought together two eloquent conversationalists — Rickey the Orator and Leo the Lip. The pair met for breakfast at 7:30 this morning and finished in a draw in midafternoon.

Thursday Is Day.

Their session was to have been resumed tomorrow morning, but after Durocher had left the Dodgers' office with an appointment set, Rickey changed his mind and postponed their next huddle until Thursday, when, he asserted, he would decide definitely Durocher's status.

Rickey made it clear that one of the principal points involved was Durocher's personality and the way he conducted the swashbuckling Dodgers. He added that the possibility of Durocher, who is married but without children, going to service no longer was an obstacle.

Branch Tells All.

Discussing the issues between them, Rickey said:

"In contracting for a manager there are many things to consider. Terms are one thing, of course. Whether he plays or not is something. Whether he is available or not is something. Whether his general ideas are sound, or not, is something . . . and that's something."

finals last year and finished creditably. He finished next in line to Gersch in the elimination held recently at Pla-mor Bowling Lanes.

Harry Richard, a young fellow who has been bowling for less than five years, strung enough strikes to beat out Veteran Walter Wellman in the last block of the elimination at Findlay, O., Sunday, but the committee is likely to invite Wellman also. Wellman has taken part in all previous match game trials, having finished 11th in Cleveland in 1938 and 4th at St. Louis in 1940.

Varipapa at Great Lakes.

Andy Varipapa, one of the stars seeded in the preliminary field, who is to conduct the Chicago Tribune Bowling school during the two weeks prior to the start of the tournament, yesterday was scheduled to put on his program at the Great Lakes naval training station on Thanksgiving day. He will give three complete shows, starting at 1, 3, and 7 p. m. Each show will include his lecture, demonstration of the fundamentals, a match with a picked opponent from among the ranks of the sailors, and an exhibition of his trick shots.

N. U. PRIMES ITS GROUND ATTACK FOR NOTRE DAME

And Figures Its Air Guns Ready, Too.

Northwestern's running attack, which clicked for 165 yards against Wisconsin, has greatly enhanced the Wildcats' chances for victory in their annual encounter with Notre Dame in South Bend Saturday. The Purple turned in its best ball carrying performance of the season against the Badgers and will enter the Notre Dame game with a combined running and passing threat.

The sudden improvement in the running attack is attributed to several sources. Not only did Otto Graham and Buckets Hirsch, the principal ball carriers, turn in their best performances of the year, but the Wildcat line functioned as a hard hitting unit that opened holes for the backs to roll thru.

Graham Runs, Too.

Graham, whose offensive value has been largely confined to passing this year blossomed out as a ball carrier against the Badgers as he gained in every try. Most of his gains were on quick opening plays thru center and off tackle.

In Hirsch, the Wildcats possess one of the best plunging full backs in the conference. He is the leading ground gainer on the squad with 356 yards in 91 attempts for a 3.9 average per game. In addition to his offensive ability, he ranks as one of the best line backers on the team, and worked 60 minutes against the Badgers.

Vodick in Home Town.

Don Buffmire, triple threat left half, and Nick Vodick, sophomore right half, are others who figure prominently in Northwestern offensive plans for Saturday. Vodick hails from South Bend where he was a football and basketball star at Riley High school will have plenty of reason to make a good showing before the home folks.

The Wildcats devoted yesterday's practice to perfecting a defense for Angelo Bertelli's passes. Northwestern has good reason to respect Bertelli's accurate tosses as it was his pass to Matt Bolger that led to a 7 to 6 Irish victory last year.

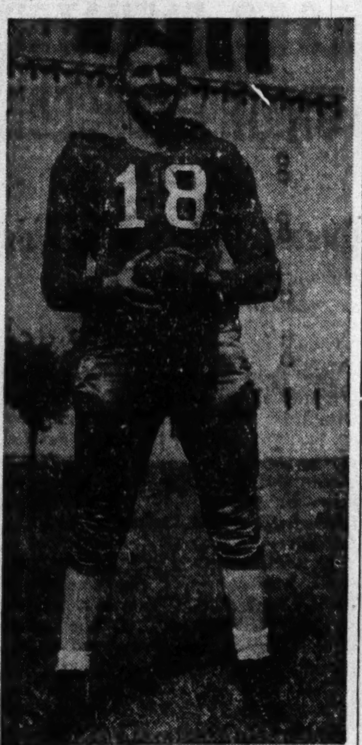
IRISH EYE GRAHAM.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 17 [Special].—Notre Dame's preparations for the final home game of the year with Northwestern Saturday took the form of defensive dummy scrimmage, largely against passes, as Coach Frank Leahy prepared to meet the aerial threat of Otto Graham's right arm.

The first two teams returned to the field after Monday's layoff, but the regulars were given only a short drill because of their tired condition resulting from eight major games in a row, and, particularly, last week's 32 to 20 loss to Michigan.

The injury received by Russell [Pete] Ashbaugh in the Army game which benched him for last week's Michigan battle may keep the sensational junior right half back out of action again Saturday. Trainer Eugene [Scrapiron] Young said today that improvement may be rapid late in the week, but that Ashbaugh's leg is still stiff.

Buckeye Center



Bill Vickroy, first string Ohio State center, suffered a charley horse in last week's Illinois game, but is expected to be ready for duty against Michigan at Columbus Saturday.

ABC HEADS MEET TODAY; MAY DROP '43 TOURNAMENT

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 17 (AP).—Officials of the American Bowling congress will meet here tomorrow "to discuss the advisability of conducting" the congress' 1943 tournament, scheduled for Buffalo next spring, George A. Obenauer, member of the ABC executive board, said tonight.

Obenauer said the meeting was prompted by a request from the office of defense transportation to consider the strain placed on the nation's railroads by the war in deciding whether to hold the tournament. The special meeting was called by Martin G. Unmacht, Dubuque, Ia., ABC president, who notified Buffalo officials by telegram.

Obenauer, who is secretary of the Buffalo Bowling association, declared he was uncertain whether the group attending the meeting will have the authority to cancel the event or whether it would recommend to the ABC's executive board of directors that the tournament be called off.

BADGERS FEAR LOSS OF WINK IN MINNESOTA GAME

Calligaro Is Shifted to Quarter Back.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 17 [Special].—"It doesn't look as tho Jack Wink will play against Minnesota Saturday," Coach Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin announced today as he sought a replacement for Ashley Anderson, the Badgers' second string quarter back all season. As protection, Len Calligaro, third string full back, was shifted to the spot. Pat Harder and Len Seelinger will call the signals when they are in the lineup.

Wink has an outside chance of getting in for some playing time, but the Badgers undoubtedly will be weakened by his loss. The sophomore pilot has been a mainstay all season, especially helpful on pass defense.

Paul Hirsbrunner, the other Badger invalid, is coming along nicely. He rejoined the squad today and will be ready to take the left end post against the Gophers on Saturday.

The Badgers went thru a complete rehearsal of their offensive and defensive program with contact avoided thruout.

PROMOTE TWO GOPHERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 17 (AP).—The usual Tuesday lineup was posted in the Minnesota football team's dressing room today and it found Big Bill Baumgartner and Don Nolander back on the first team.

Baumgartner, who has been fighting it out week after week for a starting end spot with Jerry Mulready, moved up despite a bad thumb. Nolander went back to center in place of Bob Solheim.

Bill Daley again was in lineup after missing Saturday's game as he rested his injured back. His running was good and he seemed a likely starter against Wisconsin.

SEAHAWKS WORK HARD.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 17 [Special].—Another heavy workout was given to the Iowa Navy Preflight school football team as it began preparing for the game with Nebraska here

Lieut. Col. Bernie Bierman, who has been experimenting with two back fields last week, concentrated on one combination in most of today's session. This saw Forrest Evashevski at quarter back, Dick Fisher and Jim Langhurst at half backs, and Ed Jankowski at full back.

CRIPPLES MUST STAY HOME.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 17 (AP).—Only able bodied men will make the trip to Iowa City to face the Navy Preflight school football team Saturday, Coach Glenn Presnell of Nebraska announced today. The ruling apparently was prompted by the fact some cripples made last week's Pitt trip just for the ride.

The new backfield quartet of Roy Long, Al Grubaugh, Wally Hopp, and Kirwin Eisenhart was polished up in today's practice.

Men Who Whistle While They Work

Morton Didn't Have to Make His Toughest Decision

[This is another of a series on Western conference football officials' toughest decisions and biggest thrills.] in sports.]

THE toughest decision in Meyer Morton's memory is one he didn't have to make. . . . It was late in a game many, many seasons ago between Minnesota and Wisconsin. . . . Now Meyer takes the ball: "The Gophers were leading, 14 to 13. . . . Wisconsin punted and the ball bounced off the chest of the Minnesota safety man and bounded toward the goal line. . . . At the 5, the safety man tried to stop the ball, but kept fumbling it until both wound up back of his goal line. . . . I was right on the spot, hoping the fellow would bring the ball out, while his teammates were yelling for him to run. . . . Finally he did. . . . A Badger knocked him out of bounds on Minnesota's 2 yard line. . . . All the while I was trying to make up my mind whether the Wisconsin kicker or the Minnesota safety had provided the impetus which put the ball behind the goal line. . . . Had I ruled the latter way and the safety man had been tackled behind his goal line, it would have been a safety and the Badgers would have won, 15 to 14. . . . I'll always be thankful that the boy relieved me of this decision." Morton, a Chicago lawyer, was born in this city in 1889. . . . At Michigan he was center on the football team and a sprinter in track. . . . He and Frank Murphy, now a Supreme court justice, teamed up as officials in a high school game at Ann Arbor in 1910 or 1911. . . . He officiated 23 seasons in the conference.

Madison A. C. Fighters Win Four Amateur Bouts

HARRIS INJURED AS PURDUE OPENS INDIANA DRILLS

Veteran Player May Have Shoulder Fracture.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 17 [Special].—Purdue lost the services of Charles Harris, veteran end and quarter back, late in this afternoon's scrimmage session when he either dislocated or fractured his shoulder. Harris was taken immediately to a local hospital for X-ray examination. The varsity was sent thru an intensive session in preparation for the Old Oaken Bucket game with Indiana Saturday.

While the students were drumming up "beat Indiana" sentiment, the varsity was given a taste of the type of versatile attack that the Hillenbrand led Hoosiers are expected to present. A freshman eleven presented its version of the Indiana offense in a manner that caused considerable concern among the Boilermaker coaches, as the yearlings made many long gains.

One bright spot was provided, however, by the return to uniform of Bob Hajzyk, veteran quarter back, for the first time in over two weeks. Altho unable to scrimmage, Hajzyk took a light workout and tested out his kicking leg. Coach Elmer Burnham indicated that the South Bend veteran may be able to see at least part time action against the Hoosiers.

INDIANA MOVES INSIDE.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 17 [Special].—Weather drove Indiana's football squad into the fieldhouse today for another defensive session on Purdue's short punt formations, which the Hoosiers will be looking at for the first time Saturday in Lafayette.

Scouts Paul Harrell and Billy Thom directed the reserve team, using Boilermaker plays and the short punt formation, which was inaugurated this year by Elmer Burnham, who succeeded Mal Elward at Purdue.

Earl Dolaway, senior full back and punter, rejoined the Hoosier squad at a defensive half back position, alternating with Capt. Bob White, while Chuck Jacoby and Bob Cowan shared the other defensive half back spot in a drill against Purdue passes. Saturday.

MARQUETTE RECUPERATES.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 17 (AP).—Bobby Dams, junior quarter back, will lead Marquette in the season final against Camp Grant, Coach Tom Stidham has announced. Dams is the Hilltoppers' kicking star, with a record of 17 out of 22 points after touchdown, with a field goal thrown in for good measure.

Stidham gave his boys an extra day of rest today to allow the numerous bumps and bruises handed out by the Great Lakes Sailors Sunday to ease. Jack Hilderbrandt, reserve right flankman, is the only casualty likely to miss action against the Soldiers.

BISHOP HOBAN IS TRANSFERRED TO CLEVELAND

Shifted After 15 Years in Rockford.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—The apostolic delegation announced today the transfer of Bishop Edward F. Hoban, bishop of Rockford, Ill., to the titular see of Lystra as coadjutor bishop.

In his new post, Bishop Hoban will have the right of succession to the Most Rev. Archbishop Joseph Schrembs, bishop of Cleveland.

As coadjutor bishop of Cleveland, he will share the responsibilities of Archbishop Schrembs in a diocese which has a Catholic population of more than 500,000.

In Rockford 15 Years.

During the 15 years of his episcopacy in Rockford he superintended the construction of two new high schools, a large addition to St. Anthony's hospital, and St. Anthony's church.

Aside from his religious activities, he lived retiringly and did not take a prominent part in civic affairs. A statement from his chancery today said in part that while he was grateful for the confidence placed in him by the new appointment he was leaving Rockford with regret.

Born in Chicago.

Bishop Hoban was born in Chicago June 27, 1878, and grew up in St. Columbkille's parish, where he was an altar boy. He studied at St. Ignatius college in Chicago and St. Mary's university, Baltimore, before being ordained a priest in 1903.

He studied teaching at the Gregorian university in Rome and later earned degrees there and at Loyola university in Chicago. For a while he taught at the Quigley Preparatory seminary in Illinois.

In 1909 he became chancellor of the archdiocese of Chicago. He was consecrated a bishop in 1921 and became auxiliary bishop to the late Cardinal George Mundelein of Chicago.

MRS. WALKOWIAK, WIFE OF INDIANA BANKER, IS DEAD

Mrs. Veronica Walkowiak, wife of Joseph S. Walkowiak, banker of East Chicago, Ind., died yesterday in her home at 4122 Ivy street, East Chicago, after a long illness. She was 48 years old.

Mrs. Walkowiak was active in the women's division of the Polish National alliance and the Polish Roman Catholic union and aided the Carmelite Orphanage for Girls. She is survived by her husband, vice president of the First National Bank of East Chicago and the Union National Bank of East Chicago and president of the Lake County Bankers' association; by two sons, Staff Sergt. Joseph S. Walkowiak Jr., serving with the army overseas, and Richard Walkowiak, an air corps cadet, and a daughter, Mary Ann.

Services will be held from a funeral chapel at 3831 Main street, East Chicago, to St. John Cantius church, East Chicago, at 9:30 a. m. Friday.

L. R. BLACKMAN, MOLINE EDITOR, DIES IN ARKANSAS

Moline, Ill., Nov. 17 (AP).—Lee Rush Blackman, editor and co-publisher of the Moline Daily Dispatch, died of pneumonia today in Hot Springs, Ark., where he was on vacation. He was 61 years old.

Blackman had been identified with the newspaper business for nearly half a century. He began as a carrier boy, became a reporter, then city editor, managing editor, and at the time of his death was co-publisher, associated with August Sundine and Harry A. Sward.

Survivors include his widow, two daughters, Mrs. John Mills and Miss Barbara Blackman, and a granddaughter, Julie Mills.

NEW TRIAL ASKED FOR 6 CONVICTED IN TREASON TRIAL

Attorney Paul A. F. Warnholtz yesterday filed motions for a new trial and an arrest of judgment on behalf of three Chicago couples awaiting sentence on their conviction on charges of treason last Saturday night by a jury in the federal District court of Judge William J. Campbell. Twelve motions in all, two in behalf of each defendant, were filed before Federal Judge John P. Barnes, who was sitting in absence of the trial court.

The defendants, Hans Max Haupt and his wife Erna, parents of Herbert Haupt, an executed Nazi saboteur; Walter and Lucille Froehling, uncle and aunt of the executed spy, and Otto and Kate Wergin, family friends, were charged with having aided young Haupt after he had landed with seven companions from German submarines with orders to destroy the light metal industry in the United States.

CLEW TO MYSTERY SEDAN IN GALVIN MURDERS FAILS

Police searching for a mysterious gray automobile reported seen in the neighborhood of the home of Paul V. Galvin at 3038 Normandy place, Evanston, shortly before Mrs. Galvin and her maid were found slain Oct. 22, ran into another blind alley yesterday when they learned the fenders of a gray car stored in salesrooms at 5220 Broadway had been painted blue last Aug. 10. Previously police had been told the fenders were repainted after the double murder.

The machine was identified as the property of Howard Selander, 3428½ Elaine place, who has been questioned concerning the murders. Seland is in the county jail awaiting trial Thursday on a charge of assault and battery. Police arranged to have at the hearing two delivery men for a loop store who reported they were accosted in Evanston by the driver of the mystery car.

Filing of Mrs. Galvin's will in Probate court yesterday disclosed she had bequeathed her estate, valued at approximately $50,000, to her husband.

M'GRADY FACTION ASKS ELEVATOR UNION TO SECEDE

Ousted President's Aids Blast M'Fetridge.

The fight to reinstate James L. O'Grady as president of the Elevator Operators and Starters union, local 66, brought another turbulent session of the union last night and ended in a demand that the local withdraw from its parent body, the Building Service Employés International [AFL].

Al Matha, acting president of the local, presided over the meeting in Musicians hall, 175 West Washington street. He has headed the union since O'Grady was suspended by the international body on the ground that he is not an American citizen. O'Grady was born in England and the controversy hinges on whether he was under or over 21 years of age when his father was naturalized.

Acting President Is Hooted.

Matha and William L. McFetridge, the international president, were booed at a meeting of the local Oct. 20. McFetridge was not present last night, but Matha's appearance in the chair brought hoots and noisy wrangling.

Eventually Matha declared the meeting adjourned, and some of the members departed. Approximately 100 remained in the hall, and a member who identified himself as Ellis Fox mounted the platform. He and other speakers demanded that the local's executive board hold a referendum on the question of withdrawing from the international. They asserted that only in this way could they gain reinstatement of O'Grady.

Seek New International Tie.

The group explained they wanted to end McFetridge's control of the union and seek affiliation with another AFL international. They said McFetridge and his associates are now circulating cards among the members soliciting their signatures to a contract binding them to follow the dictates of the international.

Later Fox said 80 members had signed an agreement to back him in any step he may take to obtain O'Grady's reinstatement, even to secession from the parent union.

Lieut. George Barnes and a squad of the police labor detail were on hand to maintain order. Barnes said the meeting broke up after the rump session was assured that the question of a referendum will be taken up by the local's executive board Monday.

STRUCK BY CAR, OWNER OF NEWS STAND KILLED

Charles Statkos, owner of a news stand at Foster and Western avenues, was killed at that intersection yesterday when he was struck by an automobile. He was 59 years old and lived at 5257 North Western avenue. The driver was Virgil Laisure, 35, of 4646 North Racine avenue.

Joseph J. Rosko, 21, of 1232 North Leavitt street, a janitor, was sentenced to 30 days in jail by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Safety court on a charge of leaving the scene of a fatal accident. His car fatally injured Charles Luettke, 42, of 901 North Fairfield avenue, at Division street and California avenue. In court, Rosko said he fled in panic.

An unidentified man, about 20, was found dead last night at Halsted and Madison streets, apparently the victim of an automobile or truck. The body was taken to the County morgue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 600 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 454 died in Chicago where 17,513 were injured during the same period.

MRS. FENTRESS SEEKS DIVORCE, CHILD'S CUSTODY

Mrs. Roslyn Paine Fentress, of 1596 North Green Bay road, Lake Forest, yesterday petitioned the Lake County Circuit court, in Waukegan, for a divorce from Paul L. Fentress, who was living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress, 939 Green Bay road, Wilmette, prior to joining the navy in June.

Her petition said she and her husband were married Sept. 12, 1935, in Chicago, and separated in September, 1941. She is asking custody of their daughter, Lynn, 3 years old, support and maintenance for herself and child, and fees for her attorney, Denis E. Sullivan Jr.

RULE RICH WIDOW ILLEGALLY HELD PRISONER 4 YEARS

Mrs. Helen Calhoun Cash, wealthy widow of Dr. Gentry Cash, former Standard Oil company vice president, has been held illegally in a sanitarium for the insane near Elgin for the last four years, the Illinois Supreme court ruled yesterday.

The ruling ended a long court fight and nullified the decisions of the Kane county court, the Kane county Circuit court, and the 2d district appellate court. It upheld Mrs. Cash's contention that she was a resident of Cook county and hence not "found" in Kane county within the meaning of the word as used in the lunacy act, thereby relieving the county court of jurisdiction.

In her appeal Mrs. Cash charged that she had been forcibly removed from her room in the Stevens hotel here on May 4, 1938, by her sister and a nurse and held prisoner overnight in a Chicago sanitarium. The next day, she asserted, she was taken to Resthaven sanitarium near Elgin, where she was given no notice of an impending insanity hearing and had no opportunity to obtain legal advice.

Dr. Cash once was a director and vice president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Mrs. Cash said in her petition that she was "a woman of considerable wealth" and that she made a will in 1934 leaving her property to a friend and ignoring her closest relative, her sister.

DR. BEN REITMAN SERVICES TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Services will be held at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 7726 South Ashland avenue for Dr. Ben Reitman, founder of a hobo college, who died suddenly in his home at 6826 Bishop street Monday night. He was 63 years old.

Dr. Reitman was long a colorful figure among Chicago's so-called social uplift enthusiasts. He was in his time a soapbox orator as well as an orator in more sedate forums. He probably was best known as a founder of the old Dill Pickle club.

A veteran physician, he was once a member of the city health department. Dr. Reitman is survived by his widow, Medina; his mother, Ida; a son, Lieut. Ben M. Reitman of the army air corps ferry command, and four daughters, Mecca, Victoria, Regina, and Jan.

Gigantic Buying for Russia Listed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—Treasury department spokesmen revealed today that a complete oil pipe line has been purchased under the lend-lease program and shipped to Iraq, site of large British oil fields.

They said the purchase included pumping stations and all necessary equipment.

Treasury procurement division officials estimated that they now are spending about 1¼ billion dollars annually for lend-lease equipment, the bulk of it for Great Britain and Russia. Orders for everything from gummed tape to steel mills pass thru the division's offices.

Big Buying for Russia.

The procurement division, spending an average of 16 to 20 million dollars a day and frequently as much as 30 million, recently has purchased for Russia:

1. Two complete oil refineries and is negotiating for two more.
2. A complete steel mill, which was dismantled and sent abroad.
3. A complete aluminum rolling mill; others probably will be purchased soon.
4. Several complete railroad systems, including locomotives and cars.
5. A brand new electric power plant to be built and equipped by the United States at a cost of 13 million dollars; purchase of additional plants is considered probable.
6. The Ford Motor company's tire plant, at a cost of about 5 million dollars; several other tire plants are expected to be purchased.

Lack Machinery at Home.

The office of Harold Ickes, petroleum coördinator, had not heard of the pipe line purchased for Iraq, but it admitted that its inability to get oil pumping machinery had been a major bottleneck in getting into operation the domestic pipe lines it is building.

The procurement division is headed by Clifton E. Mack, a civil service career man who made a name for himself as a special investigator for the bureau of internal revenue. He cracked a number of major income tax evasion cases, and his handling of his present job has made him one of the highest paid government employés with a civil service rating.

The bulk of the money he spends for lend-lease purposes goes for big industrial plants, altho the division buys thousands of other items, division spokesmen said.

Orders and contracts for materials pour in a never ending stream into the vast seven story procurement division building on Washington's southwest side.

Speed Action on Orders.

The pace of action has quickened. The treasury let a contract for materials in peace time only after 30 to 40 days of "negotiations." Today an order is received and contracts are let within a day.

Procurement division officials said they had been able to obtain rapid fulfillment of orders by wide distribution of contracts among small manufacturers.

Major items purchased for England and Russia, in addition to the industrial plants, are road building equipment, agricultural equipment, fire fighting equipment, lumber, petroleum products, chemicals, metals, and textiles.

Explain Tire Plant Action.

Agency spokesmen said the tire manufacturing plants were being purchased for Russia because of the advanced stage of its synthetic rubber production program.

They also hinted Russia probably had bigger stockpiles than previously reported of strategic war materials such as rubber, tin, and steel.

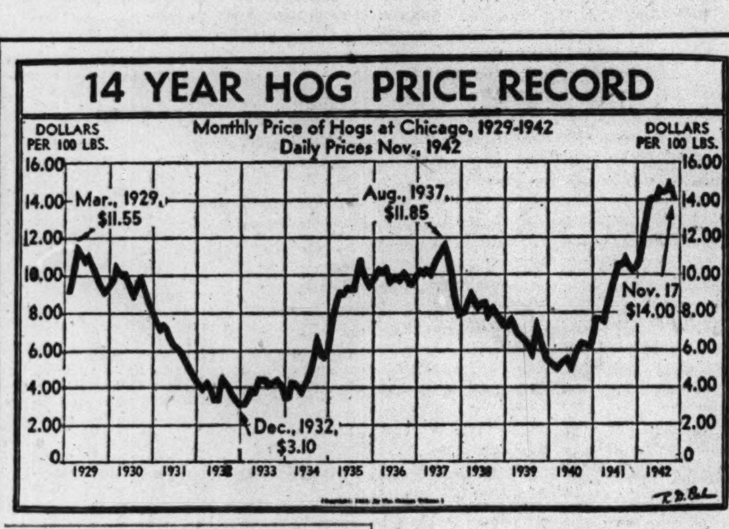
CHICAGO SALARY CONTROL OFFICE OPENED BY U. S.

Opening of the Chicago office of the new salary stabilization unit of the bureau of internal revenue at 208 South La Salle street was announced yesterday by Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of internal revenue. Porter Linder, who has been in the revenue service 20 years, will be in charge of the new unit office.

Helvering, in a statement issued thru the office of Carter Harrison, internal revenue collector, said employer requests for information about rules on salary changes should be addressed to "Head, Salary Stabilization Unit," at the La Salle street address.

Employers may confer with staff members personally at the office if they wish, and appeals to the commissioner in Washington, D. C., from Chicago office rulings will be permitted, Helvering said.

14 YEAR HOG PRICE RECORD



Coal Handlers Expect No Gas Curb Hardship

Chicago's busy coal men expect to be able to operate under gasoline rationing with little difficulty, several leading dealers said yesterday. There is no restriction on the amount of coal that may be sold or delivered. Some cases are reported in which coal dealers have not been allotted as much gasoline as they believe will be necessary to handle their business, but officials of the Chicago Coal Merchants' association said most of the members are satisfied.

Under an order of the Office of Defense Transportation — effective last summer—designed to reduce delivery service, coal dealers had to reduce by 25 per cent their mileage per ton from the 1941 mileage.

Reduce Cross Hauling.

This the dealers did by loading trucks more heavily or by exchanging orders among themselves to reduce or eliminate cross town hauling. For instance, a south side dealer having a north side hotel as a customer would trade his north side business with a north side dealer having a south side customer.

In getting ready for gasoline rationing operators had to submit estimates as to the amount of gasoline they would require to the ODT office in Detroit. The ODT allots gasoline on a basis of the information supplied in the rationing application.

Some Requests Halved.

Coal dealers said that in some instances gasoline requests were reduced by as much as 50 per cent, which would reduce sharply the amount of coal the dealer could deliver. However, they have 30 days in which to appeal the ODT allotment. At the Chicago office of the ODT it was said that in some cases the coal dealers themselves failed to estimate accurately the amount of mileage they could get from their trucks and that where inequalities arise it is desired to correct them.

Most of the larger coal companies report business booming as industry runs at full speed and as many householders are changing over from oil to coal because of restrictions on the use of oil.

WLB ASSERTS IT CAN DECIDE ALL WAGE DISPUTES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—The War Labor board ruled unanimously today that its jurisdiction extended to all labor disputes in nonwar industries in which wage adjustments are involved.

The board made this decision in a dispute between four New York title and guaranty companies and the CIO United Office Workers. The companies had questioned the jurisdiction of the board over their wage and union security dispute with the union, a case which involves 1,345 employés.

Bermuda's Currency Issue Soars as Result of War

BERMUDA, Nov. 17.—Bermuda's currency issue has soared from £200,000 sterling before the war to £750,000 today. Opinion is divided as to whether the increase is currency inflation or the result of the withdrawal of United States currency from circulation.

WASTE PARTS OF OIL TURNED TO MAKING OF PLANE FUEL, RUBBER

New York, Nov. 17 (AP).—The Phillips Petroleum company announced today more aviation gasoline and materials for synthetic rubber could be extracted from crude oil under a new catalytic refining process developed by its scientists.

Frank Phillips, chairman of the board, said the discovery, called "isoversion," changed petroleum products formerly of no value into materials needed in large quantity to make 100 octane gasoline, synthetic rubber and other war materials.

War secrecy, Phillips said, prevented disclosure of definite data on the refining process, which was developed in Phillips' research laboratories.

Hog Supply Rises

Increased farm selling and expanding demand for hogs at $14 a hundredweight yesterday brought the Chicago stockyards one of its liveliest sessions of the season, tho prices were little changed. A few hogs brought the $14.10 top.

Farmers shipped 25,000 hogs to Chicago including those sent direct to packers, compared with 21,196 on Tuesday last week. The two day total of 50,200 was second largest since January.

The department of agriculture disclosed yesterday that packers under federal inspection at the 27 markets that handle the bulk of the nation's meat butchered 1,519,014 hogs during the last two weeks, the second biggest volume in 10 months.

PACKERS ARE WARNED

The National Independent Meat Packers' association, in a special bulletin to members from its Washington office yesterday, warned that violations of the meat restriction order by the sale of more meat for domestic trade than is specified in the order may result in "closing up your plant, subjecting you to a large fine, or depriving you of your liberty."

"The powers under which this order has been promulgated are almost unlimited," said the bulletin. "Any temporary gains will never offset the punishment that may follow."

WAR EMPHASIZES VALUE OF PRESS, TRIPP DECLARES

New York, Nov. 17 [Special].—The war is bringing about a rediscovery of the American press and the vital services it renders to the public, the government, and business, Frank Tripp, general manager of the Gannett newspapers and chairman of the bureau of advertising, American Newspaper Publishers association, declared today at the annual convention of the American Association of Advertising Agencies here.

"In times of peace we take the press for granted, as we do the weather, and criticize it just as fluently," Tripp said. "But in these stirring days we are surrounded by new proofs that our free press is a tangible asset of democracy.

"With circulations and reader attention at an all-time high, it is obvious that the public depends upon the press more than ever before. Because of this public dependence upon the press, business and government also depend upon the press more and more to reach and to influence the public mind."

U. S. INCREASES WAR CONTRACT WITH PULLMAN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—The Defense Plant corporation today authorized three increases in contracts with private companies.

Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, Chicago, was given a contract for additional plant facilities in Illinois at a cost in excess of $1,250,000 for a total commitment of more than 6.6 millions.

The largest was with Wright Aeronautical corporation, Paterson, N. J., for more than 8½ millions for additional plant facilities for a total commitment to Wright of more than 63 millions.

Crown Central Petroleum corporation, Baltimore, Md., is to receive $900,000 for additional machinery and equipment in Texas, for a total commitment of more than $7,000,000.

Report Express Increase on Northwest Air Lines

Northwest Airlines yesterday announced it carried 107,780 pounds of air express on regularly scheduled trips during October, an increase of 38,118 over the corresponding month of 1941.

New Peak Rail Traffic During 1943 Forecast

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

John J. Pelley.

The present record breaking volume of freight and passenger traffic being handled as the nation gets into high gear on its war effort is expected to be broken next year, John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, said yesterday after the annual meeting of the association in the Palmer House. He predicted a further rise of about 10 per cent in freight volume and a substantial increase in passenger business.

Pelley said passenger business of the railroads this year probably will total 52 or 53 billion passenger miles [a passenger mile is the transportation of one passenger one mile] compared with an original estimate of 50 billions. The volume next year is expected to total 55 billion, altho he said it is difficult to make an estimate. The previous record was established in 1920 with a total of 46 billion 849 million.

Discuss Travel Priorities.

Pelley said there has been discussion of a preference system for travel by army, navy, and government officials on official business under which they would get first call on transportation facilities as they now do on the airways. However, nothing definite has been done and the railroads hope it will not be necessary.

The rail executive warned, however, that passenger volume is imposing an increasingly heavy burden on the roads, and he urged the public to coöperate with the roads by avoiding unnecessary trips, traveling on less crowded days, and choosing the less crowded trains. He said there is no hope of the roads getting additional passenger equipment.

In addition to public travel and members of the armed forces traveling on furlough the railroads during the first 10 months of this year moved 8,200,000 soldiers traveling under orders in organized groups.

Freight Sets New Records.

An all-time record volume of freight was handled in October, Pelley said, and the amount hauled to date this year has been the largest for any year on record. The total will approximate 630 billion ton miles [a ton mile is the movement of one ton of freight one mile], compared with 475 billion in 1941, an increase of 32.6 per cent.

Car loadings for 1942 will show an increase of only 2 per cent over 1941. The heavier loading of cars and increased length of the average haul account for the disparity, he explained.

Pelley said the railroads are still trying to get much needed additional freight equipment, but so far have not been able to get the number of extra cars they believe are needed.

Pelley and other officers of the association, whose membership includes every major road in the country, were reëlected. C. McD. Davis, president of the Atlantic Coast Line, was elected a director to succeed George B. Elliott, who resigned.

LINES 'NONESSENTIAL'

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—Two branches of the Illinois Terminal railroad were described today as "nonessential" to the war transportation effort in a report on proposed requisitions filed with Joseph B. Eastman, Office of Defense Transportation director.

Eastman said he would not act on the recommendation until interested persons had had an opportunity to criticize or comment upon it. He said such comment must be filed by Dec. 3.

The two lines extend about 130 miles from Decatur to Danville, and Decatur to Mackinaw Junction, all in Illinois.

Ralph H. Jewell, who filed the recommendation, said salvage of the lines would yield 16,000 tons of rail and 1,300,000 pounds of copper.

The War Production board, seeking to obtain track to relay for the armed services and war plants, today asked the ODT to determine whether 35 other railroad segments are essential to wartime transportation.

VOTERS RIDDLE PUBLIC POWER BACKERS' RANKS

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17.—A striking result of the Nov. 3 elections which has received little notice was the rout of public ownership advocates from New England to the Pacific coast. In 13 major contests involving the issue of socialism versus private enterprise in the electric utility field, the people voted without exception for private enterprise.

The public ownership casualties included the foremost congressional sponsors of the New Deal schemes to duplicate the Tennessee Valley authority with an Arkansas Valley authority and a Columbia Valley administration.

Norris Outstanding Casualty.

The outstanding casualty of them all, however, was Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska, dean of the congressional power bloc, father of the TVA, and sponsor of New Deal public power projects in Nebraska which cost a total of 100 million dollars.

The fact that Norris had obtained all this federal money for Nebraska and was indorsed by President Roosevelt in preference to the Democratic candidate did not save him. The voters were reminded by Republican spokesmen that the Nebraska public power projects, altho exempt from taxation, are operating in the red, not earning enough to pay their operating costs and amortization charges.

In Oklahoma, Sen. Josh Lee, a New Deal 100 percenter, told the voters that if they repudiated him it would mean repudiation of one of President Roosevelt's dearest wishes—the Arkansas Valley authority project. Lee, the senate sponsor of the AVA bill, was defeated.

Two Arkansans Defeated.

In Arkansas the two principal house proponents of the AVA—Rep. Clyde T. Ellis, sponsor of the bill, and Rep. David D. Terry—were defeated in a four cornered contest for the Democratic senate nomination by Rep. John L. McClellan, who campaigned on a private enterprise platform.

In the Pacific northwest, the public ownership casualties included Rep. Knute Hill [D., Wash.] and Rep. Martin F. Smith [D., Wash.], co-sponsors in the house of the Bone senate bill to create a Columbia Valley administration with power to acquire by condemnation all the privately owned utilities in the northwest. Smith and Hill were defeated by Republican advocates of private ownership in the utility field.

Former Sen. C. C. Dill, general counsel of the Public Ownership League of America, was defeated by a vote of 3 to 2 in the fifth Washington congressional district by Republican Walt Horan.

Bonneville Aid Beaten.

Edward C. Kelly, who resigned as counsel for the Bonneville public power administration to run for congress in Oregon's newly created 4th district on a public ownership platform, was defeated by Harris Ellsworth, a Republican champion of private enterprise.

On the other side of the issue, Sen. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.], not only survived an attempt by the public power lobby to purge him but increased his lead from 7,000 in 1936 to 16,000 in 1942. Bridges is the outstanding senate foe of the public power movement. He incited the wrath of the public ownership lobby in 1938 by his insistence on a congressional investigation of the TVA.

He survived one of the most vicious smear campaigns in recent history. Radio broadcasts to the French speaking population of New Hampshire made accusations against Bridges that would be unthinkable in an English language broadcast. He conducted a poor man's campaign against a multimillionaire Democrat, former Gov. Francis Murphy, and won.

Rep. Thomas D. Winter [R., Kas.] also survived an attempt by New Dealers and the public power lobby to purge him.

Further Tax Rises May Kill U. S. Initiative, Warns Magill

Boston, Mass., Nov. 17 [Special].—Further increases in income and excess profits taxes may destroy American incentive and initiative, Roswell Magill, former undersecretary of treasury and tax adviser to Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr., warned in a speech today before the Boston chapter of the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters.

To protect its own sources of revenue in time of war, asserted Magill, the government is obligated to see that the nation's economy is encouraged to expand, rather than to "freeze up or shrink because of excessive taxes."

Warns of Living Standard.

Additional tax revenues should be obtained from other sources, Magill urged. He said perhaps a billion dollars more could be "wrung" out of taxpayers in the middle or lower income bracket, but that the standard of living of these people would be seriously jeopardized.

"The best additional levy," said Magill, "would be a general retail sales tax. Chief advantages of such a tax would be the raising of needed revenue currently, instalment payments would not be burdensome, and the tax would act as an inflationary brake."

Magill said more economy of administration is needed. He described present machinery as cumbersome and in need of "overhauling."

The cost of enforcement has been kept down in the case of the revenue law, but the cost to the taxpayer of compliance is becoming increasingly serious, he said.

"Any one who has tried to read the last revenue act will testify," he said, "the greatest need is for simplification of the revenue structure. Tax experts should be made to spend the next couple of years codifying and simplifying the law to make intelligible to the ordinary taxpayer those parts of the act with which he must deal."

Magill predicted that the country will be burdened for many years with heavy taxation. Postwar federal budgets will approximate 20 billion dollars annually, he predicted, but the nation can carry any necessary tax load and still prosper, provided the tax administration is intelligent and fair.

Would Avert Liquidation.

Magill, a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York, said he favored tax exemption on life insurance or war bonds that would protect business from forced liquidation and assure the treasury of its estate tax revenues.

"The hardships and dangers of present tax rates have been recognized in the credits granted under the 1942 tax law for life insurance premiums, debt retirements, and certain other obligations," he said. "Additional credits of the same sort may have to be allowed, particularly if tax rates go higher, to avoid destruction of the middle class."

Phone Priority Calls Few in Chicago Area

After two weeks of operating under the new priority regulations on long distance telephone calls, officials of the Illinois Bell Telephone company said yesterday there had been little effect on calls originating in Chicago. Since Nov. 1, the date the regulations became effective, fewer than 200 priority calls a day have been put thru, less than one-half of 1 per cent of all long distance calls the company handles.

Except occasionally when unpredictable wartime demands result in an unusual volume of calls, officials said they expect little change in the Chicago area from conditions prior to Nov. 1 when less than 6 per cent of the calls were delayed.

Accept Caller's Priority Claim.

They emphasized, however, that even in times of unprecedented volume a priority call with a No. 1 rating would go thru immediately, and the other two types of priority calls would receive as prompt service as they require.

In order to expedite a priority call, officials explained, the operator accepts the word of the caller as to his priority status. The name and telephone number of both the caller and the person receiving the call are recorded and reported monthly by the telephone company to the Board of War Communications in Washington. Head of the board is James L. Fly, also chairman of the Federal Communications commission.

Subject to Investigation.

This board has the job of "policing" the priority system and will investigate those calls which it believes should not have carried a priority status.

Best times to make long distance calls, if possible, company officials advised, are before 9:30 a. m., between noon and 2 p. m., between 5 and 7 p. m., and after 9 p. m.

SALE OF THREE UNITS PROPOSED BY MIDDLE WEST

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 17 (AP).—The Middle West corporation asked the Securities and Exchange commission today to approve sale to the Atlantic Company of Georgia all of its securities and interests in City Ice Company of Kansas City, Southern United Ice company, and Western Ice Service company for $708,200 cash.

Middle West specified that 250 outstanding shares of Southern-Henke Ice and Storage company stock owned by Western Ice would not be included in the assets of Western Ice, but would be sold to Middle West for $27,705.

GEORGE IS TOO BUSY: ONLY 7 PORTERS SHOW UP FOR CONVENTION!

The 22d annual convention of the Pullman Porters Benefit Association of America opened yesterday in Chicago, but listen to this:

Only seven men of a membership of 6,217 of the travelingest fellows in the nation showed up. Apparently all the 6,210 others were too busy taking care of the tremendous load of troops and civilians to travel to their own convention.

"I guess we've set a world's record for wartime streamlined conventions," said Grand Chairman E. M. Graham.

National Tea Sales Exceed Year Ago by 15 Per Cent

The National Tea company yesterday reported sales for the four weeks ended Nov. 7 totaled $7,009,693, a 15 per cent increase over the $6,080,451 for the corresponding period of 1941. Stores in operation decreased from 1,034 in 1941 to 959 on Nov. 7, 1942.

OIL COMPANIES PLAN WAR POOL FOR MARKETING

Competition Would Be Preserved.

Bernard L. Majewski.

If the government should ask the petroleum industry to pool its marketing facilities to save man power and equipment, the industry will have a plan ready, designed to maintain the principle of competition, midwestern spokesmen disclosed yesterday.

Bernard L. Majewski, chairman of the industry's marketing committee for the 15 state 2d [midwestern] district, announced at headquarters in Chicago that a study to clear the way for formulation of the plan has been started at the request of the Office of Petroleum Coördinator.

The study is being made by a "joint use of marketing facilities subcommittee" of Majewski's committee. H. T. Ashton of St. Louis, Mo., an official of Socony-Vacuum Oil company, is chairman.

Survey Areas Chosen.

The subcommittee, thru a group of 15 specially appointed state committees, will survey bulk plants, trucking facilities, and retail outlets of the industry in 19 counties picked to represent the various types of areas and conditions in the 15 states.

Some of these 19 counties or "sampling points" will represent a wheat or cotton area, one an industrial area, and others resort and different other types of areas.

Already in the field collecting data with the aid of the 15 state committees are 21 expert operating men chosen from all sizes and types of companies in the oil business to represent the industry as a whole in the midwest area. The other districts in the nation coöperating with the coördinator under the wartime program will make similar studies.

"The plan may never be put into effect, but we will be ready in case the government wants to adopt it," said Majewski.

"If the government should decide that we had to get along with fewer

STOCKS PULL OLD TRICK: SELL OFF WITH GOOD NEWS

Ignore Solomons Victory as Early Rally Fails.

New York, Nov. 17 (AP).—As has happened many times before, the stock market today sold off on good news.

The United States naval victory in the Solomons was virtually ignored as a buying incentive and there was an inclination to lighten commitments on the theory that the latest turn of events may have been discounted on the September-November stock rise to highest prices for more than a year. The warning of Navy Secretary Frank Knox that the defeat of the Japanese was only the second round and far from decisive also restrained the purchasing urge.

Early Advances Erased.

Fractional advances were well distributed at the start but were eliminated soon in many cases. Volume was small. Reaction gained headway in the final hour, and declines ran to a point or so for recent favorites, with drops of 2 to 3 in isolated instances.

Tax selling still was regarded as a retarding factor, and some potential buyers were reported holding aloof on the theory that this type of liquidation might expand and enable them to pick up desired issues at lower levels. An assortment of satisfactory dividends failed to buoy stocks concerned.

CHICAGO PRICES LOWER.

Price changes were generally limited to fractions on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, and most of the changes were toward lower levels. Of the 112 issues traded in turnover of 31,000 shares, 25 closed higher, 56 were lower, and 31 were unchanged.

While Peabody Coal common declined ⅛ point to 2⅛ on a turnover of 1,150 shares, the company's preferred advanced ½ to 71, its highest price of the year. Midland United preferred was down ¼ to 8¼ on sales of 900 shares. Bastian-Blessing, in limited volume, rose ⅛ to a new 1942 high at 16.

In the half hour after trading closed in New York most of the dually listed local stocks sold ahead slightly. These included General Motors, Montgomery Ward, and Stewart-Warner.

FOREIGN BONDS RISE AGAIN.

New York, Nov. 17 (AP).—Domestic bonds lagged today in contrast with lively advances in a number of foreign dollar issues, especially those of occupied European countries.

Reflecting new enthusiasm over war news, many foreign loans pushed to new highs on gains of 1 to about 3 points. In one case—Finland 6s—the advance was 12. Australia 4½s and 5s, Brisbane 6s, Copenhagen 5s, Denmark 5½s, Greek 6s, Norway 4¼s, and Oslo City 4½s were among strong spots.

REYNOLDS PROFIT CUT TO $733,957 FOR NINE MONTHS

Taxes and Depreciation Devour Earnings.

The Reynolds Metals company, which operates plants in Chicago and several other cities, reported from New York headquarters yesterday that net income had fallen to $733,957 in the first nine months of 1942. The earnings were equal to 52 cents a share and compared with $2,293,039, or $2.04 a share, in the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1941.

Results for the 1942 period were after setting aside $2,483,900 for federal income and excess profits taxes and $2,339,631 in additional provision for depreciation of war plants.

Jarvis Estimates Profit.

W. B. Jarvis company, whose automobile hardware plants at Grand Rapids, Mich., have been converted to war work, estimated its September quarter profit at $130,000, equal to 44 cents a share. The company said governmental powers to renegotiate war contracts made accurate computation of earnings impossible. Actual net income in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1941, was $161,297, or 54 cents a share. Estimated earnings for the latest quarter were after charging off $205,000 for federal taxes and $100,000 for postwar contingencies.

General Time Instruments, New York, in a report for the 17 weeks ended Oct. 10, showed a profit of $273,713, equal to 59 cents a share, compared with $408,546, or $1.01 a share, in the parallel 1941 period.

Chemical Firm Earns Less.

American Cyanamid company, large producer of chemicals, reported from New York that net earnings for the nine months ended Sept. 30 were $3,288,023, compared with $4,585,856 a year ago. The profits were equivalent to $1.10 and $1.63 a share in the respective periods. The company set aside $10,600,000 for federal and foreign income taxes in the 1942 period, against $7,871,709 a year ago.

R. G. Le Tourneau, Inc., Peoria, Ill., manufacturer of heavy machinery, announced net income of $2,575,891, or $5.49 a share, for the 10 months ended with October. For the corresponding 1941 period, profit was $2,459,308, or $5.36 a share.

STATE FARMERS BEGIN FOUR DAY ANNUAL MEETING

The Illinois Agricultural association, largest state organization of farmers in the United States, opened its twenty-eighth annual meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. Three thousand members and official delegates are expected to attend the four day conferences. Principal meetings and speeches begin today.

Twelve of the 13 organizations affiliated with the association are meeting together this year instead of at different times, and attendance is being reduced from the usual 5,000 to conserve on travel and because of farm labor shortages and increased work in handling record crops.

AGREE TO RESUME SLAUGHTERING IN WEST COAST AREA

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 17 (AP).—San Francisco slaughterhouse workers agreed unanimously today to go back to work after an emergency committee assured them their wage arbitration would be speeded.

Milton Maxwell, international vice president of the AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, said work would be resumed at ten closed packing plants tomorrow.

Lack of meat had closed virtually every meat market in San Francisco and most of the neighboring cities following an unauthorized walkout yesterday of nearly 500 slaughterhouse workers.

Omnibus Corp. to Get Tax Refund on Levy for 1926

The Omnibus corporation, Chicago, was among nine firms, estates, and individuals overassessed for taxes, the bureau of internal revenue announced yesterday. It said Omnibus was entitled to a refund of $23,489 for 1926 taxes.

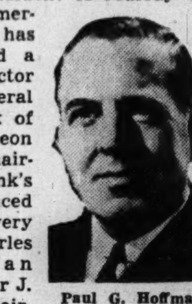
People and Events



Paul G. Hoffman.

Clarence W. Avery, chairman of the board and president of Murray Corporation of America, Detroit, has been elected a class B director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, Simeon E. Leland, chairman of the bank's board, announced last night. Avery succeeds Charles Belden Van Dusen. Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the board of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Chicago, and Max Wellington Babb, chairman of Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, were reëlected class A and class B directors, respectively. In Washington, the federal reserve board announced it had appointed Paul G. Hoffman, who is president of Studebaker corporation, a class C director of the Chicago reserve bank to fill a vacancy. The board appoints the class C members, and banks elect the others.

J. K. Waibel, advertising counsel for the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Chicago, has been appointed director of education for the 7th district victory fund committee, C. S. Young, director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, announced. Waibel has been granted a leave of absence from Continental to devote full time to the campaign. He will be associated with Francis F. Patton and Nathan D. McClure, committee managers, in the federal reserve bank headquarters.

A forum on what the War Production board means to Chicago business will be conducted this evening in the La Salle hotel by the Chicago Association of Credit Men. WPB officials who will participate include: Joseph L. Overlook, regional director; Edmund H. Eitel, regional priorities manager; John Nuveen Jr., conservation manager; Harvey T. Hill, regional director of industrial salvage, and L. A. Miller, deputy regional director of production services.

Joel Dean, national administrator of gasoline and oil rationing, will speak before the Chicago Association of Commerce this noon in the La Salle hotel on rationing regulations.

CURTISS CANDY FILES PREFERRED STOCK FOR SALE

Seeks Funds to Widen Operating Field.

The Curtiss Candy company, which operates six plants in Chicago and ranks as one of the largest units in its industry, yesterday disclosed plans for raising an additional 3 million dollars of capital for expansion in the candy and food field. The company registered 30,000 shares of $100 par value participating preferred stock with the Securities and Exchange commission for sale at par.

The additional capital is needed to finance an expanding volume of business which this year will reach 30 to 35 million dollars, according to company representatives. The new stock issue is not being underwritten, but will be sold directly by the company, largely to present shareholder interests, it was said.

Will Broaden Food Lines.

Proceeds of the financing will be used to acquire candy and related businesses in connection with a gradual expansion into general lines of food products, it was said. Part of the funds may be used to reimburse the treasury for substantial investments already made in Cook county farmlands.

Company spokesmen were unable to disclose the transactions planned to expand its operations in the food field which already include the manufacture of cookies, doughnuts, potato chips, and other products.

Has Few Shareholders.

The 3 million dollars in preferred stock soon to be issued is part of an authorized issue which directors recently increased to 5 million dollars. This includes the $700,000 in outstanding preferred owned by about 100 shareholders who also own the $1,500,000 in outstanding $10 par value common.

Otto Schnering, president, was out of the city yesterday and not available for comment. The company was organized in 1923 and has about 3,300 employés.

EXTRA DIVIDEND OF 50 CENTS PAID BY CHESAPEAKE

Lifts Year Total to $3.50, Same as in 1941.

Directors of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad yesterday declared an extra dividend of 50 cents payable Dec. 26 on the 7,657,351 shares of common stock outstanding. The extra brings payments on the common this year to $3.50, the same as in 1941. The usual quarterly dividend of 75 cents also was authorized.

Crucible Steel Company of America declared a $2 dividend on the common, compared with the preceding disbursement of $1 last December.

Kennecott to Pay Special.

A special cash distribution of $1 and an interim dividend of 25 cents was announced by the Kennecott Copper corporation. Payments this year total $3, against $3.25 in 1941.

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey declared a 25 cents dividend on the common, bringing payments this year to 95 cents, compared with $1.95 a share in 1941. On the basis of current earnings a $1 per share annual rate will be maintained during the war, the company said.

An extra dividend of 5 cents and a regular quarterly payment of 30 cents on the common by Sutherland Paper company, Kalamazoo, Mich., brings payments this year to $1.25, the same as in 1941.

National City Lines, Inc., Chicago, a holding company controling a group of bus companies operating mostly in the middle west, ordered an extra distribution of 50 cents a common share as well as the quarterly dividend of 25 cents. Similar payments were made last December.

WAR AGENCIES IN CHICAGO MOVE TO NEW BUILDING

Movers began last night the shift of Chicago war agencies into the building at 226 West Jackson boulevard, which the government leased from the Chicago and North Western railway and renamed the National War Agencies building.

The first to be moved is the division of central administrative services, a unit of the Office for Emergency Management. Philip L. McDonough, regional manager of the division, said all of its 300 Chicago employés will transfer operations by Dec. 1.

Other agencies to be transferred soon are those of the WPB, OPA, and Office of War Information. The space these agencies now occupy at 20 North Wacker drive will be taken over largely by the army. The 14 story Jackson boulevard building eventually will house 1,500 government employés.

ALLIED STORES.

Please report on Allied Stores corporation. When was the common stock admitted to listing on the New York Stock exchange and what has been its price range thru 1941?—J. W.

Answer: Primarily a holding company, this organization controls about 60 department stores and branches in large cities thruout the country. These stores are operated by subsidiaries. The parent company, with two exceptions, does not engage directly in merchandising.

All stores operate under their established names, with management decentralized. In general, medium to higher priced merchandise is handled. Principal units are in Boston, Baltimore, Minneapolis, and Cincinnati.

	Sales.	Net income.	Per [com.] share.
1942	$151,808,858	$5,294,258	$2.27
1941	121,270,682	3,998,129	1.57
1940	112,122,354	3,435,585	1.26
1939	103,243,425	2,233,720	.59

Profit in the six months ended July 31 amounted to $1,867,003, equal to 70 cents a share, compared with $1,438,768, or 48 cents a share, in the 1941 period. The company paid 20 cents on the common shares in 1937, nothing from 1938 thru 1941, and 45 cents this year. A 15 cent dividend is payable next Jan. 20.

Allied Stores was incorporated in Delaware in 1928 under the name of Hahn Department Stores, Inc. Present title was adopted in 1935. Originally, 22 subsidiaries operating 27 department stores were acquired.

Capitalization at the end of 1941 was 1,817,153 shares of no par common outstanding, 237,383 shares of $100 par 5 per cent cumulative preferred, and a total funded debt of $18,657,990.

The common stock was admitted to listing on the New York Stock exchange in 1935 and ranged from 3⅛ to 21⅞ thru 1941.

PRICE RANGE.

Can you provide the annual price range of Baltimore and Ohio railroad common stock for each year from 1939 thru 1941? Thanks.—H. V. B.

Answer: The road's common shares ranged on the New York Stock exchange from 3⅞ to 8¾ in 1939, from 2¾ to 6⅝ in 1940, and from 2⅛ to 5⅝ in 1941.

Says FRED VARESE
3306 N. Odell Ave.
Chicago

"Before I came here I was a farm hand and part-time coal miner out near Centerville, Iowa. I had a wife and three kids and no farm of my own. So it was nip and tuck, and I had to better myself financially.

"In Chicago I busted around from one job to another until I saw a want ad in the Tribune. A trade school offered to teach arc and gas welding in 120 hours of instruction.

"I finished the course and spent the next year and a half working at two different places, making about 80 cents an hour but getting valuable experience.

"In January, 1940, I went on my present job as a member of the welding room crew. In a few months I was promoted to foreman at $60 a week. Since then I have had three boosts to $80.

"My ambition is to be the best welding room foreman in Chicago, and when the big money is over to have enough to go back to Centerville and buy the best 160 acres I can find. It was a lucky day for me when I followed up that Tribune want ad!"

HOW YOU CAN LEARN TO EARN MORE

Are you cashing in on today's greater opportunities for a better job? Hundreds of ambitious men and women owe their present high wages and fine prospects to the training they obtained from trade schools which advertise in the Tribune want ad section.

Why not decide now to take full advantage of today's opportunities to better yourself? Get the facts about the various courses of training offered in the Tribune want ad section.

For announcements of schools offering specialized training leading to well-paid jobs in war work, consult the Instruction and Trade Schools columns. Write or phone any of these advertisers for complete information. Or, better still, call in person. Turn to the want ad section now.

CANADIAN IMPORT PLAN UNSETTLES GRAIN MARKETS

Oats Dip 1½ Cents; Others Decline Fractions.

Oat futures prices broke nearly 1½ cents a bushel and other Chicago Board of Trade grain markets were unsettled yesterday on announcement by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard indicating that 300 million bushels of Canadian feed grain would be made available for shipment to the United States as soon as possible.

Oats closed down 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents, and corn, ⅜ to ¾ cent. Wheat declined ⅜ to ½ cent, and rye lost ⅛ to ⅜ cent. Soy beans advancd ¼ to 1⅛ cents.

Firms with northwestern interests sold oats and there was pressure from "long" liquidation of the December delivery. Corn rallied only slightly from its low on Chicago buying.

Serious Effect Forecast.

Because supplies of feed grains in the United States are estimated to be by far the largest on record, traders asserted, 300 million bushels more from Canada would have a serious effect on markets here. The Canadian grains are not usable in the dominion, it is said, because of large production. Prices are lower.

The United States and Canada last summer agreed to a mutual exchange of crops and the purchase of Canadian feed and oil grains. President Roosevelt recently asked for a blanket suspension of duties and other restrictions in the interest of the war. Shipment of Canadian feed grains duty free, it is said, hinges upon congressional action on the President's request for these sweeping powers.

Predict Retention of Duty.

Grain traders predicted, however, that the congressional farm bloc would oppose strongly the admission of Canadian grains without duty and forecast defeat for the President's duty suspension request. One broker asserted that even if congress retains feed grains duties the government might find a way to subsidize Canadian grain to the extent of the duty to carry out the mutual exchange agreement.

Wheat opened fractionally lower and general interest remained light as traders awaited announcement of the government program for the release of loan wheat for sale in the open market. December liquidation was more active and the delivery dropped to 3¼ cents under the May price. Cash interests bought some December, and scattered demand for May appeared on the decline.

LEND-LEASE AID TERMS PROGRAM 'GREATEST STEP'

The lend-lease program will stand as "the greatest step forward at one time in international good will," and may facilitate coöperation among nations after the war, Maj. Gen. C. M. Wesson, assistant to the lend-lease administrator and former chief of ordnance, said last night. He addressed the Purchasing Agents Association of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman.

"It may be that the basic philosophy of lend-lease will prove to be the foundation for greater coöperation among the nations and an everlasting factor in the maintenance of peace," he declared.

At an afternoon meeting of the association, E. F. Stegen, Chicago regional rationing executive of the OPA, defended the rationing of fuel oil in the midwest. He said that "if we continued to use as much fuel oil as usual, we would have to use most of the equipment we have always used, and we could not give additional aid to the east." He said the eastern oil situation is getting worse, not better.

FREEING INVENTIONS TO ALL FOR WAR USE ADVOCATED BY KAISER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—New inventions would be made available to all war production industries under a plan given a senate committee today by Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder.

Asserting the time had come to adopt "revolutionary" methods to assure maximum production, Kaiser said that compensation for the inventions should be withheld for the war's duration.

"I am in favor of compulsory licensing of all new inventions and developments without compensation for the duration of the war," he told a military affairs subcommittee on technological mobilization.

He said this should be accomplished by a nonpolitical federal agency directed to coördinate, analzye, develop and distribute new ideas and inventions "to each and every industry engaged in the war effort."

"In shipbuilding," he said, "hundreds of new ideas are being introduced weekly."

HOUSING FIELDS NO SPOT FOR U.S., ASSERTS LANHAM

The federal government does not belong in the housing business, Fritz G. Lanham [D., Tex.], chairman of the house public buildings and grounds committee, said yesterday at the war conference of the United States Savings and Loan league at the Palmer House.

One of the authors of the Lanham act which provides federal funds for both public and private housing, he explained that cash for federal built homes was to be used when private capital was unable to do the job in certain congested war work areas.

If the purposes of the law are carried out, said Lanham, private capital will be allowed to have its proper place in the nation's war home building program.

The principal reason Uncle Sam should stay out of the housing business, he said, is that everything the government does is done more expensively than a private business organization could do the same job.

KELLY AND GREEN TO DISCUSS COST OF GOVERNMENT

Two meetings on the subject of efficient and economical operation of city and state governments were announced yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce.

At the first, to be held Dec. 2 in the Palmer House, Mayor Kelly will review the local municipal tax and budgetary problems in a discussion: "Can Local Government Budgets Be Reduced in 1943?"

A week later, in the same hotel, Gov. Green will outline the state's fiscal outlook in a speech: "More Effective State Government—a Program and a Report on Progress." The governor will make his first public presentation of his program of administrative reorganization which has been under study for more than a year.

BIRTH OF A GOOD ALIBI: SHORTAGE IN ALARM CLOCKS

If Johnny is late for school one of these mornings, or his daddy is a little tardy in punching the time clock, they may have a good excuse. There is a shortage of alarm clocks.

Department stores yesterday reported an extremely limited supply of mechanical alarm clocks and a more liberal, but still far below normal, supply of electric alarm clocks.

The diversion of critical metals to essential war uses has curtailed normal production of an industry converted largely to manufacture of bomb timing devices and other war products.

Permits Suit Against City for Cost Caused by Subway

An order permitting Stacy C. Mosser, receiver for the Great Northern Office building, the Great Northern theater, and the Majestic hotel, to bring suit against the city for recovery of $43,673 was approved yesterday by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. Mosser said the money was spent to protect the buildings from damage resulting from subway construction. He said the city notified him to take such protective measures but had not reimbursed him.

AUTHORIZE RAIL BONDS.

The Interstate Commerce commission has authorized the Alabama Great Southern railroad to issue $9,500,000 of first mortgage 3¼ per cent bonds series A to be sold at 98.577 per cent and accrued interest from Nov. 1. The proceeds will be used in the retirement of some bonds which mature Dec. 1.

OIL COMPANIES PLAN WAR POOL FOR MARKETING

bulk plants, the study will make it possible to advise the coördinator which bulk plants can best be spared, how many will be necessary for war use and how many will be needed to serve civilians.

"Similarly, we will know how much man power we can release, and which trucks will be best suited to handle the work if we have to let some go."

Ashton said the industry hoped to be able to find a way for possible pooling of facilities without sacrificing brand names.

"One of the prime motives is to maintain competitive conditions," said Ashton.

Warehouse Space Sought.

In addition to finding ways to free man power and marketing facilities, the industry hopes to be ready to release warehouse space for war use, Majewski and Ashton said.

C. T. Foster, assistant to the president of the Sandard Oil Company of Ohio, has been "loaned" to Ashton's subcommittee for several weeks to act as chief of staff for the survey.

The work is expected to take a month or two. The plan to be based on the survey will be submitted to OPC, which will determine when it will be adopted, if at all.

Study 72 Hour Week.

Majewski disclosed that the OPC, at the suggestion of the district committee, is studying a proposal to limit filling stations' operations to 72 hours a week, with the exception of certain ones to be designated truck stations. These would be on a 24 hour 7 day week basis for serving trucks, but could serve passenger cars only 72 hours a week.

CEILING PRICES SET ON BLENDED NYLON HOSIERY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 17 (AP).—Ceiling prices for women's hosiery made of "combination," "spun," or "blended" nylon yarns were established today by the Office of Price Administration. The highest price for any of these hose is $1.85 a pair, with lower prices for most types.

OPA earlier had established ceiling prices for nylon hose, but said stockings recently had appeared on the market under the name of "nylon" altho they are neither sheer hosiery or made of single filament nylon yarn.

Produce Futures Prices Steady, Mostly at Ceilings

Butter, potato, onion, and November and December egg futures held unchanged at ceiling prices yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The January egg delivery was unchanged at its season's high of 37.65 cents a dozen.

DON'T BORROW

Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.

U. S. Planes Land Chute Army in Tunisia—MacArthur Takes Field as Allies Close In on Buna

This official Royal Air force aerial view shows an allied convoy from Britain as it plowed thru heavy seas with troops and equipment for the occupation of French North Africa on Nov. 8. American parachutists were reported yesterday to be landing in Tunisia to fight axis forces.

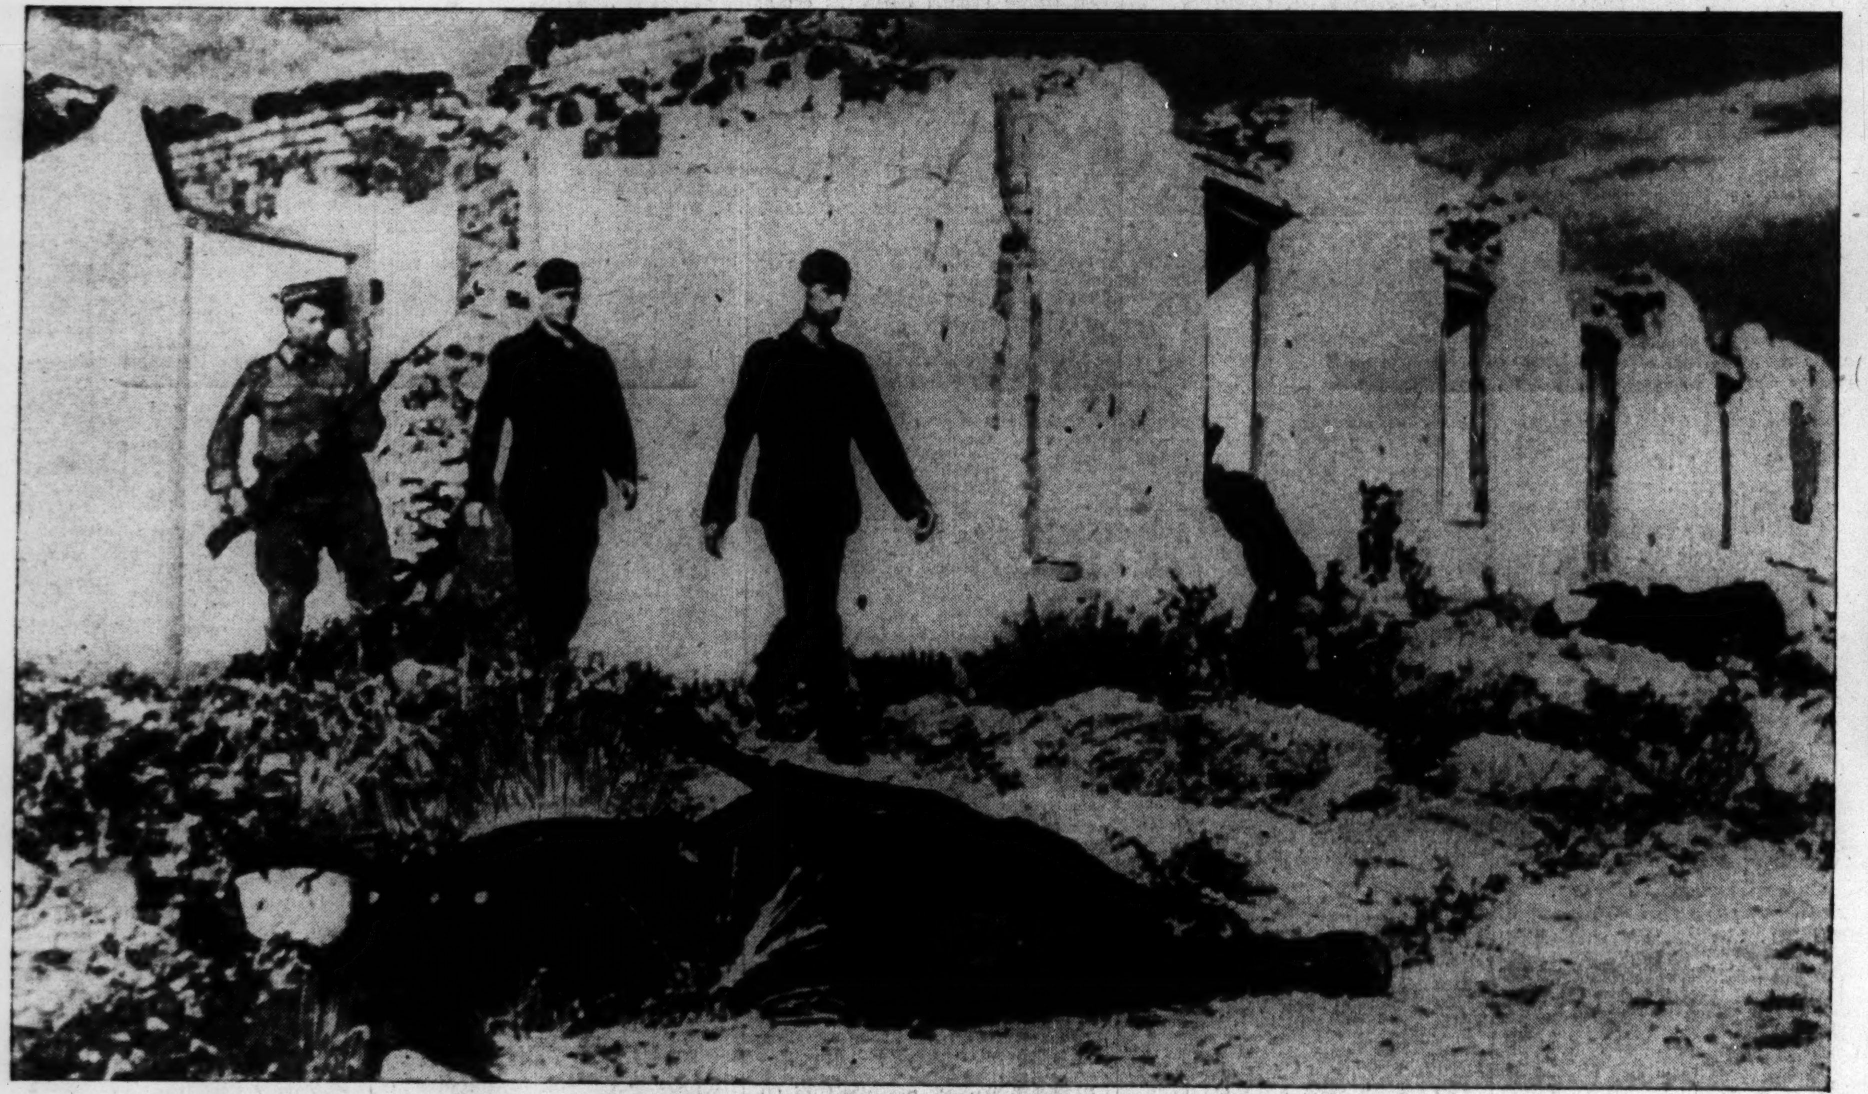
[Associated Press Wirephoto: From United States Navy.]

The navy says this is an American patrol putting ashore on an isolated island in the Aleutians to look for Jap "nuisance forces" too small to spot from the air.



[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Description supplied by Russian military sources and approved by Moscow censors says these are German soldiers marching ahead of a Russian guard after being driven from their hiding place in the ruins of this house in a village in the Mozdok area of the Russian fighting front.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his principal commanders, who were with allied forces driving on Buna, key Japanese base in Papua, New Guinea. Left to right: Francis Forde, Australian minister for army; Gen. MacArthur; Gen. Sir Thomas Blamey, and Maj. Gen. George Kenney. (Story on page 9.)

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]
